DEMOBILIZATION SLOWED TO AVOID ARMY 'COLLAPSE,' EISENHOWER SAYS

Asserts There Wouldn't Have Been Any Force Left by July—Revised Discharge Formula Announced.

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told Congressmen today demobilization of soldiers was slowed down to prevent "a collapse" of the Army.

Since September, the chief of staff said, the Army had been releasing approximately 1,200,000 men monthly and if that rate had been continued, there would not have been any Army left by July 1.

Nevertheless, he pledged the Army would meet its original goal of reducing to a strength of 1,500,000 by that date.

To do this, he said, 2,200,000 more men will be turned loose by April 30 and an additional 500,000 by July 1 under a revised point system.

From Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, chief of naval operations, and other naval officers the informal session of senators and representatives at the Congressional Library learned that the Navy is demobilizing as scheduled and expects to complete the job Sept. 1.

Eisenhower said "the very stepping up" of demobilization in recent months to a point that exceeded earlier expectations "undoubtedly helped to create confusion by stimulating optimism among service men and their families."

"Near-Hysteria."

It was natural, he said, that that there should be an "emotional wave" to get men out of service when the war ended, "but I am frank to say that I had never anticipated this emotional wave would reach proportions of near-hysteria."

By July 1, when the Army will have dropped to a strength of 1,500,000 men, he said, there will be about 307,000 men in the European theater, 28,000 in the Mediterranean and 375,000 in the Pacific. The others would be in this country or scattered at such outposts as Alaska.

He said that between V-J day and the end of the year the Army had released 5,000,000 men, or 80 per cent of its strength as of V-E day.

Under the revised point system, Eisenhower said that by April 30 every enlisted man with 45 points or 30 months' service will be out of the Army or on the way to separation centers.

By July 1, he said, every enlisted man with 40 points or two years' service will be out or in the process of being discharged.

At present, 50 points or three and a half years' service are required for discharge.

Furthermore, Eisenhower said, "every surplus man will be out right away unless his points are so low that he can replace someone else."

Volunteers Excluded.

In disclosing the April 30 and July 1 goals, he excluded volunteers from the discharge provi-

KIMMEL TESTIFIES HE WAS MISLED BY NAVY ON DANGER OF HAWAII ATTACK

Admiral Tells Committee Information Denied Him Might Have Made Pearl Harbor Ambush for Japs.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—R. Adm. Husband E. Kimmel asserted today he was "misled" by a prewar warning into believing that the Navy Department thought no attack on Pearl Harbor was "imminent or probable."

A crowd gathered as the gray-haired former Pacific fleet commander appeared before a Senate-House committee to tell publicly for the first time his story of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941.

Attired in a dark suit with a bright blue tie, the 63-year-old retired officer began reading a 25,000-word statement in which he asserted that Washington officials had denied him information he said might have made Pearl Harbor an ambush for the Japanese. He termed "misleading" the "war warning" message sent to him by Adm. Harold R. Stark, then chief of naval operations, 10 days before the attack.

Letter From Roberts.

Before Kimmel took the stand, Committee Counsel Seth Richardson placed in the record a letter from former Associate Justice Owen J. Roberts, who headed a commission which investigated the attack. Ex-Justice Roberts said the full report of the commission had been published after it was turned over to President Roosevelt Jan. 24, 1942.

Senator Ferguson (Rep.), Michigan, had asked for the original copy of the Roberts report, but Miss Grace Tully, secretary, informed the committee by letter that it could not be found in the White House files.

Reading in a strong voice, Kimmel contended before the committee:

1. He was not supplied information available in Washington from intercepted messages "which told when and where Japan would probably strike."

2. That, withholding this information, the Navy should have instructed him specifically to "be on the alert against a hostile overseas raid."

Opportunity for Ambusn.

3. If he had had Washington's knowledge of intercepted Japanese messages, he would have considered revising war plans to provide "an opportunity to ambush the Japanese striking force as it ventured to Hawaii."

4. Orders he received the same day he got the Nov. 27 "war warning" message to transport Army planes and troops to Midway and Wake "indicated to me that responsible authorities in Washington did not consider an air raid on Pearl Harbor either imminent or probable."

5. The War and Navy departments knew that long-range reconnaissance from Oahu was to be flown "only when a carrier strike against the islands was probable within narrow time limits."

6. He would have ordered the fleet to sea if he had known what Washington knew on successive dates from Nov. 27 to Dec. 7, but without this information he kept his battleships in harbor where he thought them safer against air attack than at sea without carrier support.

Adm. Kimmel's testimony placed him in direct opposition to much the committee heard from Adm. Stark, the last witness before it recessed Jan. 5 until today. Adm. Stark said he considered the "war warning" message sufficient to alert the fleet to a war basis.

Short Expected to Testify.

When Adm. Kimmel's testimony is completed, Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short, Hawaiian Army commander at the time of the attack, is expected to follow him to the stand.

Adm. Kimmel told the committee in his statement that "no reasonable man" could have been expected to consider that Adm. Stark's Nov. 27 "war warning" message "was intended to suggest the likelihood of an attack in the Hawaiian area."

The message said diplomatic negotiations had ceased and "an aggressive move by Japan is expected within the next few days." It said there were indications of "an amphibious expedition against either the Philippines, Thai or Kra peninsula or possibly Borneo," advising Adm. Kimmel to "execute an appropriate defensive deployment. . . ."

This did not warn the fleet of an attack i.. the Hawaiian area, Adm. Kimmel said, adding:

"It did not state expressly or by implication that an attack on the Hawaiian area was imminent or probabl.. It did not repeal or modify the advice previously given me by the Navy department that no move against Pearl Har- was imminent or planned by Japan. The phrase 'war warning' cannot be made a catch-all

AMENDED INCOME TAX DEADLINE AT MIDNIGHT TONIGHT

Last Day Also for Original Declarations—Office Open Till 7 P. M.

The deadline for filing original declarations or amended estimates of last year's income with the United States Collector of Internal Revenue is midnight tonight. Field offices in the basement of the Federal Building at Twelfth boulevard and Market street and in the county at 24 North Meramec avenue, Clayton, will be open until 7 p.m. to accommodate an expected last-minute rush.

Shortly before 3:30 p.m. deputy collectors reported there were 25 taxpayers in line waiting for the 85 deputy collectors in the field force to assist them in making out their income tax reports. Collector of Internal Revenue James P. Finnegan said the rush he anticipated today had not materialized.

An estimated 2500 persons were assisted in making the returns yesterday in the basement of the Federal Building. More than half of them arrived after 5 p.m., deputies said. By the 7 p.m. closing time, however, there was no one left in the field office. All who sought assistance had received it and departed.

Those required to file declarations are persons who did not do so before last March 15; those who earn more than $5000 a year minus deductions for dependents; those who under-estimated last year's income; those who earned $100 or more from sources other than wages, and farmers.

TRUMAN DROPS PLAN TO SEND CONGRESS MESSAGE THURSDAY

Will Combine It With Budget Report and Submit That on Monday.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—President Truman today canceled plans to send his "state of the union" message to Congress on Thursday. He announced this report would be combined with the budget message to be sent up on Monday.

Truman told his press conference that he would send these messages at the same time, contrary to the usual custom. He plans to meet with correspondents in the White House motion picture room Saturday morning to discuss the budget features of the message with them.

Asked if the delay was connected with the labor crisis, he replied in the negative. It was decided, he said, that one message would be enough and that the one document would cover financial and other features of his program.

12 KNOWN DEAD, 200 ESCAPE FROM MINE AFTER BLAST

15 Hurt—West Virginia Explosion Damages School 500 Feet From Mouth of Pit.

WELCH, W. Va., Jan. 15 (AP)—General Manager P. P. Kerr of the New River and Pocahontas Consolidated Coal Co. said that all of the 267 men in the Havaco Mine No. 9 when a terrific explosion occurred today had been accounted for. Twelve were known to be dead.

He said that more than 200 men escaped and that others caught along the entryways of the mine a half mile from Welch were injured and sent to hospitals. A company clerk estimated this number at 15.

Earlier, the United States Bureau of Mines in Washington had reported that it had been informed by a clerk in the office of the company operating the mine that approximately 65 men still were in the mine.

The explosion occurred at 9:30 a.m.

A contingent of 75 men came out first, some of them staggering on the arms of their buddies.

The force was so terrific that Negro pupils in a schoolhouse 500 feet away and workers in the store and office of the coal company 1000 feet away, were injured by shattered glass and debris.

mine is operated by the New River and Pocahontas company.

Unofficial estimates said from a third to one half of those coming from the mine alive walked up the shaft steps, which somehow remained intact although the tipple appeared to be a total wreck.

Hospitals of Welch were filled with injured miners and children from the schoolhouse.

Edward Mullins and his son James told reporters they were the first to reach the surface.

The father said they were at work about one mile from the shaft in No. 3 entry when they heard the blast and started running. They said the workings immediately became so dark from smoke and dust that they had to stoop over and train their lights on the steel mine rails in order to find their way.

Cardinal Glennon Takes 300-Mile Ride in an Airplane--His First

John Cardinal Glennon, who will fly to Rome next month with three other new Cardinals from the United States for the Papal Consistory, made his first airplane flight in his 83 years last Thursday afternoon, but the flight was kept secret because he was apprehensive of his initial reaction to air travel.

When the news came out today, however, the five passengers who accompanied the Cardinal in the 1 hour-50 minute plane cruise over 300 miles of southeast Missouri, as far south as Sikeston, described him as an excellent plane rider.

They said the Cardinal so quickly accustomed himself to air travel that shortly after the plane took off from Parks Metropolitan Airport near East St. Louis and headed south over Missouri the Cardinal began picking out churches, seminaries and other places of particular interest to him as head for 42 years of the St. Louis archdiocese.

He quickly called attention of the others to the Vincentian Seminary at Perryville, the Catholic churches at Sikeston and Ste. Genevieve and the Ursuline Novitiate at Glennon Heights, named after the Cardinal. He noted the winding Mississippi river below, with the "White House" retreat building on its banks, and gave accompanying passengers a short history sketch of French activities along the river in this area.

The Cardinal was accompanied in his flight by George W. Strake, Texas oil man and owner of the plane; Oliver W. Parks of Parks Air College; Msgr. John P. Cody, chancellor of the St. Louis archdiocese; the Rev. George Lodes, assistant chancellor, and the Rev. John Marren, the Cardinal's secretary.

It was also Father Lodes's first airplane flight and when someone remarked it was quite an honor for him to go up for the first time with his Eminence, the Cardinal said quickly: "It will be an even greater honor to come down with him."

STORES EXPECT FOOD STOCKS TO LAST ONLY UNTIL END OF THE WEEK

Police Commissioners Warn AFL Drivers' Union Against Threatening Violence—Effort to End Strike Renewed.

Stocks of staple food items in most retail stores, unreplenished for nine days because of the truck drivers' strike, probably will last until the end of the week and some grocers reported they are out of certain items entirely, a survey of local markets disclosed today.

Smaller stores, which rely on frequent deliveries by wholesale grocery firms, have been harder hit than larger markets which operate their own warehouses and have been able to restock shelves from warehouse inventories, but even there the warehouse stocks are being depleted without replenishment.

Efforts to settle the strike were renewed today in another conference of representatives of the AFL Teamsters' and Chauffeurs' Union and strike-bound drayage companies. Meeting with the parties was a special three-man committee of the United States Conciliation Service.

After a two-hour session this morning, the conference adjourned for lunch and then was resumed.

Some Progress Reported.

Some progress toward clarification of issues was made yesterday in a six-hour meeting of the disputing groups, Commissioner Roy L. Burton of the Conciliation Service reported. The union is seeking an 18-cent hourly wage increase, reduction of the work-week from 48 to 40 hours and two-week annual paid vacations. Burton declined to discuss progress on the specific issues.

The Board of Police Commissioners, after a three-hour closed meeting yesterday at which business men complained of intimidation of their truck drivers by strikers, ordered arrests of persons making threats of violence.

Officers of the striking union were called before the board last night to receive a first-hand account of the board's stand. Mark D. Eagleton, board president, said the union men were told that the board plans affirmative action where illegal acts are reported and that the board would not countenance excuses that the union does not "authorize" threats.

Trucks Reported Stopped.

Ten business men appeared before the board, Eagleton said, and in each instance the complaints

CONGRESSMEN PROMISE AID TO CONDEMNED G. I. IN JAPAN

Veterans' Posts and Civic Groups Pledge Support to Soldier Sentenced to Die.

WALLINGTON, N. J., Jan. 15 (AP)—Aid of congressmen was assured today for Pfc. Joseph E. Hicswa, under courtmartial sentence of death in Japan for the killing of two Japanese civilians. American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts throughout New Jersey planned to circulate petitions for a new trial.

The office of Senator Albert W. Hawkes telegraphed Mayor Anthony Gajewski last night that he had asked the Army provost marshal to grant a stay of execution. Congressman Harry L. Towe wired that he would look into the case.

Civic, church and veteran groups pledged support to Hicswa at a mass protest meeting last night.

BRADLEY BARS ARMY TITLES ON OFFICE HELP NAME PLATES

Veterans' Administration Also Eliminates Them From Door Signs and Directories.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—The Veterans' Administration is casting aside some of its non-essentital reminders of the war.

Henceforth, employes who formerly served in the armed forces no longer may use their military titles "in official publications, correspondence, telephone directories, desk name plates, signs on doors, and so forth."

The bar was posted by Veterans' Administrator Omar N. Bradley, a four-star general himself who said use of military titles "presents practical difficulties such as in the preparation of official publications and correspondence."

Bradley added, however, that "this instruction will not be construed to prohibit use of titles in conversation or in introductions."

AGREEMENT WITH 1000 MEAT WORKERS; 9000 SET TO STRIKE

National Tie-Up Scheduled for Midnight—Supplies in St. Louis Stores May Be Exhausted Tomorrow.

Two of the larger packing plants and 12 small packers reached an agreement today with the AFL packing house workers, who have threatened to pull 10,000 workers out of 61 plants in the area at midnight tonight in support of wage demands, which have been presented nationally to the meat packing industry.

The 14 plants settling include the Laclede Packing Co., a member of the St. Louis Local Meat Packers' Association, and the Madison Packing Co., in Madison. A union representative said the packers had agreed to grant wage increases agreed on at a national conference of packing plants and the union, and to make the increase retroactive to yesterday. The 14 plants, employing a total of 1000 workers, will be open tomorrow and livestock raisers are urged to bring in supplies.

Telegraphic reports indicate that efforts to avert the strike nationally in large plants have been unsuccessful and the union is preparing to call its members out at 12:01 a.m. tomorrow. Chicago union officers announced that "every effort to avoid a strike has been unsuccessful."

Spokesmen for both independent and chain-store meat dealers agreed today that St. Louis's meat supply, already depleted by the truck drivers' strike, will be virtually exhausted tomorrow if the packing house workers walk out. An officer of the St. Louis Retail Meat Dealers' Association said: "We will be out of meat if the strike is called." A chain-store representative added: "There won't be any meat."

Several out-of-town packers have placed cars of shipments on railroad sidings, where the meat was picked up by retailers, but the supply obtained in this manner is a mere fraction of the normal requirement. Poultry supplies were reported to be plentiful.

ST. LOUIS CHILLED BY 26-DEGREE DROP FROM YESTERDAY

Chilling weather in St. Louis today was caused by lower temperatures and a brisk northwest wind. A low of 14 degrees was predicted for tomorrow morning.

The temperature dropped from 51 degrees at 5:30 p.m. yesterday to 35 at midnight and 25 at 9 o'clock this morning. Wind velocity this morning was nine miles an hour.

Meteorologist Harry F. Wahlgren said the mercury would rise somewhat tomorrow. Despite cloudy weather he forecast no rain or snow.

The colder weather came from a high-pressure area to the north of St. Louis and cloudy weather came from a low-pressure to the south, Wahlgren said. Clouds over St. Louis should begin to clear late today, he said.

BOY, 5, ANSWERS JURY CALL; NAME WAS ON VOTERS' LIST

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—Freddy Fisbach, 5 years old, trudged obediently into Supreme Court today in answer to a summons calling him for jury duty.

James McGurrin, commissioner of jurors, took one look at the "prospective juror," and vacated the summons.

How did it happen? McGurrin's explanation was that the names were chosen from a list of registered voters and nothing is known about the person summoned.

The boy's father, Allen, had no explanation. A Fifteenth Air Force flyer, he said he hadn't registered as a voter since he joined the Army in 1942.

TRUMAN SAYS U.S. WILL KEEP PACIFIC ISLANDS IT NEEDS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—President Truman said today this Government's policy regarding conquered Japanese islands will be in favor of retaining those we need and placing the others under a United Nations collective trusteeship.

He told his press conference that those islands this country feels it should retain would be placed under an individual trusteeship of this country under this plan, but that the UNO would have to authorize this as well as the other trusteeships.

Strike Situation at Glance

Work stoppages throughout the nation make about 609,000 idle.

Major developments:

Electrical—Strike of 200,000 CIO electrical workers employed by General Electric, Westinghouse and General Motors in plants in 16 states starts after wage negotiations fail; picket lines organized.

Trucking—Striking St. Louis truck drivers warned against intimidation by Board of Police Commissioners; staple food supplies in city dwindling.

Meat Packing—Two of the larger meat packing plants and twelve small packers in the St. Louis area reached an agreement today with AFL packing house workers to avert a walkout of about 1000 employes tonight. Nine thousand employes in other area plants are scheduled to strike at midnight, and reports from Chicago state that both AFL and CIO packing house unions were proceeding with plans to strike against major packers at 12:01 a.m. tomorrow.

Automotive—CIO United Auto Workers resume negotiations with Ford Motor Co., ready to offer as basis for settlement 17½ per cent wage increase recommended by fact-finding board in General Motors dispute; union had rejected last company offer of 12.4 per cent pay hike as compared to union's demand for 30 per cent wage boost.

Communications — Telephone service returns to normal in St. Louis and most of the nation, the strike of installation men having ended, factory workers continue to strike at Western Electric telephone equipment manufacturing plants in New York and New Jersey, however, and a local dispute continues in Washington, D. C., where only emergency telephone long-distance calls are accepted.

Steel—Operations in steel industry getting back to normal, with strike call deadline delayed until midnight Sunday; 30,000 steel workers in six states idle in disputes over local issues; union and management leaders meet at White House tomorrow to attempt settlement of wage controversy.

LONG G.M. STRIKE DUE TO CONGRESS, TRUMAN ASSERTS

Says Tie-Up Would Be Over if Fact-Finders Had Been Given Legislative Authority.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—President Truman said today the 56-day-old General Motors strike would be settled now if Congress had backed his fact-finding board with legislative authority.

Truman remarked at his press conference that the General Motors management didn't take any particular interest in a presidential fact-finding board's recommendations for a 19½-cent hourly wage increase for the striking CIO United Auto Workers.

He also said that no decision has been made on a possible increase in steel prices as one step to avert a walkout in that industry. He said he was still hopeful of a settlement of the threatened steel strike.

DETROIT, Jan. 15 (AP)—The 17½ per cent wage increase recommended by the presidential fact-finding board to settle the General Motors strike faced its second crucial test today as the CIO United Auto Workers resumed negotiations with the Ford Motor Co. Negotiations began, then were recessed until Thursday.

Scaling down its industry-wide demand for 30 per cent, the union announced it was proposing the fact-finders' report as a means of breaking its wage deadlock with Ford, whose offer of a boost of 15 cents an hour, or 12.4 per cent, was rejected by the UAW Dec. 18.

General Motors last week termed the recommendations "unacceptable in whole or in part" and said its latest offer "still stands" — about 13½ cents an hour, instead of the 19½ cents the fact finders recommended. The offer was made several weeks

MASS PICKETING BEGINS; PLANTS OF 3 BIG FIRMS IN 16 STATES HIT

Union Terms Walkout 100 Pct. Effective — 57,000 Women Among Westinghouse, G. E. and G. M. C. Strikers.

(Pictures in Everyday Magazine)

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—Two hundred thousand electrical workers in 16 states from Massachusetts to California struck today against three companies which produce the major part of the nation's home and industrial electrical appliances.

Albert J. Fitzgerald, international president of the CIO United Electrical Workers, announced at 8 a.m. that the walkout in plants of General Electric, Westinghouse and General Motors was "100 per cent effective, according to all bulletins received at UE national headquarters up to that time." Mass picketing began at various plants.

57,000 Women Strikers.

Fitzgerald said 57,000 women and 25,000 salaried and white collar workers were among those who left their jobs.

He declared the walkout was 100 per cent effective at 8 a.m. in plants at Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, Pa.; Lynn and Springfield, Mass.; Schenectady, N. Y.; Bloomfield, Newark and Jersey City, N. J., and Dayton, O. A total of 98,000 workers are employed in these plants.

"UE-CIO workers from coast to coast in G.E., Westinghouse and G.M. plants are demonstrating by their solidarity and unity that they are determined to obtain their $2-a-day wage demands," the union said in a statement.

"The UE-CIO strike is the first strike in history where white collar employes and production employes have joined hands in an industry-wide strike to better their working conditions, wages and salaries.

"It was also revealed that more women employes are participating in this strike than in any strike called nationally in recent years. There are 57,000 women workers on strike including 30,000 in General Electric plants, 20,000 in Westinghouse, and 7000 in G.M."

"Tragedy," Company Says.

In newspaper advertisements before the walkout, G.E. had declared that a strike would constitute a "tragedy" that would halt production, retard reconversion and cost G.E. workers and their families $1,100,000 a day in lost wages. The company said it had done everything in its power to prevent a strike. It declared that its wage offer, coupled with overtime urgently needed this year to keep up with a flood of orders, would make average "take home" pay higher than in wartime.

A spokesman for Westinghouse estimated at Pittsburgh that about 25,000 of its white collar workers were idle. At Detroit, General Motors said 4395 of its while collar employes were not working.

International headquarters of the union announced shortly after 6 a.m. that "the walkout began on schedule."

All Types of Equipment.

Virtually every type of electrical equipment, from tiny hearing aids to giant locomotives and turbines, is affected by the strike. The list of appliances made by the firms includes items off the market since Pearl Harbor and many vital to reconversion of other industries.

Among other products, the firms manufacture electric refrigerators, radios, vacuum cleaners, electric stoves, lamps and light bulbs.

Involved in the strike are 100,000 General Electric employes, 75,000 Westinghouse workers and 25,000 employes in the electrical division of General Motors.

States which have either G.E., Westinghouse or General Motors plants are California, Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Maryland, West Virginia and Kentucky. About 75 plants are affected.

Possibilities that the strike might be averted faded yesterday when the union—the nation's third largest—the Labor Department in Washington and the three firms

AMERICAN U. N. O. GROUP SPLIT OVER TRUSTEESHIP FOR PACIFIC ISLANDS

Military Adviser Holds U. S. Should Retain Control of Strategic Areas—Security Council Meeting Thursday.

By JACK SMITH.

LONDON, Jan. 15 (AP)—Official sources disclosed today that American civilian and military officials at the meeting of the United Nations Organization's General Assembly were split over whether American-conquered Japanese islands should be placed under U.N.O. sovereignty.

While the American delegation sought solution to this question, it was learned that the newly-elected Security Council, confronted with the tasks of controlling atomic energy and setting up a world police force, had been summoned to hold its first meeting Thursday.

The suggestion that atomic weapons be used to aid the police force in keeping the peace was made in a statement by N. J. O. Makin, Australian Navy Minister and head of his country's delegation. Australia is a member of the Security Council.

"There is nothing in the nature of atomic weapons which excludes them from the general terms of the charter in regard to the contribution of armed forces, assistance and facilities," Makin said.

Iranian Issue Deferred.

Delegate Seyed Hassan Taquizadeh, Iranian Ambassador to London, announced to the assembly that "we have reluctantly agreed at the last moment" not to force the issue at this time of conditions in his troubled country, occupied by the Russians and British. He declared, however: "If this problem comes before you it would undoubtedly constitute a test case of the most explicit kind for the organization to manifest its fair spirit in dealing with it and in protecting the vital rights of its members."

The disagreement over the trusteeship question, meanwhile, held the attention of the American officials. The delegates were said to favor a trusteeship plan for the Pacific islands, while their special adviser, Gen. George C. Kenney, argued that the United States should retain any Pacific islands of military value. Kenney is chief of the Pacific air staff.

Dispute May Go to Truman.

Delegates said that if Kenney held out the disagreement would have to be referred to President Truman. Officials said that the State Department contended that the United States had agreed to preliminary trusteeship plans during the San Francisco conference and should not set a precedent for others by withholding the islands.

There was some disagreement among the American delegation as to exactly how much control the United States would lose if it agreed to United Nations sovereignty over the Pacific islands. Some sources said it was unlikely the delegation would propose a trusteeship arrangement without stipulating that the United States alone should act as controlling agent for the U.N.O.

Bevin to Offer Mandates.

The British Cabinet heard an outline of the speech Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin is expected to make tomorrow to the U.N.O. assembly. It was reported that he would offer the British mandates of Tanganyika, the Cameroons and Togoland to the trusteeship council, but would reserve the mandates over Palestine and Trans-Jordan.

The reservations, it was said, would be made on the grounds that Trans-Jordan is ready for independence and that action on Palestine should await the report of the British-American commission now studying problems of that country.

Byrnes Tells French 21 Nations May Join in Writing Peace.

PARIS, Jan. 15 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes has assured France that the United States, Britain and Russia will accord a definite weight to any recommendations by the other 18 powers interested in drafting European peace pacts, it is learned. Byrnes also said that the three major powers have no objection to former enemy nations being heard on treaties they must sign.

Replying to a query by the French on the status of the Potsdam decision that the United Nations Organization would be the final ratifying body for peace treaties, Byrnes explained the intention of that decision was to include only those 21 nations which were actively at war with the Axis.

He sent his note to answer a request by France for clarification of the recent Moscow discussions concerning peace treaties, and the 21-nation conference scheduled to be held not later than May. He said the three major powers accepted the principle of permitting interested countries to be heard from on all phases of treaty-making, including the preliminary draft, the conference debate and the final writing.

France also was assured that the deputies of the Big Five foreign ministers would continue to meet regularly, and further that the deputies would undertake immediately the preliminary drafting of the Italian peace pact.

Kimmel Testifies He Was Misled

Trend of Messages.

The information he continued to get from various sources up through Dec. 6 all pointed at a Japanese strike in southeast Asia, Adm. Kimmel said.

He added that even the information on Dec. 3 that Japanese consuls had been ordered to destroy most of their codes meant to him that the Japanese were taking precautions in case the United States and Britain declared war because of Japanese attacks in southeast Asia.

He also contended it was not unusual that radio calls of Japanese carriers were not identified after Dec. 1. During the six months preceding Pearl Harbor, he said that 12 times in periods ranging from nine to 22 days there was no radio trace of the Japanese carriers. Adm. Kimmel recalled that Adm. Stark had written him Oct. 17 saying that "personally I do not believe the Japanese are going to sail into us and the message I sent you merely stated the possibility."

"This letter made it clear to me that when Adm. Stark stated certain Japanese action to be 'possible,' he meant that it was not probable," Adm. Kimmel said.

It was one thing, he said, to warn a commander of "the probable outbreak of war in theaters thousands of miles away" and "it is quite another thing to warn commanders at a particular base of an attack to be expected in their own locality."

Adm. Kimmel said it was his conviction that if he had known by Nov. 28 everything known by the Navy Department in Washington, he would not have sent carriers to Wake and to Midway to deliver planes.

"I would have gone to sea with the fleet and endeavored to keep it in an intercepting position at sea," he said.

'Significant Information.'

Even early in the morning of Dec. 7, he said that if he had received the "significant information" the Navy Department had, he would have moved all light forces out of Pearl Harbor and put the rest on a "general quarters" battle-readiness alert.

"It is my conviction that action by the Navy Department at any one of these significant dates in furnishing me the information from the intercepted messages would have altered the events of Dec. 7, 1941," he testified.

On the important question of why he didn't have scouting planes searching the ocean around Pearl Harbor, Adm. Kimmel told the committee that he had been instructed to get the fleet ready for war and couldn't afford to wear out his planes and crews on a partial reconnaissance.

He had only 49 flyable patrol planes available on Oahu, without spare parts or spare crews, at the time of the attack, he said. Proper reconnaissance, he claimed, would have required a pool of 250 planes for protracted operations.

War Plan 46.

Adm. Kimmel said that the "war warning" message had told him to get ready to carry out war plan 46. Under that, he said, he had to keep his planes in readiness to carry out raids on the Japanese-held Marshall islands.

He was not without reconnaissance, however, he maintained, citing carrier-based patrols and search planes operating "from Midway, Wake and Johnson islands."

He disclosed that in the week preceding the attack, patrol planes from Oahu had scouted a sector north and northwest of Oahu for 400 miles on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The Japanese came in from the north on Sunday.

Adm. Kimmel said he kept the battleships in Pearl Harbor because it would have been "a dangerous course" to send his battleships to sea without the air cover provided by carriers. By keeping the battleships in the harbor, he said he gave them protection from land anti-aircraft guns they would have lacked at sea.

After he got the "war warning" message, Adm. Kimmel said he instructed the fleet to depth bomb all foreign submarines they encountered in their operating areas. He had been instructed previously, he said, not to bomb submarines except within the three-mile limit of American territory.

Submarine Bombed.

Adm. Kimmel told several unverified reports after Nov. 28 of the presence of Japanese submarines. Then came the report from the destroyer ward on the morning of Dec. 7 that it had depth-charged a submarine near the harbor.

He got the information of the Ward's report about 7:30 a.m., Adm. Kimmel said, adding that efforts already had been started to confirm the reported contact.

"I was waiting such verification at the time of the attack," he said. "In my judgment, the effort to obtain confirmation of the reported submarine attack off Pearl Harbor was a proper preliminary to more drastic action in view of the number of such contacts which had not been verified in the past."

Adm. Kimmel told the committee that he never was informed of the decision other witnesses have said was made in August 1941 to discontinue sending army and navy field commanders the full information obtained by intercepting Japanese messages. In July, Kimmel said he had received the verbatim text of at least seven messages.

"I had asked for all vital information. I had been assured that I would have it. I appeared to be receiving it. My current estimate of the situation was formed on this basis.

Didn't Get Most Vital Data.

"Yet, in fact, the most vital information from the intercepted Japanese messages was not sent to me. This failure not only deprived me of essential facts. It misled me."

Adm. Kimmel said he was not supplied with any information on a message intercepted Oct. 9 showing that Tokyo had divided Pearl Harbor into five sub-areas and was seeking details about the berthing of ships of the fleet in those areas.

Witnesses have said that hindsight indicates this information was needed to prepare a bomb plot of Pearl Harbor.

Adm. Kimmel maintained this was significant, for "no other harbor or base in American territory was divided into sub areas by Japan."

"No one had a greater right than I to know," he asserted, "that Japan had carved up Pearl Harbor into sub-areas and was seeking and receiving reports as to the precise berthings in that harbor of the ships of the fleet," Adm. Kimmel declared.

He recalled that he was told earlier in the year that no attack on Pearl Harbor appeared "imminent or planned for in the foreseeable future."

"Certainly," Adm. Kimmel said, "I was entitled to know when information in the Navy Department completely altered the information and advice previously given to me."

Summary of Messages.

He summed up the intercepted Japanese diplomatic dispatches as showing that after Nov. 29, "a Japanese plan of action automatically went into effect; that the plan was of such importance that it involved the fate of the empire; and that Japan urgently wanted the United States to believe that negotiations were continuing after the deadline date to prevent suspicion as to the nature of the plan."

Adm. Kimmel said that these messages, taken together with those seeking information about Hawaii, "pointed to Pearl Harbor as a probable objective" of attack. But he didn't know about the messages and thus was denied the right to make his own deductions, the witness said.

The former fleet commander said the first 13 parts of the final diplomatic reply, received in Washington, Dec. 6, would have meant only one thing to him—that the Japanese felt "war with the United States was imminent."

"Not a word of these supremely critical developments of Saturday, Dec. 6, was sent to me," Adm. Kimmel reminded the committee.

He noted that the dispatch fixing the hour for the delivery of the Japanese reply to the United States at 1 p.m., Washington time, was intercepted and decoded by the Navy Department on the morning of Dec. 7 at 7 a.m., Washington time, 1:30 a.m., Hawaiian time—"nearly six and a half hours before the attack."

"The translation of this short message from the Japanese was a two-minute job," he said. "Not later than 10:30 a.m. the chief of naval operations was informed of it. This information was not supplied to me prior to the attack."

Airplane Torpedoes.

Adm. Kimmel said that technical information he received from Adm. Stark convinced him and his staff that "the danger of a successful airplane torpedo attack in Pearl Harbor was negligible."

Witnesses have testified that torpedoes launched by the Japanese planes in the 30 to 40-foot deep harbor, which supposedly was too shallow for their use, did more damage to ships than bombs.

Adm. Kimmel noted that the Secretary of the Navy had said that naval officials knew that torpedoes had been launched successfully in 42 feet of water in 1940, but added: "Such information was never supplied me."

Adm. Kimmel said in his statement that his appointment as commander in chief of the fleet came as a "complete surprise" to him. When he saw President Roosevelt in June, 1941, six months after his appointment it was the first time he had any conversation or communication with Roosevelt since 1918, the Admiral said.

"My appointment was in no wise contingent upon any acquiscence on my part in a decision already made months before to keep the fleet in Hawaiian waters," he declared.

Inferior Fleet.

When he took command, Adm. Kimmel said it was recognized that the "Pacific fleet was inferior to the Japanese in every category of fighting ships."

"No one in authority expected the Pacific fleet to meet the Japanese head on," he declared.

Adm. Kimmel complained that the Roberts Commission which made the first investigation of Pearl Harbor had been given the impression that he was being furnished with all of the information in the intercepted Japanese messages. He never was asked about the messages by the commission, Adm. Kimmel said, and did not know until two years after the inquiry that this question was at issue.

At the later naval court of inquiry, Adm. Kimmel said he was permitted to cross-examine witnesses.

"The naval court of inquiry found unanimously that there was no ground for criticism of my decisions or actions," he said.

Adm. Kimmel said the Secretary of the Navy denied by letter May 14, 1945, Adm. Kimmel's request to be allowed to appear at the investigation conducted by Adm. H. K. Hewitt for the Navy.

"On the basis of this secret investigation," he charged, "the Secretary, in effect, set aside the verdict of the naval court of inquiry."

KIMMEL SAYS SUCCESSOR COULDN'T PATROL AIR WITH TWICE AS MANY PLANES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP) ADM. HUSBAND E. KIMMEL cited evidence today that his successor as Pacific fleet commander could not maintain complete air reconnaissance of Hawaiian waters with twice the number of planes Kimmel had.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz took command when Kimmel was relieved after Japan's attack.

Testifying before the Senate-House investigating committee, Kimmel produced a dispatch Nimitz sent the Navy Department on Jan. 7, 1942—exactly a month after the war began.

Nimitz said a repeat air raid was probable and the Army and Navy had on hand 109 long-range planes and needed at least 150. Kimmel, in a statement to the committee, had said that before the attack there were 49 flyable Navy and six Army planes in Hawaii suitable for long-distance reconnaissance.

462 BABIES DIED OF NEGLECT AT TWO NAZI 'FARMS'

Taken From Slave Laborers and Placed in Huts—British Hold 19 Germans for Trial.

BRUNSWICK, Germany, Jan. 15 (AP)—British war crime investigators announced today the completion of an inquiry into one of the Nazis' most revolting crimes—the methodical murder on two "baby farms" of 462 infants.

Sixteen men and three women have been arrested for trial.

The investigators said the children were judged under Nazi policy to have been born illegitimately to slave laborers working on farms and in the volkswagon (German jeep) factory near Brunswick.

They were separated from their mothers at the ages of 10 days to three months and placed in two farms at the villages of Velpke and Ruehen. Out of 114 put in wooden huts at Velpke, 92 died. All 370 died who were in corrugated iron sheds at Ruehen.

The British report said the babies were kept in crude cribs which were seldom if ever cleaned. The mattresses were so dirty many of them had rotted apart. Insects covered the walls.

When dead the infants were wrapped in toilet paper and stacked in the lavatory until cardboard coffins were ready for burial in unmarked graves.

The general cause of the deaths was acute diarrhea occasioned by wrong diet, a British investigator said. "The baby farms were staffed by civilians of the local Nazi party and labor organizations," he added. "The person ultimately thought to be responsible is the notorious gauleiter of Hanover, Hartman Lauterbacher, who has not yet been located."

3 NAZIS SENTENCED TO HANG FOR KILLING ALLIED CAPTIVES

NAPLES, Jan. 15 (AP) — An American military commission sentenced three German officers today to be hanged for the murder of seven captive Allied soldiers. A St. Louisan, Lt. Col. Francis W. Davis, is a member of the commission.

Those condemned were Maj. August Schiffer, S.S. (elite guard) Underofficer Albert Storz, and S.S. Lt. Teinrich Andergassen. A fourth defendant, Hans Butz, was sentenced to life imprisonment.

The three Germans, condemned specifically for the murder of Capt. Roderick Hall, South Norwalk, Conn., were convicted also of killing Lt. Charles Parker, Milldale, Conn.; Lt. George W. Hammond, Newnan, Ga.; Lt. Hardy D. Narron, Kenly, N. C., and Sgt. Medard D. Tofoya, Yola, Calif., and two British soldiers. Butz testified he did not participate actively in the killings.

DOENITZ BLASTS NAZI MYTH ABOUT SINKING OF ATHENIA

Affidavit at Trial Identifies U-Boat, Says Total Secrecy Was Ordered in Plot Put Blame on British.

By JAMES F. KING

NUERNBERG, Jan. 15 (AP)—An affidavit by Grand Adm. Karl Doenitz, introduced before the International Military Tribunal today, said the British liner Athenia was sunk by the German submarine U-30.

Thus, in the words of Adolf Hitler's own successor as Fuehrer of Germany, was exploded the myth circulated by German propaganda that the Athenia was torpedoed by the British themselves on the day they entered the war in a plot to get the United Sates into the conflict.

The Athenia, with 1500 passengers aboard, went down off the Scottish coast Sept. 3, 1939, with the loss of 113 lives. Thirty of the dead were Americans.

The affidavit officially identifying the attacking U-boat was signed by Doenitz, one of the 22 defendants in the war crimes trial here, on Nov. 17, 1945.

Denial of Political Role.

Doenitz's affidavit said the German high command ordered the sinking of the Athenia "to be kept a total secret." The German idea was that the loss of American lives might excite the United States as did the sinking of the Lusitania in World War I. The scheme was to turn American ire on the British and away from Germany.

"I had no part whatsoever in the political events in which the Fuehrer claimed that no U-boat had sunk the Athenia," Doenitz asserted in his pre-trial statement. The admiral related that the submarine U-30 returned to Wilhelmshaven in mid-September and its commander, Oberlieutenant Lemp, asked to speak to him privately.

The affidavit said "he told me at once he thought he was responsible for the sinking of the Athenia in the North Channel area." He explained he "had torpedoed a ship he afterward identified as the Athenia under the impression that she was an armed merchant cruiser on patrol."

Order for Total Secrecy.

Doenitz at the time commanded the German submarine arm. He said he received a verbal order saying:

"1. The (Athenia) affair was to be kept a total secret. 2. The naval high command considered that court-martial was not necessary as they were satisfied that the captain acted in good faith. 3. Political explanations would be handled by the naval high command."

Adolf Schmidt, a member of the U-30 crew, who was wounded in a plane attack 11 days after the Athenia went down, informed Allied questioners that Lemp made him sign a pledge of secrecy about the sinking before he put him ashore at Reykjavik, Iceland, on Sept. 19, 1939.

Schmidt's affidavit was given at Calgary, Alberta, Canada, on Aug. 9, 1945, and British prosecutors introduced it at the trial today. Schmidt declared that the Athenia was torpedoed without warning.

Great Britain demanded the conviction of Doenitz as a "murderer" for U-boat attacks on helpless sailors in lifeboats and for ordering the ruthless shooting of Commandos.

Col. H. J. Phillimore, a British prosecutor, told the tribunal that Doenitz was "no plain sailor" and was a key cog behind Nazi preparations for aggressive war. As the prosecution denounced Doenitz, he dropped his pose of indifference for the first time and muttered curses to other defendants in the dock.

The prosecution introduced an extract from Hitler's newspaper, Volkischer Beobachter, on Oct. 23, 1939, charging that "Winston Churchill attempted to sink the ship through explosion of an infernal machine." Churchill at that time was First Lord of the Admiralty.

U-Boat Officer's Affidavit.

Lt. Comdr. Karl-Heinz Moehle, a German submarine commander who sank 20 Allied ships, testified by affidavit against Doenitz, asserting that he did not want to be blamed for his former chief's order to shoot up lifeboats.

Moehle said he was a willing witness, explaining: "When I was taken prisoner it was claimed I was the author of these orders. I'm here because I don't want this charge connected w[illegible] my name."

Moehle, who commanded the Fifth U-boat Flotilla from Kiel during the last four years of the war, admitted that he passed along to individual U-boat commanders naval high command orders to destroy rescue boats. He said:

"I was wont to pass on this controversial order with more or less the following words, 'I have now to inform you of a high command order concerning conduct toward survivors. It is a very ticklish matter. . . .'"

He pleaded that his "innermost conscience" was in disagreement with this order.

Order on Rescue Ships.

The British produced a secret order from Doenitz to U-boats on Oct. 7, 1943, urging attacks on convoy rescue ships because "in view of the desired destruction of ships' crews, their sinking is of great value."

The British, also prosecuting Grand Adm. Erich Raeder, predecessor of Doenitz as commander of the German Navy, introduced a captured Nazi document in which Raeder asserted that Hitler's ideal year for attacking England was 1944 and the German Navy, which took his word for everything, was caught short by the outbreak of the war in 1939.

DEMOBILIZATION SLOWED TO AVOID ARMY 'COLLAPSE'

sions and made plain that the points are to be computed on the basis of last Sept. 2.

He pledged that every man eligible for discharge by July 1 will be out of service by that time.

Eisenhower said it was not possible to discharge all men with two years' service by March 20 as originally contemplated.

"It would mean that another 2,000,000 men would be out on that date beyond our expectations," Eisenhower said.

"It would mean such a complete rescramble of our occupational forces as to jeopardize the results of months of work in bringing order out of chaos."

Keeping on the original schedule, he said, also would have meant impairing the Army's ability to care for hospitalized veterans and supply troops abroad. Further, he said, it would have delayed the release of eligible veterans because technicians who operate the separation centers would have left the Army.

Eisenhower said the new order which will release 2,700,000 men by July 1 was not issued "without the gravest consideration," adding:

"Should we fail to obtain the 1,500,000 men we require on July 1, something would have to break in the tight little net which we have now woven to perform our job in this country and discharge the nation's overseas commitments.

"If we are not relieved of the still high supplies of Government property entrusted to our custody overseas, we shall have no choice but to abandon them where they lie."

He prefaced his remarks with the statement that demobilization is not tied in with the War Department's sponsorship of universal military training or with any desire of high ranking officers to retain their positions.

Some Congressmen and some soldiers have suggested such might be the case.

Such conclusions, Eisenhower asserted, are "utterly false."

Eisenhower said that of 1500 general officers on duty on V-E day, 789 already have been or are being reduced in rank or separated from the service.

Eisenhower likened the Army's occupation forces to firemen in these words:

"You see firemen playing checkers some times, but that doesn't mean you fire them and send them home. They may be vitally needed a few minutes later.

"It's the same way with our occupation forces. We must maintain them at a safe level, because we may need them, even though we don't have full work for all of them all the time."

Navy's Program.

Adm. Nimitz was given a standing ovation when he said that the Navy had been able to keep all of its demobilization schedules.

Nimitz said naval obligations included adequate support for Army commanders in the Pacific, sweeping of mines left by both Allied and enemy forces, and assisting in return of troops to the United States.

The Navy's personnel chief, V. Adm. Louis Denfield, reported the Navy had exceeded its original schedules in demobilizing 1,233,000 men by Dec. 31, 1945. He said the Navy would meet all of its promises including release of one-half its peak force by "end of January or early February" and would complete its planned demobilization by Sept. 1.

Denfeld also reported progress in building up the permanent post-war Navy, with 372,000 men already enrolled. By Sept. 1, he said, this figure will be up to 500,000.

Reaction of the Congressmen was mixed.

To Representative Rankin (Dem.), Mississippi, leader of a drive to force a House vote on legislation to compel the discharge of men with 18 months' service and men with dependents, Eisenhower's explanation of the slowdown "was unconvincing."

"I didn't get anything new; there was no clearing up," said Representative Brooks (Dem.), Louisiana, of the House Military Committee.

Chairman May (Dem), Kentucky, of the same committee expressed belief the Eisenhower-Nimitz statements would "iron out" the complaints against demobilization that have led to demonstrations by G.I.s abroad and protests from friends and relatives at home.

"It was very convincing; it gave all the answers," commented Representative Sterling Cole (Rep.), New York.

CITY TO MAKE BID FOR U. S. HOUSING MATERIAL TO BE SOLD IN INDIANA

Enough Supplies Reported There for Exteriors, Interiors and Floors for 600 Temporary Units Planned Here.

Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann today instructed Robert M. Berkley, president of the Builders' Guild of St. Louis, to prepare and submit bids in behalf of the city on government-owned building materials stored at the Indiana Ordnance Works at Charleston, Ind.. The materials, if obtained, will be used in construction of 600 temporary housing units here.

The Mayor acted immediately after being informed by Berkley, who went to Charlestown yesterday to inspect the surplus materials, that there were sufficient materials of some types on hand there to complete the exteriors, interiors and floors of the 600 temporary units proposed by the Builders' Guild. Berkley was accompanied by William E. Kraemer of the surplus property division of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

The surplus building materials will be disposed of by the government on Jan. 22. The city's bid for the materials will have priority over any individual bids which might be submitted, Berkley said.

The materials available, Berkley told Mayor Kaufmann, include asbestos board sheeting, suitable for the exterior walls; celotex sheeting, which could be used on the interior walls, and enough sheetrock, which could be used for floors and covered with linoleum.

No Lumber on Hand.

However, Berkley said there were no plumbing fixtures available, nor was there any lumber. The Builders' Guild is busy making surveys of lumber mills in the South in an effort to obtain carload shipments, he said. The association is also attempting to locate plumbing fixtures and heating units.

A recommendation that the Citizens' Emergency Housing Committee abandon its fight for relaxation of the city's zoning ordinance to permit veterans and their families to rent rooms in restricted areas was contained in a report made yesterday to the body by a subcommittee after a spot survey failed to show any usable family units available.

The report, read by Mrs. J. Walter Goldstein, chairman of the subcommittee, showed that of 1343 householders interviewed in various parts of the city only 65 homes had potential living quarters for veterans and a "high percentage" of these were highly problematical. Six of the 65 homes reported single rooms available immediately; the other 59 reported some space might be available "in the future."

"The Citizens' Emergency Housing Committee is not justified in requesting relaxation of the zoning ordinance," the report said. "We realize that the committee has already taken a stand on this matter (the committee sponsored a bill now pending in the Board of Aldermen to amend the ordinance), but, in view of the results of this survey, we do not believe that this position should be maintained."

Lengthy Debate on Issue.

Filing of the report at the meeting in Mayor Kaufmann's office resulted in a lengthy debate as to the advisability of relaxing the ordinance. Three of the members present expressed opposition to continued support of the bill pending in the Board of Aldermen. The other six members attending the meeting, led by Committee Chairman J. Wesley McAfee, agreed not to change the stand taken earlier by the committee.

McAfee, arguing for relaxation of the zoning law, asserted that, even though there are only a few places available, "If we could house as many as 1500 veterans through relaxation of the law, we would at least be doing something to alleviate the situation."

In response to a statement by Mrs. Goldstein that she had been informed by the housing division of the Veterans' Service Center that 84 per cent of the requests received by them were for three- or four-room units, McAfee said:

"I know that the veterans, particularly those who are married, want apartments, not rooms, but it comes down to what you can get, not what you want. I'm afraid it is getting to the 'have to' stage.

"Furthermore, if there are only going to be a few rooms available in the restricted areas, the city would risk little or no damage to the zoning law through relaxation."

Argues Against Amendment.

E. J. Russell, chairman of the City Plan Commission, which disapproved the proposed relaxation when the matter was referred to it, argued that the committee should abandon support of the measure.

"If the zoning laws are relaxed, it will do irreparable damage to the city," he said.

The Rev. Patrick J. Holloran, S.J., president of St. Louis University, said, "I think we would just be wasting time continuing to seek the relaxation. On the basis of this survey, it seems that too little would result from our efforts."

The committee went on record as opposed to appropriating any large amounts of money for emergency housing, such as was contemplated in a bill introduced in the Board of Aldermen Friday to appropriate $5,000,000 for the purpose. It was agreed that funds should be sought only for specific projects.

Commenting on the city's application to the Federal Public Housing Authority for 2400 demountable houses and automobile trailers, McAfee said that, if most of the government-owned units awarded the city are trailers, he believed the committee should seek permission of the National Park Service for use of the Jefferson Expansion Memorial riverfront site. This site would be particularly advantageous for this purpose, he said, because all utilities are readily accessible.

Director of Public Safety Charles J. Riley was in Chicago yesterday to confer with officers of the FPHA in an effort to expedite action on the city's application, which it found was 182nd on the list. Only 15 applications have been acted on so far, McAfee said.

20 Infants on Converted Freighter Ill of Measles—Laundry Facilities Inadequate for 600 Diapers Daily.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15 (AP) — Crowded into a converted freighter on a 45-day voyage from New Zealand, 75 babies — 20 of them just getting over the measles —reached San Francisco yesterday.

All of them children of American service men, they suffered from food shortages and overcrowded conditions, their warbride mothers said when the Permanente docked.

With 600 diapers to be washed daily, laundering was limited to one washroom, one small tub, and a small pantry equipped with two electric plates on which to boil water, said Mrs. Brenda Murphy, wife of a former Rhode Island corporal, and mother of a 9-month-old son. She said she had no idea the trip would last 45 days.

"The women hadn't been told what conditions to expect," she declared. "No special food was provided for the infants aboard."

When the ship docked at Noumea, she said, the women were not allowed to go ashore until the vessel was shifted from Navy to French piers after two days.

Measles started breaking out at Noumea, she said, with 20 cases reported on the trip.

The war brides slept six to a cabin with the only ventilation coming from a passageway leading to the deck, they reported. Three mothers, each with her infant, shared one cabin.

Ens. Howard R. Davis, second steward, said fresh milk was available for 21 days and that despite his efforts to obtain more at each port, "it was impossible because of local health conditions to obtain a supply."

Mrs. Patricia Ghormley, 21 years old, of Wellington, Australia, said the food aboard was "excellent — for adults, but for children—no."

Steamship company executives conceded living conditions aboard the ship, which was built in 1902 and used as a cement carrier before the war, were "not up to peacetime standards." They said, however, that although not surprised at hearing there were "complaints," the mothers should consider that if they had not embarked aboard the Permanente, "it might have been months before they could have been brought to this country."

14 PACKERS HERE AVERT WALKOUT, GRANT PAY RISE

Workmen's Union, said he would continue telephone negotiations until late this afternoon with meat packers in an effort to reach agreements on wages and avert the walkout. Friese said negotiations had been broken off by Luer Bros. Packing Co. at Alton, and that several hundred workers in that plant would strike at midnight. The union reduced the demanded increase from 17½ cents an hour to 15 cents, but "will not budge a cent below that," Friese stated.

"If we are forced to strike we will return to our original demand for 25 cents an hour more," Friese asserted. "Our people get $25 to $30 a week—sometimes less—and they can't afford to buy the meat they process. We have had no general increase since 1941 and the present hourly rates of 72½ cents an hour for men and 64½ cents for women employes are not sufficient to meet present-day living costs. Everyone else is getting an increase and our people certainly have one coming, too."

Friese advocated a price increase of half a cent a pound on meat to packers, to be absorbed by the retailers. "The retailers have made a lot of money during the war and can afford to pay the increase without passing it on to the consumer," he observed.

Government conciliators at Chicago were holding last-minute conferences with union and management representatives in an effort to avert a strike of CIO Packing House Workers in 139 plants of major packers throughout the country. There were reports from Washington of probable price relief to provide the basis for a wage increase. The CIO workers are demanding an increase of 17½ cents an hour, and the international AFL meat packers' union have said they would join in the walkout. However, if local packers reach an agreement with the union here there will be no St. Louis strike, Friese has stated.

The only plant in this area which would be affected by a CIO strike is that of Armour & Co. at National Stockyards. All others in the area are under contract with the AFL union, which has opened the wage provision. Large plants involved include Swift & Co. and the Hunter Packing Co., East St. Louis; the St. Louis plants of Armour & Co.; the American, Krey, Heil, Selloff and Independent packing companies in St. Louis; Streck Bros. and Wessel's in Belleville, and others.

Plants here joining the Madison and Laclede firms in reaching an agreement with the union were announced by Friese as follows: Western Beef Co., National Packing Co., Volz Packing Co., Grand Packing Co., Albert Glauser Packing Co., Bonnie Butter Steaks Co., Fischer Meat Co., Wollmershouser Sausage Co., Max German Provision Co., McChesney Packing Co., Rueckert Meat Co. and Blue Ribbon Co.

THREE STRAY DOGS CAUGHT AFTER ATTACK ON CHILDREN

Search for the rest of a pack of five stray dogs which attacked two small children in Brentwood Sunday, severely mutilating one of them, was continued today by Brentwood police and St. Louis county dog catchers. One dog, identified as a member of the pack, was killed, and two others, thought possibly to be members, were captured yesterday.

The children bitten were C. Jeffrey Spitz, 2 years old, and his sister, Linda, 4, children of Dr. and Mrs. Milton A. Spitz, 2825 Manderly drive, Brentwood. The boy is in St. Louis County Hospital with multiple lacerations of the face and ears. Dr. Spitz said the right ear was torn almost completely off and may have to be removed. Linda was treated at the hospital for body lacerations and taken home.

Eugene L. Van Meter, head of the county rabies control center, said the head of the dog which was killed would be examined for rabies and that the two animals captured would be held 10 days for observation at the St. Louis County Humane Society, 1802 South Hanley road, Richmond Heights. Brentwood and other county municipalities have ordinances requiring dogs to be licensed and to wear muzzles when not on leash.

PRISON FOR KILLING CUSTOMER

Pete Chulohas, a cook, who shot and killed a customer Aug. 27 in an East St. Louis restaurant in an argument over payment for a 15-cent bowl of chili, was sentenced to three to five years in prison today. He pleaded guilty of manslaughter before Circuit Judge Edward F. Bareis in Belleville.

Chulohas killed Edward Draper, 37 years old, a discharged service man, in a restaurant at 407 Collinsville avenue.

PHONE SERVICE BACK TO NORMAL HERE AFTER TRUCE

City Among Last to Recover — 240 Striking Equipment Workers Return to Jobs.

Telephone service returned to normal in the St. Louis area today, 24 hours after a truce in labor disputes ended a nationwide tie-up of manually operated telephone services.

St. Louis was the last major city to return to normal service, except Washington, D. C., where a local labor dispute continued. Pickets were not withdrawn here until yesterday afternoon, although in most of the nation pickets had been withdrawn earlier and service was restored yesterday.

This morning, 240 striking members of the Association of Communication Equipment Workers returned to their jobs in the St. Louis area. The return to work of nearly 6000 members of the Southwestern Telephone Workers' Union, which had honored the Equipment Workers' picket lines, began last night.

Long-Distance Calls Go Through.

Long-distance calls were going through as usual today; manual telephone service in St. Louis county and on the East Side was normal, and information operators were functioning.

The partial tie-up had begun last Friday, when members of the Equipment Workers' union, who had walked off telephone equipment installation jobs Wednesday, established their picket lines. The truce was called yesterday by the National Federation of Telephone Workers, with which all independent unions in the telephone industry are affiliated. The federation asked workers to return to their jobs, pending a nation-wide strike called for 30 days hence.

Not included in the truce was the strike of 17,000 members of the Western Electric Employes' Association against Western Electric telephone equipment manufacturing plants in New York and New Jersey. Workers remained out of the factories, but a new and secret management proposal for settlement was received today.

The local dispute in Washington also remained unsettled, and 3000 operators were idle. Only emergency long-distance calls were being accepted in Washington.

B. C. Dreppard, president in the St. Louis area of the installation men's union, said work was resumed at 8 a.m. today on three major projects in St. Louis and several others in the county. Equipment installation men are expanding telephone switchboards and dial system equipment so that new telephones may be installed for people now unable to obtain them.

Wage demands ranging up to $1.64 an hour for men of nine years' experience, which led to the strike of installation men, still are to be settled. Meanwhile, D. L. McCowen, president of the Southwestern Telephone Workers' Union, announced that negotiations would begin tomorrow on demands by his membership, which includes operators and other workers, for wage increases averaging 20 per cent.

A spokesman for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. said no further legal action is planned in connection with attempts to stop picketing of the 22 exchanges in the St. Louis area by court order. A temporary order was obtained, which stopped picketing in St. Louis County, but the order was dissolved yesterday. Hearing on an application for a similar order in St. Louis was set for today, but the company spokesman said the matter would be dropped.

Company Offer to Customers.

Meanwhile the company issued a statement offering to give customers credit on their telephone bills for service lost during the strike. The statement said:

"Telephone customers served by manually-operated exchanges where only emergency service was furnished will be given full credit for the several days that service was interrupted. The credits will be given on the monthly statements which include this period, when these statements are rendered.

"Since dial service was virtually normal, no adjustments on dial customers' bills are planned."

3-YEAR CONTRACT FOR STREET LIGHT MAINTENANCE LET

$520,620 Agreement With Welsbach Co., Philadelphia, Will Save City $60,000.

The Board of Public Service today awarded a three-year contract for maintenance of the city's street lights to the Welsbach Street Lighting Co. of America, a Philadelphia concern, on the company's low bid of $520,620. Under the new contract the city will effect a saving of $60,000.

The bid submitted by the Welsbach company was $140,000 less than Director of Public Utilities Harry C. Brockhoff had estimated the city would have to pay under terms of a new contract. Nine bids were submitted and all but one of them was less than the estimated cost. Six of them were less than the cost under the old contract.

A three-year, $580,000 contract held by the G. L. Tarlton Contractor, Inc., a local firm, expired in December 1943. The work has been done since that time under extensions of the contract both by the Tarlton company and its successor, the Street Illuminating Co.

The Board of Public Service was forced to extend the contract because of the failure of former Public Utilities Committees of the Board of Aldermen to report out of committee bills authorizing letting of a new contract.

The Street Illuminating Co., which several months ago complained that it was operating at a loss under the old contract and urged that a new one be let, submitted a bid of $572,582 on the new contract. This was nearly $8000 less than the company was receiving for the three-year period under the expired contract. Their bid was sixth highest.

SENATORS WANT TO DISCUSS ATOM CONTROL WITH TRUMAN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—Senator McMahon (Dem.), Connecticut, proposed yesterday that President Truman consult a special Senate committee before he makes any final decision on international policy regarding atomic energy.

McMahon told a reporter that the committee, which he heads, will resume hearings next Monday in an effort to speed recommendations on domestic control legislation. He made it plain the 11-member group wants to make its ideas known to Truman before this nation is committed to any course that involves sharing the secrets of atomic energy production and manufacture.

"I think the President will want to sit down and talk with us about it," McMahon said. "I think it is perfectly all right for him to name an advisory committee to make recommendations on international policy, but he is going to have to come back to Congress to put any decision into effect."

$790 Theft at Park Lane Hospital.

A total of $790 was stolen from the cashier's office of the Park Lane Hospital, 4920 Lindell boulevard, yesterday in a brief absence of the cashier, Miss Verna Main. Police said that the thief had used a duplicate key or had climbed over an eight-foot partition to gain access to the drawer.

ICKES TO SUGGEST U. S. OIL ACTIVITIES BE PUT UNDER HIM

Rumors That Oil Man Pauley May Become Secretary of Navy Believed a Factor in Maneuver.

By EDWARD A. HARRIS
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15—Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes soon will recommend to the White House that all federal oil activities, including administrative control of the immensely valuable naval oil reserves, be centralized in his department, the Post-Dispatch learned today.

The proposals are expected to be incorporated in the sweeping governmental reorganization program now being studied by the White House. Department heads have been asked to submit by the end of this month a list of functions which they believe should be eliminated or transferred, and to specify those of other agencies which they want to take over.

Persistent reports that Edwin W. Pauley, Los Angeles oil man and influential politician, is slated to be named Secretary of the Navy to succeed James V. Forrestal may have played an important part in Ickes's decision to recommend transfer of all oil functions to his department. Although Chairman Robert E. Hannegan of the Democratic National Committee strongly favors Pauley's appointment to the Cabinet post, some of President Truman's advisers have warned that it would be a serious mistake to pick an oil man for the job.

"Petty's Oil Letter," a weekly news letter sent to subscribing members of the oil industry, sums up the situation in the current issue in this fashion:

"It is highly improbable that Pauley would be willing to divest himself of his oil holdings—but Truman might divest the Navy of its oil reserves, turning them over to Interior."

Ickes also is expected to urge the establishment of an interdepartmental oil board consisting of the Secretaries of War, Navy and Interior, with the latter as chairman. Such a board would set governmental oil policies, working in close co-operation with the State Department on matters relating to exploitation in other lands.

If the federal oil reserves are transferred from the Navy Department to the Interior, the way would be cleared for appointment of Pauley as Secretary of the Navy. There is reason to believe, however, that Truman still would hesitate to make the appointment. Apparently Pauley's only naval experience was his victorious participation many years ago in a yacht race from the west coast to Hawaii, and his success in working out a plan in the war for expediting oil tanker shipments.

It is a foregone conclusion, nevertheless, that some big appointive reward is coming his way. As former treasurer of the national committee, and as an original Truman booster, he tops the list of "deserving" Democrats. His interim service as United States reparations commissioner, a position he still holds, was intended to groom him for a Cabinet post or other high office. If he does not get into the Cabinet, he may be named ambassador to Russia to succeed Averell Harriman.

CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICTING BILL PERFECTED IN HOUSE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 15—TheHouse today perfected and placed in position for final passage a measure realigning Missouri's 13 Congressional Districts. The standing vote was 47 to 45.

Representative John J. Endres of Perryville, a sponsor of the bill, said the redistricting would correct a gerrymander that was unfair and that both Democrats and Republicans were in favor of a realignment. He said there would be six Democratic and six Republican districts under his bill, with the remaining district being doubtful. At present the state is represented in the United States House of Representatives by seven Democrats and six Republicans.

Under Endres's bill St. Louis would be entitled to three Congressmen, while at present St. Louis has two and shares one with St. Louis county. The bill provides that St. Louis county be represented by one Congressman.

The three St. Louis districts would be numbered as follows and consist of the following wards. Eleventh District: Wards 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 23, 24. Twelfth District: Wards 5, 6, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 25, 28. Thirteenth District: Wards 1, 2, 3, 4, 20, 21, 22, 26, 27.

NEGRO GIRL DENIED ADMISSION TO UNIVERSITY OF OKLAHOMA

NORMAN, Okla., Jan. 15 (AP) —The University of Oklahoma has denied Ada Lois Sipuel, 21-year-old Negro girl from Chickasha, Okla., admission to its law school.

Roscoe Dungee, Oklahoma president of the National Association for the Advancement of the Colored People, said action would be filed in United States district court, asking that the university be required to admit her. Dr. George L. Cross, university president, said the school's decision was based on Oklahoma statutes.

Four Years for Killing Man.

Ruby Warner, Negro of 2631 Pine street, was sentenced to serve four years in the Missouri State Penitentiary yesterday when she pleaded giulty of manslaughter in the court of Circuit Judge Robert L. Aronson. On Sept. 8, police reported, she stabbed to death Robert Harris, Negro, following an argument in front of her home.

PERMITS SOUGHT FOR 382 MORE SERVICE CARS

United and Servall Concerns Planning Bigger Fleets and Faster Schedules.

Applications for permits to operate 382 more service cars on routes now established by the United Service Cars and the Servall Service Cars firms were received and taken under advisement today by the Board of Public Service.

The United company, owned by the Taxi Owners' Association, Inc., which now operates 50 service cars on 14 routes, sought permission to add 350 automobiles to its present fleet. The Servall concern, which now operates 18 automobiles for Negroes on two lines, proposed to add 25 new automobiles.

Albert Schweitzer, president of the Board of Aldermen, who represented United Service Cars, said the company plans to place a total of 75 machines on its Delmar Line, operating 20 each hour during the slack periods of the day and as often as one each minute during peak periods in mornings and evenings.

On each of the 13 other routes, Schweitzer said, 25 cars will be operated every three minutes during peak periods and every five minutes in slack periods.

Myron C. Redman, spokesman for United, said 200 new automobiles had been ordered and delivery promised. The remaining 150 also have been ordered, but delivery dates are not definite, because of the strike of automobile workers in Detroit.

In addition to the Delmar route, United proposed to increase service on the following routes: South Broadway, Lindell - Waterman, Clayton-Hi-Pointe, South Kingshighway, South Grand, Walnut Park, North Grand, Page-Wellston, Lee, St. Louis, Maplewood, Ball Park and Russell-Shaw-Lindenwood. Fares will remain at 15 cents.

Spokesman for Servall, which operates service cars on the Easton avenue and Belt routes, said that concern had seven cars now being prepared for operations and 25 additional cars on order with delivery promised soon after the settlement of the automobile strike.

Servall proposed to operate automobiles on its lines on a schedule of one every five minutes during the day.

The board requested the two concerns to submit detailed schedules of proposed operations with starting and finishing times for each machine in operation.

BILL TO SIMPLIFY TAX COLLECTIONS GIVEN TO SENATE

Committee Reports Out Measure for State Department of Revenue Under Governor.

By CURTIS A. BETTS
State Political Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 15.—The bill setting up the new state department of revenue was reported to the Senate today by Senator Claude B. Ricketts of St. Louis, chairman of the Senate Ways and Means Committee. It would break down the wasteful political patronage system of dividing the collection of the $125,000,000 annual state revenue among elective state officials and put it in one department under the Governor.

Favorable action on the bill was taken by the committee late yesterday, when an agreement was reached on the latest of many revisions of the bill as it was originally prepared six months ago. State Auditor Forrest Smith, principal critic of earlier drafts, told the committee he believed it to be a workable bill and in conformity with the new constitution.

Under its provisions the collection of $40,000,000 sales tax and supervision of the collection of $12,000,000 income tax will be taken from Smith. Secretary of State Wilson Bell will lose the collection of $10,000,000 of automobile and drivers' license fees, and the state oil inspector will lose the collection of $11,000,000 of gasoline tax. The only state revenue which will not be collected by the new department will be the tax on tangible property which will continue to be collected by county collectors.

Major Constitutional Reform.

The requirement in the Constitution for centralization of tax collection was considered one of the major reforms in the new state charter.

The bill, as reported, is much more than a tax collection measure, setting up a system for business rather than political administration of the state's fiscal affairs. It includes scientific budget-making and a pre-audit of all claims by an agency other than the State Auditor.

At the head of the department will be a director of revenue, appointed by the Governor, at a salary of $7500 a year. There will be five divisions, collection, budget and comptroller, procurement, fund commissioners and public buildings. Each, except the division of fund commissioners, will be headed by an appointive official at $6000 a year.

The director is charg d with the responsibility of supervision of state expenditures and for recommendations for economy and for better management of the fiscal affairs of the state.

Duties of Aids.

The state collector of revenue, in charge of the collection division, will collect all taxes, licenses and fees due the state and all agencies of the state, except the tax on tangible property.

The comptroller, heading the division of budget and comptroller, will pre-audit all claims, a duty which in the past has been that of the State auditor, an elective official. The auditor will continue to issue the warrants for the payment of claims, but no warrant may be issued until the comptroller has certified to the correctness of the claim and the availability of funds to pay it. The comptroller will prepare also the executive budget, which the Governor will submit to the Legislature.

The division of procurement will be headed by the State purchasing agent, who will purchase all supplies for state departments and institutions on competitive bids. In general the present purchasing agent department has been moved into the revenue department, but the bill proposes to bring under the purcasing agent the extensive printing purchases of the state.

Under the existing law a state printing contract to cover virtually all printing is let to one company. Under the new bill bids will be sought for each printing job costing more than $50.

The division of fund commissioners will be headed by a board of fund commissioners consisting of the Governor, Attorney General and director of revenue, and succeeding the present board, which consists of the Governor, Attorney General, State Auditor and State Treasurer. It has general supervision of state bond issues.

The division of public buildings, nominally headed by the board of public buildings, consisting of the Governor, Attorney General and director of revenue, but actually by a director of buildings, will have charge of public buildings and will succeed the present board of permanent seat of government. The director will act in an advisory capacity to departments in building construction.

12 OF 29 MISSING IN CRASH OF C-46 IN THE MARSHALLS

HONOLULU, Jan. 15 (AP) — Twelve persons are missing after the crash of an Army C-46 Skytrain off Majuro atoll in the Marshall islands Sunday. The plane plunged into the sea a mile from the end of Majuro airstrip, with 29 men aboard.

Names of casualties and survivors were not immediately announced. None of the survivors was seriously hurt.

ORDNANCE DISTRICT OFFICES BEING MOVED TO SHELL PLANT

Transfer of headquarters of the St. Louis Ordnance District from the old St. Louis Club building at 3663 Lindell boulevard to the Chevrolet shell plant at 4801 Goodfellow boulevard, on property formerly occupied by the small arms ammunition plant, will be completed by Feb. 1, Col. Clyde H. Morgan, chief of the district, announced today.

In announcing the move, Col. Morgan disclosed that from February 1941 through September 1945 the district had accepted $767,463,907 worth of ordnance for the armed forces from contractors throughout southern Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico, Texas, Nebraska and Arkansas, which comprise the district's area. Peak personnel figure of the district during this period was 2129 civilians and 160 military personnel.

The move from the Lindell boulevard building to the Government-owned plant on Goodfellow was necessitated by the purchase of the former St. Louis Club by the F. W. Woolworth Co. to house district offices controling 5-and-10-cent stores in 11 southwestern states. Terms of the sale were not made public, but the current market value of the building has been estimated at $400,000.

YOUTHS SAID TO HAVE KILLED FARMER ON PROMISE OF $5

Evidence was to be presented to a Dallas (Tex.) grand jury today in the cases of two DeSoto (Mo.) youths who police said have confessed killing a farmer after they were asked to do so by a young girl and promised $5 by a woman. The girl, a cousin of one of the youths, and the woman also are being held.

Police said the two youths told them they went to Dallas for the Christmas holidays, and a few days after arriving were requested by the girl to kill Robert C. Martin, 42 years old. She said Martin should be killed because he quarreled constantly with the woman who stayed at the farm, and so she and the woman could get a house for which $100 rent could be charged, police said. Martin was shot and killed last Jan. 7. One of the youths has admitted firing the fatal shot, police said.

The two admitted also stealing two service revolvers and two machine guns from a government armory at DeSoto three weeks before they went to Dallas, police said. One of the youths is 16 years old, the other 15. The girl, also 16, is a cousin of the older youth.

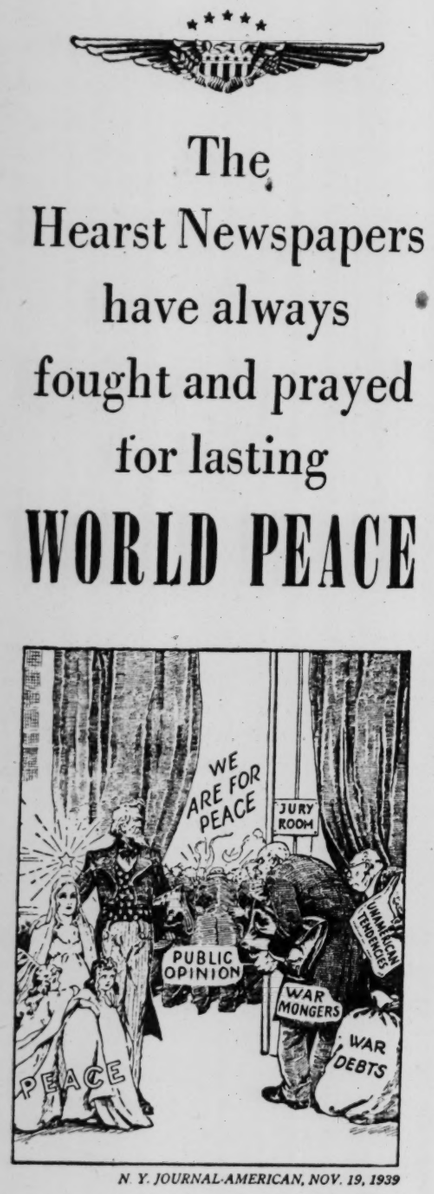
WORLD PEACE



N. Y. JOURNAL-AMERICAN, NOV. 19, 1939

"Whatever is right can be achieved through the irresistible power of awakened and informed public opinion. Our object, therefore, is not to enquire whether a thing can be done, but whether it ought to be done, and if it ought to be done, to so exert the forces of publicity that public opinion will compel it to be done."

W. R. Hearst

In 1909 the Hearst Newspapers published a stirring Christmas plea for World Peace, which Andrew Carnegie forwarded to France, England, Russia, Germany, Japan and the United States.

In 1912 the Hearst Newspapers called upon President Taft for ratification of the Peace Treaties with France and England.

In 1921 the Hearst Newspapers asked Congress to reject Naval Disarmament as a step toward weakness and war.

In 1928 the Hearst Newspapers prophesied that the Kellogg Peace Pact would prove to be just another scrap of paper if the nations of the world didn't achieve the will to peace.

In 1936 the Hearst Newspapers urged the U. S. to recognize the lesson of the London Naval Conference failure and make herself formidable beyond any attack.

In 1939 the Hearst Newspapers petitioned President Roosevelt to use his good offices to maintain peace in Europe, reminding him that only the Communists had anything to gain by war.

In 1945 the Hearst Newspapers supported the President's decision to keep the secret of the Atomic Bomb, pointing out that in our hands this terrible weapon is actually a weapon for peace and international justice.

CHURCHILL LANDS, TAKES TRAIN FOR FLORIDA FOR REST

Won't Quit British Politics, He Says—Urges U. S. Aid in Palestine Solution.

(Picture in Everyday Magazine)

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—Winston Churchill, Britain's wartime Prime Minister, was on a train today for Miami, Fla., where he plans to spend the greater part of a six-week American visit.

Churchill, a black cigar between his teeth, arrived here last night on the liner Queen Elizabeth. In a press conference he told reporters he was not yet ready to retire from politics.

"I have no intention whatever of ceasing to lead the Conservative party until I am convinced that they have found someone to take my place, and I hope that will occur," he said.

Asked whether he believed the United Nations Organization was making progress toward permanent peace in the world, Churchill said:

"As to its chances of success, you are as good a judge as I am. As to the need for such an organization, what else is there in the world to hope for?"

For Joint Palestine Inquiry.

Churchill said he was "strongly in favor" of the joint American-British inquiry committee for Palestine, adding that he thought the problem of a national Jewish home there was "too difficult to be handled by one single nation."

"As you know," he said, "I am a Zionist from the very beginning of this great experiment, but I think too heavy a weight has been thrown on Britain with the Arab and Moslem populations. You (the United States) ought to come along, and I am sure far greater results can be obtained through the effort of both nations. They might bring about a most happy solution for the whole world."

Churchill also said that his personal choice for a permanent home for the U.N.O. was Casablanca, where he and the late President Roosevelt met in the early days of the war; he added that he favors London as the site for the peace conference; that he will visit Hyde Park before he returns to England, and that he has no doubt that Hitler is dead.

Against Sharing Atomic Secrets.

Questioned about the atomic bomb, Churchill said, "I think it would be a great mistake to share the secret of the atomic bomb unless proper controls are established."

He declined to discuss British politics, commenting:

"I very rarely like to criticize the British Government abroad."

When asked about conditions in Germany, he said:

"On the whole, I have the feeling the winter is not going to be so bad as some fear. It isn't going to be a very lamentable trial. I think the Allies are doing the best they can under the circumstances."

He did not confirm reports that he planned to work on his memoirs during his visit here.

"I don't know if I wrote them whether they'd be published," he parried.

Churchill wore the uniform of the Royal Yacht squadron. He was accompanied by his wife.

He said he hoped to see President Truman on March 5 in Fulton, Mo., where Churchill will speak at Westminster College.

This is the ninth visit Churchill has made to the United States.

followed the same pattern: Their trucks had been stopped by groups of men, usually about five in number, and drivers had been warned to "stay off the streets."

"These men represented large industries, some of them vital to the city's welfare," Eagleton said. "They said they would be forced to close down if they cannot make deliveries in their own trucks, and this would have a paralyzing effect.

"We made it clear to the union men that the police will not be used as strike-breakers and that we are not taking sides in their dispute. We simply will protect the rights of citizens, and if threats are made, arrests will be made. We will deal with such acts as they are reported, whether authorized or unauthorized."

Reprisals Feared.

Eagleton said identities of the complainants were withheld at their request because they feared reprisals. Two of those who appeared before the board were representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, Scott R. DeKins and Carl Giessow. The meeting was called at the insistence of the Chamber.

In only one instance was the Police Department notified of threats to non-striking drivers, Eagleton said, and there were no reports of actual violence. The business men told the board they had not reported threats because they felt police intervention might do more harm than good, he said.

"Stopping of trucks transcends legal bounds," Eagleton declared. "We urge employers and citizens to report these matters. Any employer who requests police protection for his trucks will receive it."

William Ryan, president of the union, said previously that strikers had been warned by their officers against threats or acts of violence and that the union neither authorized nor condoned threats.

200,000 Workers Out In Electrical Wage Strike

Union, Company Proposals.

The union's wage demand of a $2 a day increase had been countered by General Electric with an offer of 10 cents an hour rise for employes earning less than one dollar an hour, and 10 per cent increase for those earning more than one dollar.

General Motors — already involved in a strike of 175,000 CIO United Auto Workers—offered 13½ cents an hour boost.

Westinghouse said in Pittsburgh today that the company had offered employes a 15 per cent pay increase for a 10 per cent increase in hours, so that for 44 hours work the average male employe would earn $60.72 per week. The work week, under the plan, would be five and one-half days, with time and a half pay for "extra" hours, he added. Hourly wages, figured on that basis, would be $1.38. The average hourly paid male employe was making $1.35 an hour last November, including overtime, and now draws $54 a week, a company statement said.

Westinghouse had an operating loss of $3,000,000 in the period of September, October and November of last year, the statement said. It declared, "These are startling and distressing figures to us, and ones the world doesn't seem to accept."

The company commented that its operating profit for November was $464,925. That sum divided among 90,000 Westinghouse workers would give each $5.17, and would fall $36.83 short of the $42 per month increase the union is now demanding, it was said.

120 Westinghouse, General Electric Workers Out Here.

Employes of the St. Louis Westinghouse and General Electric service and repair shops formed picket lines this morning as they joined in the national strike of the CIO Electrical Workers against the two companies. About 120 workers are affected.

There was mass picketing at the General Electric service shop, 1110 Delmar boulevard, and the Westinghouse motor repair shop, 717 South Twelfth street, from 7 until 8:30 o'clock. Thereafter pairs of pickets walked in shifts.

The strike vote was taken here last Dec. 13, with General Electric workers voting 27 to 2 in favor of the walkout. The vote of Westinghouse workers was 50 to 19 for the strike.

Steel Production Picking Up Pending Further Talks.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 15 (AP)—The steel industry, back for at least a few days' more operation, moved toward normal today but watched for developments in Washington where spokesmen for union and management will confer at the White House tomorrow.

The new deadline for a general strike of 800,000 CIO steel workers is 12:01 a.m. Monday.

Nearly 30,000 steel workers were idle in six states today—12,000 in New York, 6500 in Illinois, 5000 in Massachusetts, 3500 in Indiana, 2000 in Pennsylvania and 900 in Connecticut.

The American Iron & Steel Institute estimated steel mills will operate at 76.5 per cent capacity this week, as compared with 82.0 per cent last week. Production was predicted at 1,401,200 tons against 1,502,000 last week.

One new strike developed when 300 CIO steel workers walked out at the wire mill of Bethlehem Steel Co. at Williamsport, Pa., in protest against what they said was a revision of their work schedule.

Biggest walkout was at the Bethlehem plant at Lackawanna, N. Y., where 11,000 have been idle since Friday.

The workers charge the company rejected a union proposal to assist in making "equitable arrangements" for plant maintenance in event of a strike.

COMDR. S. F. QUARLES FREED OF CHARGES IN SHIP SINKING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—The Navy announced yesterday Comdr. Samuel F. Quarles of Nathalie, Va., was "fully acquitted" by a court-martial which tried him on charges of "culpable inefficiency" in the loss of the destroyer Warrington.

The ship foundered in a hurricane off the East Coast Sept. 13, 1944, with a loss of 251 officers and men. Only 68 were rescued. The vessel was on the way from Chesapeake Bay to Trinidad, West Indies, escorting the refrigerator ship Hyades.

The court-martial was convened at the naval operating base, Norfolk, Va., in July, 1945. Comdr. Quarles was released from arrest and restored to duty Aug. 13, the Navy said.

RICKETTS CRITIC SAYS HE'LL QUIT SENATE GROUP

Hart Assails Ways and Means Chairman and Walks Out of Committee Meeting.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 15—Senator Henry B. Hart (Rep.) of Morgan county said today that he would submit his resignation as a member of the Ways and Means Committee as soon as Senator M. C. Matthes, president pro tem, returns to Jefferson City. Hart assigned as a reason for his action "the arbitrary attitude" of Chairman Claude B. Ricketts of St. Louis.

Hart first announced his intention of resigning in an executive session of the committee yesterday afternoon. After denouncing Ricketts, Hart picked up his books and walked from the committee room. This was the second time he had walked out of the committee, the previous time breaking a quorum and preventing a vote on the bill to create the new state revenue department.

Hart said today that Ricketts had been absent from many meetings of his committee, and when he was present attempted to force action on bills without giving the Senators an opportunity to discuss them and to know what they contained. He said his previous action in leaving the committee was caused by an attempt to report out a substitute revenue department bill without an opportunity being given him to ascertain in what respects it differed from the earlier draft.

Hart has been disgruntled since the Senatorial districting commission so realigned the Senatorial districts that he will be automatically removed from the Senate at the end of this year, when his term expires. He was placed in the new Thirty-Third District, in which no Senator will be selected until 1948.

Senator Rickett: refused to comment on Hart's action further than to say: "That will be too bad."

Ricketts was absent from the Senate during two one-week periods, when as chairman of the committee studying the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Missouri Valley problem he was on tours of the valleys.

WOMAN HITCHHIKES TWO DAYS TO GET BABY TO HOSPITAL

Pair Travels With Child From West Virginia to Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 15 (AP)—Hospital care was provided yesterday for a 22-month-old boy whose mother brought him here from West Virginia in two days of hitchhiking.

Police heard the story of Mrs. Louella Champ, 23 years old, of Princeton, W. Va., after she arrived, and arranged to have her son James, admitted to Johns Hopkins Hospital. The child was said to be suffering from a heart ailment and a spinal trouble.

Mrs. Champ, her child and her sister-in-law, Ethel Mae Champ, 19, were cared for at the police station Sunday night.

The young mother said she decided Saturday morning to make the trip, although she had no money except a "good luck" penny.

She and her sister-in-law, carrying the child and two suitcases, walked four miles from their West Virginia home to a highway, then hitch-hiked.

They caught rides to Narrows, Va., Roanoke, Va., and Washington. In the capital, a couple identified as Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kloss of Union, N. J., gave them two dollars and bought them bus tickets to Baltimore.

Assistant Secretary of Labor.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—President Truman today appointed John W. Gibson of Michigan as second assistant Secretary of Labor.

10 YANKS KILLED BY JAPS BECAUSE ONE GOT AWAY

Executions Meant as 'Lesson' to Prisoners, Filipinos Testify at Trial of Homma.

By JOHN GROVER

MANILA, Jan. 15 (AP)—American Sgt. Isaac Landy and nine comrades were executed by the Japanese in reprisal for escape of another prisoner of war, an eyewitness testified today at the war crimes trial of Lt. Gen Masaharu Homma.

Landy was one of 10 Yanks singled out for a "lesson" to 140 Americans who were forced to build bridges at Lumbang, Laguna province, testified Mayor Moses Paraiso and Police Chief Guadencio Anonuevo of Lumbang. The 10 were lined up and shot by firing squads in a school yard.

The volley failed to kill Landy. Struggling to his feet, the badly wounded Yank pointed to his heart and defied the Japanese.

"Come on! Come on! Hit me here. Long live America!"

Successive volleys killed Landy. The 10 bodies were exhumed last month and reinterred with military honors.

The doctrine of command responsibility, which Homma invoked against ranking officer prisoners of war, returned to haunt him at his trial.

Col. Nemesio Catalan, liberated Filipino, testified that the camp commandant, on orders from Homma, told ranking prisoner of war officers they would be held responsible with their lives for conduct of the men if camp rules were violated. It made no difference whether the officers knew of violations.

It is precisely this point which the prosecution seeks to establish: That an officer is responsible for the actions of his men.

As evidence of wholesale brutalities and calculated murders at Camp O'Donnel, the prosecution introduced camp records which showed 27,169 Filipinos died there in the four months between April 13 and Aug. 5, 1942.

LONG G.M. STRIKE DUE TO CONGRESS, TRUMAN ASSERTS

after the strike of 175,000 production workers began.

Although the union has threatened to revert to its 30 per cent demand unless General Motors reconsiders its decision by Jan. 21, it is generally believed here that a settlement with one member of the automotive "Big Three" on the 17½ per cent basis would hasten agreements with the others.

The Government board emphasized it did not wish to set a pattern or a precedent when it recommended that figure in the General Motors dispute, but the union apparently interpreted its report as just that:

"The fact-finding board set the pattern for the entire industry," asserted Richard T. Leonard, national UAW Ford director, last night.

Throughout several months of negotiations with motor car manufacturers, union officers have said that any wage gains for General Motors workers would be used to obtain similar concessions from other firms.

The fact that the presidential board's recommendations involved General Motors—biggest of the "Big Three"—unquestionably influenced the union's decision to bring them into the Ford dispute.

Negotiations between the union and Chrysler Corp. have been suspended pending outcome of the General Motors strike. About 45,000 Chrysler workers have been working without a bargaining contract for several weeks, but union leaders have stated no walkout would be called at this time.

MAINTENANCE STRIKE CLOSES 23 SCHOOLS IN FLINT, MICH.

FLINT, Mich., Jan. 15 (AP)—A strike of 190 maintenance workers today closed 23 of the city's 44 public school buildings and shut down classrooms for 85 per cent of the 27,000-member student body.

Superintendent L. A. Pratt said the buildings were closed because of insufficient students or teachers—or both. He said 21 elementary school buildings and a technical high school were open, with teachers and students crossing picket lines.

Pratt said several buildings still open were being picketed and in each of them classroom attendance was about 75 per cent.

The strikers, members of Local 21 of the CIO State, County and Municipal Workers' Union, are demanding a 10-cent hourly pay increase, union recognition and a union shop.

MRS. JOHN N. WATKINS DIES; WIDOW OF CONTRACTOR HERE

Mrs. John N. Watkins, widow of a St. Louis painting contractor, died of infirmities of age yesterday at the Avalon Hotel, 339 North Taylor avenue, where she lived. She was 92 years old.

Mrs. Watkins, the former Miss Jennie Sisson, became acquainted with James Whitcomb Riley, the poet, when she was teaching school in Greenfield, Ind., 70 years ago. Riley's sister was one of her pupils.

A son, Vivian S. Watkins of New York, survives. Funeral services will be at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Alexander undertaking establishment, 6175 Delmar boulevard, with burial in Valhalla Cemetery.

EX-CONVICT GIVEN LIE DETECTOR TEST IN COXEY MURDER

Results of Examination of Allen J. Jenowa Not Announced by State Trooper.

Allen J. Jenowa, former convict held in connection with the investigation of the Thanksgiving-day murder of 9-year-old Shirley Jean Coxey, today was subjected to a lie-detector test, it was announced by Chief of Detectives Herman F. Siebels.

Results of the test will not be known until records made by the testing machine are analyzed, Siebels said. The test was given by Trooper Ralph N. Eidson of the State Highway Patrol, who returned to Jefferson City to complete his analysis.

Further conflicts were discovered by police today between accounts of his movements offered by Jenowa and the facts as determined by investigation. Detectives questioned L. C. (Jack) Armstrong, 4603 Westminster place, concerning fights between Armstrong and Jenowa.

Jenowa had told police he had ruined a suit of clothes by getting blood spilled on it in a fight with Armstrong. Armstrong admitted having two fights with Jenowa, the last one two days after last Thanksgiving, at the De Luxe Grill, 544 North Vandeventer avenue.

Jenowa told Detective Sgt. John A. Sieloff that a scar on his head was the result of the last fight with Armstrong. This was denied by Armstrong and his brother-in-law, Edward Kruczynski, 1725 South Twelfth boulevard, a witness. They said the scar was the result of a fight last summer. In the last fight, however, they said Jenowa's face was bloodied, although police question whether enough blood was shed to have ruined the man's suit. Both fights were over a dice game last summer, Armstrong said.

Edward E. Robinson, who owns a dry-cleaning establishment at 235 North Boyle avenue, reported to police today that a man brought in two suit coats to be cleaned last Dec. 19, but never called for them. He said the coats contained what might be blood stains. Although the coats were blue, and Jenowa's suit was brown, police were investigating to see if there might be a connection between the coats left at the cleaners and the Coxey case.

Continuing their check of Jenowa, an Osage Indian also known as Jimmie Fuller, police discovered he had owned a blue automobile, shortly after arriving in St. Louis 18 months ago, despite his earlier denial. They were trying to discover how he disposed of the machine.

VETERANS IN PICKET LINE ON CRUTCHES, IN WHEEL CHAIRS

Four Protest Against Proposed Closing of Army Hospital at Atlantic City.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Jan. 15 (AP)—Four veteran amputees, protesting against the scheduled closing of the Army's Thomas M. England General Hospital here, picketed in wheel chairs and on crutches on the boardwalk in front of the hospital yesterday.

They carried signs claiming they represented the 3500 patients in the hospital, the Army's amputee center.

Lt. Joanne Hibbs, public relations officer at the hospital, said today that none of the other patients knew in advance of the demonstration by the four men.

The signs, she said, were made outside the hospital at the direction of a civilian formerly employed at the hospital.

"We don't want to go somewhere else," one sign read.

Another placard read: "3500 wounded, limbless, paralyzed ask your help for a chance to live again. Write War Department. Keep Army hospital in Atlantic City. Thanks."

$27,323 IN TAX LIENS FILED

Federal income tax liens totaling $27,323 have been filed with the St. Clair Recorder of Deed at Belleville by V. Y. Dallman, southern Illinois collector of internal revenue following an extensive investigation by agents into the income of tavern operators, gamblers and politicians on the East Side. About $3,000,000 in taxes was collected.

The largest lien, $22,307, was against Nick Karnegis, 316 East Broadway, East St. Louis, a tavern operator.

For Patience
WITH HOLIDAY TRAVEL CONDITIONS
Our Thanks!

The holiday travel period just past was one of the heaviest in the 100-year history of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

We expected it, and did our best to forewarn travelers that equipment was wholly insufficient to serve as many people as we would like to accommodate.

Hundreds of our coaches and sleeping cars were in other parts of the country helping carry hundreds of thousands of returning war veterans—and therefore not available to civilians or Service men on short furloughs.

On top of this, snow storms of blizzard proportions and zero temperatures delayed trains, causing passengers to be hours late.

Never did we have to cope with worse general conditions in a sincere endeavor to serve the public.

Most people realized what conditions would be, and accepted discomfort and delay in a spirit of good sportsmanship. To them we extend our thanks.

To those who had to stand long distances—or could not get aboard the train desired—our deepest regrets.

Long before next Christmas season things should be very different—and better!

Capacity Crowd of 9012 Sees Billikens and Bears Lose Thrillers

Notre Dame Squeezes Out 51-to-48 Victory; Seahawks Win, 52-41

By Bob Broeg

P. T. Barnum may have been right when he discoursed upon the rapid birthrate of suckers, but 8712 persons who paid from 75 cents to $2.00 apiece to watch an attempted revival of big-time basketball here last night could agree that they had received value in full—and then some.

In a big boost to basketball locally, St. Louis University came within a whisker of beating undefeated Notre Dame, before losing, 51 to 48, and Washington University extended Iowa Pre-Flight's unbeaten Seahawks, 52 to 41, in the opener of a double-header that crammed Kiel Auditorium's Convention Hall.

A total of 9012 persons, an undetermined number of whom came with tongue in cheek, wormed their way into the Auditorium, and about 5000 more were said to have been refused tickets at a downtown ticket office or at the door because (1) seats were filled and (2) Auditorium officials would not permit standing room to be sold.

"Show Me" Boys Were There.

The tongue-in-cheek portion of the capacity crowd apparently believed neither the Billikens nor the Bears could give the important visitors a contest. For instance, point handicaps of from eight to 18 points were given St. Louis supporters in bets reported before the feature game against Notre Dame.

But the two local college teams gave 'em a great show—even Barnum, the master showman, couldn't have done better—and there appeared little difficulty of selling last night's spectators on another basketball doubleheader, Feb. 1. That twinbill bringing together St. Louis U. and the national champion Oklahoma Aggies and Tulsa and Washington in Missouri Valley Conference games, may be played at the more spacious Arena, which lent its glass backboards for last night's program.

In the Notre Dame-St. Louis game the lead changed hands seven times, and on 11 occasions, as the crowd roared approval, the score was tied. The Irish went in front to stay, at 43-to-42, and then combined a swift stall and an occasional quick break for the basket when percentage favored success and two more points.

Everyone Ready for Bed.

Both teams were near exhaustion in the final hectic minutes of a fast game, the crowd-pleasing fire-wagon brand most of the way, that saw Notre Dame take 80 shots and St. Louis 74. But the Irish, gaining their eighth victory, had a bit more stamina to go with more experienced personnel and two real All-America players. And that combination tipped the scales against the taller Billikens, who gave a most commendable showing.

Notre Dame could thank most those two men who lived up to their national reputations—pudgy Billy Hassett and forceful Leo (Crystal) Klier. Capt. Hassett, who carries a spare tire around his middle, was the Irish playmaker, handling the ball skillfully, feeding Klier most of the time, and utilizing his instinct and fine knowledge of the game to compete with the elongated Billikens in scrapping for rebounds off his own basket.

Klier Hits in the Pinch.

Klier, whose 21 points were high for the game, took 31 shots and hit eight, but he battled for the ball constantly, displaying a boxer's footwork. And he came through with six of his team's last 10 points, including the follow-up tip-in just after Marvin Schatzman's long one-hand flip had put St. Louis ahead for the last time with about eight minutes to play. Henry Raymonds scored 13 points to lead the Billiken goal-getters.

Like St. Louis, which led at the half, 25 to 24, Washington paced the Iowa Seahawks at the intermission, 30 to 26. Then the more rugged sailors stepped up the pace, Washington tired, and the Seahawks had their eleventh consecutive victory of the season.

Bears' Defense Tighter.

The Bears' early success was due, in part, to a new method in which Washington extended its man-to-man defense the length and width of the court, covering every sailor from throw-in to throw-in. Actually, if the Red and Green's Stan London had had one of his better evenings, the Bears might have built an insurmountable lead. However, the clever forward with the 17-point scoring average tallied only two field goals. Some of his shots rimmed the basket and rolled out, but in 6-foot 4-inch Howie Dallmar, former University of Pennsylvania captain, London encountered his best guard of the season. The agile Dallmar shadowed him from start to finish.

Miasek a .500 Shooter.

Washington, in the second half, scored only 11 points, just one more than was counted by husky 6-foot 5-inch Stan Miasek, Pre-Flight center, whose total of 21 points easily was tops. The Bears, led by Allen Berger's 12 points, tried 69 shots to the Seahawks' 63. Miasek's personal percentage was terrific—.500—on nine out of 18.

So was Dukes Duford's promotional relief. St. Louis University sponsored the show. And, financially, the exciting doubleheader definitely was written off in black ink.

Flyers Oppose Providence Here Tonight

By Harold Flachsbart

Still suffering the sting from a 12-5 drubbing they took at the hands of the Capitals at Indianapolis Sunday night, the Flyers will return to their home Arena rink tonight to meet the Providence Reds and then will set their sights for a third-place battle with the troublesome Cleveland Barons.

Great things were expected of the Flyers after they defeated the Western Division leading Caps, 5-3, here Saturday before an enthusiastic crowd of 11,963 fans. But then came the Sunday rout at Indianapolis, which made it seven Hoosier victories in eight meetings with the Flyers.

Outlook Not Bad

After the Providence contest, the Flyers have three successive games coming up with Cleveland. They will play at the Barons' rink tomorrow and Saturday and the clubs are to meet here Sunday. Cleveland now holds a two-point, or one-victory lead over St. Louis for third place. A decisive edge for either club in the coming three meetings would go a long way toward determining a Western playoff berth.

Tonight the Flyers will be facing a team they can beat. Last Tuesday Goalie Hec Highton shut out the Reds, 5-0, and the St. Louis club also scored an early-season triumph at Providence, giving them a 2-1 edge in the series for the campaign, for the Reds nosed out Bouncer Taylor's men, 5-4, in a midnight game some weeks ago.

Fido Purpur, Flyer forward injured Saturday, missed the Sunday match, but hopes to be back in action tonight.

League President Coming.

President Maurice Podoloff of New Haven, Conn., American Hockey League president, is expected here today on a routine visit. The Flyer management hopes to consult with him about the possibilities of staging an Eddie Brown benefit game. Brown's right eye was removed last week, following a playing accident at New Haven Jan. 6.

Douglas Leading Scorer.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 15 (AP)—Les Douglas of the Indianapolis Caps was the newest leader today in the American Hockey League's individual scoring race, out in front by two points, of a trio which, last week, was hard on the heels of leading Johnny Mahaffey of the Pittsburgh Hornets.

Listing three goals and five assists for his week's work, Douglas climbed up four rungs on the scoring ladder with a 49-point total. Trailing were Paul Courteau of the New Haven Eagles, Murdo McKay of Buffalo, and Wally Wilson of the Hornets, each with 47 points. Mahaffey went pointless for the week and landed in a four-way tie for third place.

The eastern division cellar occupant New Haven team had the top scorer in Joe Bell, with 27 goals, and the top assister, Courteau, with 40.

Conzelman Skips Blanchard In Draft, Picks a "Sleeper"

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—The National Football League's club owners completed a secret draft of 300 players early today with a "sleeper" back from the Midwest and the great Doc Blanchard of Army heading the list—and turned to completion of their troublesome 1946 schedule in the same locked-door silence.

Determined that no information of any importance would leak out to help the rival All-America Conference in the no-holds-barred pro gridiron war, the magnates revealed only the names of half a dozen backs from the 300 draftees, among them Blanchard, the mighty All-America Army fullback who was first choice of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

And, following the same policy of keeping their mouths tightly closed, in sharp contrast to the tub-thumping of previous years when they had no opposition, the moguls were determined that when they do arrive at a schedule, probably sometime today, they would not reveal dates and sites, on the grounds the All-America might benefit in drawing up its own playing lists for next fall.

Big Games for Big Crowds.

Only the pairings will be revealed although it was reasonably certain the season would open either Sept. 22 or 29 and close either the first or second Sunday in December with each team playing 11 games. The Los Angeles club—which was the champion Cleveland Rams until they moved last Saturday—will play six home games. The chief hurdle throughout yesterday's session laid chiefly in fixing the strongest pairings possible for the three key cities—New York, Chicago and Los Angeles—where the All-America as well as the National has entries.

Surprisingly enough Blanchard was not the number one selection in the draft not only because it is likely he will remain at West Point where he still has two more years to play, but also because Jim Conzelman, returning coach of the Chicago Cardinals, who had first pick in the seven-and-one-half-hour session last night and early today, wanted the "sleeper."

He wouldn't reveal the identity of this player, believing the announcement might send All-America owners scurrying to sign him up. It was learned, however, that the player is an extra special wingback from a section described as "near midwest" and his selection by Conzelman as number one choice surprised even some of the assembled magnates.

The first National League draftee was Boley Dancewicz, Notre Dame's former T formation quarterback specialist who was signed by the Boston Yanks last Friday. Last night after the Cards showed their "secret weapon" and Pittsburgh picked Blanchard the only other selections revealed were John Strzykalski, a Marquette and Air Force ball carrier, first choice of the Green Bay Packers; Leo Riggs, Southern California and Army performer, who led the Philadelphia Eagles' list, and Cal Rossi, former U.C.L.A. star, and Stan Koslowski, Holy Cross ace, who were named by the Washington Redskins.

Boston Selects 43.

Six of the clubs selected their regulation 30 players from the eligible draft list of graduating college seniors and service men whose classes graduate in June. Philadelphia picked 17, then gave its 13 other choices to the Boston Yanks, who thus selected 43. The New York Giants, who have a player deal cooking with Green Bay on the side, stopped after their twenty-fourth pick and turned six over to Pittsburgh's Steelers who thus had 36 selections.

Of course, all the 300 won't be in pro action next season. A considerable number—Bear owner George Halas figured it would be more than 20 per cent—will return to college to complete their careers after being discharged from the armed forces.

Burris Favors Move to Keep Coaches Available All Year

By Harold Tuthill

Some day, high school athletic coaches in Missouri may be hired on a 12-month basis instead of just for the customary 40 weeks in a school year. At least, that is the opinion of Carl Burris, secretary of the State High School Athletic Association, who favored the plan adopted recently by the National Federation of High School Athletic Associations.

The Federation voted to permit high school baseball, golf and tennis competition during the summer months. This will be particularly helpful in Minnesota, with its short summer, and the Gopher state has recognized that by hiring coaches on a year-round basis.

"Essentially, there will be no change in Missouri," Burris said, "because we have scheduled some high school events, such as the district golf meet, after the schools close in June. I don't see how the coaches could hold the players together for team play, such as baseball, because the boys seek employment or go away to a summer camp.

"The idea of having a coach and equipment available for a summer program will be welcomed in the smaller communities in Missouri which have no organized amateur activity or American Legion programs."

Burris revealed that he is one of four members of a committee seeking a clarification of the rule against professionalism.

"We are trying to arrange a joint meeting with committees from the Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic Association to formulate a definite ruling on what constitutes an amateur, so all the organizations will be guided by the same rule. . . . Why, there are 36 variations of the amateur rule among the 43 high school groups in the Federation. In many cases the differences are slight, but we believe a boy should know definitely what constitutes violation of the rule."

In addition to Burris, Missouri was represented at the Federation meeting in Chicago by Jim Miller of Gideon, president of the M.S.H.A.A., and H. R. Dietrich of Maryville, chairman of the football rules committee.

Four Players Are Suspended By Muny Loop

By Dent McSkimming

Managers of Municipal Soccer League clubs will receive a sharply worded letter from their executive committee this week directing them to be more co-operative in the move to stamp out rough play. After hearing four cases last night involving more than a dozen players the committee instructed its secretary, Fred Geldmacher, to prepare and mail such a letter today.

Two members of the champion Raftery club, John Galimberti and Willie Welsher, received suspensions of one week pending a hearing, next Monday. They were ejected from last Sunday's game with Schumachers for disputing Referee Jim Boland's penalty kick decision. Players Niehaus and Marra of Tower Grove A. C. received similar automatic suspensions as a result of their actions in Sunday's game with Carondelet A.C. Referee Howard Blaisdell ejected them from the game.

"The committee recognizes the fact that the league referees are not perfect," said Secretary Geldmacher, "but it takes the stand that they are in full and complete charge of the games and their rulings must be obeyed without question. We are holding not only rowdy players responsible but are demanding respect and co-operation from the team managers. The Carondelet A.C. and Spanish Society managers will get a special reprimand for their lack of control over their players in the game of Jan. 6 when five players were put off the field."

Criticism of the work of certain referees is very caustic, the committee has found. Some are obviously incompetent but the board had a difficult time hand-picking men when the league grew from a mere dozen teams to over 70 in the short space of two seasons. Stops will be taken, too, to improve the work of officials, it was said.

Although a decision in the case of the Natural Set-Up Soccer team's protest against Rafterys will not be made public until Thursday it was apparent from the testimony offered at last night's meeting of the Missouri Soccer Commission that the rule governing submission of rosters before a cup game had been violated by the Rafterys. Manager Charley Carper and Captain Danny Murphy admitted they had failed to comply with the rule. Their defense was based on a record of laxity by all clubs in the past and they sought to prove the Naturals' protest was not in proper order.

A replay of this game may be expected. Rafterys won the match, 3 to 2, on New Year's day.

Leonard Hall to Talk At Conservation Meeting

Leonard Hall, widely known outdoors writer, will speak at the regular meeting of the Northside Division Conservation Federation of Missouri Thursday night, at the Northside Y, 3108 North Grand boulevard.

All outdoor-minded persons are invited to attend.

Belleville Wins Over Salem Team, 41-39

Belleville won from Salem, 41 to 39, in a basketball game last night at Belleville, the Maroons holding the lead throughout the game.

Forward Stonevipher of Salem was the leading scorer with 14 points, followed by his teammate Mackin, with 13.

Bill Officer Bowls 709 in League Play

The first 700 bowled this season at the St. Louis House alleys was rolled last night by Bill Officer of the Merchants Exchange team in the Greater St. Louis Insurance League. He had games of 253, 263 and 193 for 709.

Kaley Rolls 300 In All-Star Loop

Clarence (Pop) Kaley, who has been kegling for some 30 years, entered the bowling Hall of Fame on the Heidel alleys, when he put together 12 consecutive strikes for a perfect game of 300. Rolling on alleys Nos. 7 and 8, he had every hit in the 1-3 pocket. It was the first perfect game rolled in the All-Star League in more than five years. Kaley's other games were 201 and 202, giving him a 703 total.

Aided by Kaley's big count, the Reinekes totaled 3211 to win two out of three from Kutis, with 2998.

In a match in which both quintets went over 3000, the Mavrakos (3156) won from the Hermanns (3058). The Hermanns won their only game by five pins. Harry Frederic hit 691 for the losers and Mitzi Weinstein 672 for the winners. The Silver Seals (3199) won three from the Hoffmeisters (3082), taking the first by three pins. Ray Jung totaled 691 for the Seals. The Hyde Parks (2839) took two from the Top of the Town five (2803).

Marshall and Rowsey Are Signed for Bout

Jerry Marshall, a former Detroiter, now living in St. Louis, and Jack Rowsey, a policeman from Huntington, W. Va., have been matched for a middleweight semifinal bout on Lou Wallach's boxing card next Monday night at the New Palace Gardens, 3924 Finney avenue. Dave Riley and Louie Flyer, welterweights, will meet in the feature. The program is to be a weekly feature under the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 1145.

Former Tiger Dead.

EDMONTON, Alberta, Jan. 15 (AP) — George Nathan (Dick) Speer, who pitched a few games for the pennant-winning Detroit Tigers in 1909, died last night. He was 59. After being released by the Tigers Speer played minor League ball in Buffalo, Birmingham, and Fort Worth. He broke into organized baseball with St. Joseph in the Western League and also hurled for Wichita in the same circuit.

SHORT WAVES

FRANK TRUSCHKA, apprentice jockey, who formerly rode at Fairmount, strengthened his individual lead at Florida's Gulfstream Park during the past week, the Associated Press reported, and had accumulated 32 firsts, six more than LARNEY HANSMAN. Last year's leading jockey, J. DEAN JESSOP, who also rode at Fairmount, continued third with 20.

TRUSCHKA.

At Gulfstream, too, JOCKEY BOBBY STRANGE was suspended for the balance of the meeting for rough riding astride R. B. Carroll's Do-Re-Mi, winner of last Saturday's $15,000 handicap. . . . EDDIE ARCARO, first sidelined last summer with an appendectomy and then bothered by a sore shoulder and a knee cartilage, the latter of which was removed, announced that he was sound again and ready for Hialeah's opening on Thursday. . . . The Maryland Jockey Club disclosed tentative plans for a $1,000,000 improvement program at its PIMLICO race track, and Mexico City's turf writers named the late GAY DALTON the outstanding thoroughbred for 1945.

In football, MAJ. W. F. (BILL) BARNES, former Tennessee player and assistant coach, was named end coach at Arkansas under JOHN BARNHILL, who tutored Tennessee teams during BRIG. GEN. BOB NEYLAND'S absence. . . . And HENRY LEUCHT, former Waynesburg football and wrestling star and for 16 years a high school coach, was signed to a long-term contract as grid mentor at Washington and Jefferson College.

On the baseball front the Boston Red Sox announced a working agreement with New Orleans of the Southern Association, outright release of STEVE BARATH, Louisville outfielder, to New Orleans, and the release from service of Third Baseman DON LANG, who was drafted by the Bosox from Kansas City after the 1942 season. . . . PAUL GILLESPIE, former Marine sergeant and more recently a catcher for the Chicago Cubs, was married to Miss PAT OZMENT of Ponchatoula, La. . . . Highly-touted STAN ROJEK, promising Brooklyn Dodger infielder, was released from the Army yesterday. . . . The Columbus Red Birds of the American Association released DIB WILLIAMS, former major league infielder, so that he might accept a managerial job in the minors.

RAY (SUGAR) ROBINSON, the uncrowned welter champion, weighed in at 148 and then belted out DAVE CLARK of Cincinnati in the second round of a fight last night at Pittsburgh, before 6384 persons who paid $25,809.

MAX BENTLEY of the Chicago Blackhawks still leads the National Hockey League in scoring, with 39 points, but the last week's biggest gains were made by ELMER LACH and TOE BLAKE, both of the Montreal Canadiens, who now have 30 and 29 points.

The PITTSBURGH (Kan.) TEACHERS and ST. BENEDICT'S offer one for the basketball record books—74 fouls in one game — as the Ravens finished with only four eligible players and Coach John Lance of Pittsburgh benched one of his players. Pittsburg won, 63 to 28.

Medical studies apparently have ended the competitive running days of the HUME TWINS, Ross and Bob, who finished first in so many distance track events for Michigan. The look-alikes won the national intercollegiate mile in 1944 and 1945.

Silver Seals Defeat Zenthoefers, 36-28

With Cliff Harrison and Ken Vollmer scoring 11 and nine points respectively for the winners, the Silver Seals defeated the Zenthoefers, 36-28, in the only game played in the Men's Municipal Basketball League last night at Sherman Park.

Mississippi and Kentucky Name New Coaches

OXFORD, Miss., Jan. 15 (AP)—Seeking the recipe for Alabama's Bowl successes, the University of Mississippi last night dipped into Frank Thomas's bag of coaches and came out with two of his assistants to guide the Rebel football activities in 1946.

Ole Miss' Chancellor A. B. Butts announced the Rebels's new head coach would be Harold "Red" Drew, since 1931 the boss of the Alabama ends.

Drew in Tuscaloosa said the Tide's backfield tutor, Tilden "Happy" Campbell, would fill a similar berth on his Mississippi staff. Butts had said Drew would have a free hand in naming his assistants.

The new Rebel mentor said also he hoped to have his life under the tutelage of Johnny Vaught, who used to coach the line at the University of North Carolina before he entered the Navy.

Drew will take over formally on Feb. 1.

The new appointee, who said he had a three-year contract (salary not announced), succeeds Harry Mehre, who resigned in December after nine years with the Rebels.

Kentucky Picks Bryant.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 15 (AP)—The University of Kentucky's football fortunes are in the hands of Paul (Bear) Bryant.

Bryant left Maryland to sign a five-year contract as the big wheel in the wildcat lair at a figure undisclosed by the University's athletic association.

The 32-year-old Bryant was expected to arrive in Lexington shortly, bringing with him his entire staff at Maryland—Kenneth Whitlow of Houston, Tex.; Carney Laslie of Charlotte, N. C., and Frank Moseley, former assistant coach at Kentucky.

$19,700 in Prizes For First Women's Open Golf Event

SPOKANE, Wash., Jan. 15. (AP).

THE Spokane athletic round table disclosed yesterday that the first women's national open golf championship, a $19,700 event, will be played here Aug. 26 through Sept. 1.

The round table, which will sponsor the event, said the dates were set by officials of the Women's Professional Golf Association at Greensboro, N. C.

Srenco Opens Handball Title Defense Tonight

After losing the opener, 18-21, Gus Morganstern rallied to defeat Irv Neal, 21-17, 21-15, in the first round for the Class B title in the Y.M.H.A. singles handball tournament last night.

Milton Harris and Martin Holtzman, other favorites, also won, Harris defeating Sid Goldstein, 21-13, 18-21, 21-12, while Holtzman easily won from Moe Lazaroff, 21-14, 21-19.

Nine matches are scheduled as Class A play opens tonight, with Jack Srenco, defending champion, meeting Morris Wexler in a 9 o'clock engagement.

CLASS B.

Milton Harris defeated Sid Goldstein 21-13, 18-21, 21-12; Harry Hendan defeated Sidney Rosen 21-3, 19-21, 21-17; Louis Love defeated Isadore Pearlstein 21-8, 21-6; Barney Cosneck won on forfeit from Don Kessler; Harry Dubman defeated Joe Stein 21-10, 21-15; Dan Berk defeated Bob Blumenfeld 21-11, 21-11; Harry Schultz defeated Morris Harris 21-17, 21-19; Max Brody defeated Harold Weiss 21-2, 21-5; Irv Edelman defeated Louis Goldstein 13-21, 21-13, 21-14; Morris Gorman defeated Malcolm Green 21-2, 21-2. Martin Holtzman defeated Moe Lazaroff 21-14, 21-9.

TONIGHT'S SCHEDULE.

CLASS A.

Dave Goldstein vs. Morris Rombon, Max Dretus vs. Sam Linder, Vic Enoch vs. Oscar Klayman at 7 p.m.; Paul Mayorwitz vs. Jack Slavo, Sam Shakewitz vs. Nick Martinez, Julius Kantor vs. Hy Novack, at 8 p.m.; Jack Srenco vs. Morris Wexler, Carl Weinstein vs. Maurice Hyatt, Abe Freidman vs. Isadore Bernstein, at 9 p.m.

George Wuchter Elected Bike Club Centurion

George T. Wuchter Sr. was elected Centurion of the Century Road Club of America, Missouri Division, at the recent election of officers for 1946.

Others named were Harold Smith Sr., vice centurion; Kenneth McDaniel, treasurer; Clyde Shadley, secretary; Olaf M. Daniels, racing chairman; Mrs. George T. Wuchter, historian; Marlin Ochterbeck, road captain; Olin Bechtel, sergeant-at-arms; Harry DeVries and Ernest Sallens, coaches.

Reiser's Injured Arm Worries Dodger Heads

Pete Will Test Wing In Florida

BROOKLYN, Jan. 15 (AP)—Take 75 pitchers, 15 catchers and 60 assorted infielders and outfielders, add 30 managers, coaches and scouts and a slightly used blackboard manned by Prof. Branch Rickey and you get a rough idea of the Brooklyn Dodgers' spring training plans.

Returning to his Flatbush desk after a siege of illness, Rickey has outlined plans for a 150-man camp at Sanford, Fla., opening Feb. 1, with special emphasis on returning servicemen. This, in addition to the regular Brooklyn and Montreal Bivouacs starting March 1.

Rickey has invited all the "more likely players" from the national defense lists of his leading farm clubs and the Brooks in addition to a selected few holdovers to compete for jobs in a 150-man scramble preceding the formal drills.

Manager Leo Durocher will have charge of a squad of master minds running from Coaches Chuck Dressen and John Corriden to Pitcher Curt Davis and Second Baseman Ed Stanky from Rickey thinks is "managerial timber."

Two ball games a day will keep the huge squad busy but just to be sure there will be no idle hours for card playing and golf, Rickey has set up a schedule of two meetings a day, one before the workouts to discuss yesterday's games and one after the drill.

"The managers and players will be freely criticized at those meetings," Rickey explained. "We want to find out what we have and playing ball is the best way."

The Brooklyn president said that Pete Reiser's ailing right arm was a mystery to all and that even the hard-hitting outfielder doesn't know what's wrong with it. Reiser injured his throwing arm in a service game last summer. Rickey said Reiser would give his flipper a workout during spring training before submitting to any operation.

Wakefield Signs Detroit Contract

DETROIT, Jan. 15 (AP)—The Detroit baseball club announced yesterday that Dick Wakefield, recently released from the Navy, had signed a 1946 contract. Salary terms were not disclosed, but General Manager George Trautman commented "everybody's happy."

The hard-hitting outfielder first starred with the Tigers in 1943, having been signed directly off the University of Michigan campus in 1942. His hitting and aggressive play also was credited with helping bring the Tigers to within a game of the pennant in 1944.

Downtown 'Y' Takes Title in Water Polo

The Downtown Y. M. C. A. took the Ozark A. A. U. water polo championship, defeating Washington University's team, 11-5, at the Y. M. H. A. last night. The Downtown Y was unbeaten in the tourney which was held every Monday night, while Washington had lost once.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Big Time Basketball Here to Stay?

BASKETBALL as a public spectacle came back in a rather big way at Kiel Auditorium last night. . . . Unbeaten Notre Dame and the unbeaten Iowa Seahawks, opposing the St. Louis University and Washington University fives, respectively, packed the hall. . . . Ticket Agent Goldschmidt said that between the Arcade and the Auditorium ticket offices more than 5000 would-be spectators were turned away . . . That indicates a keen public interest in this sport, which locally had been lagging behind the national procession for several years.

Other attractive basketball features are in the making. . . . One includes the Oklahoma Cowboys—a pretty nifty bunch of cagers, they say. . . . For this and perhaps other programs the Arena may be used, if available. This has a seating capacity of perhaps 15,000 and would afford a real test of the depth of basketball spectator interest here.

The two local varsity quints did a pretty fine job of checking the onslaught of the foemen. . . . Both visiting teams were trailing at half time. . . . And the Notre Dame tall boys, unbeaten this year, finished with only a three-point margin over the Billikens.

Fans are wondering what's the matter with the Bears' stamina. . . . They led the Seahawks by four points at half time but, as in several preceding games, they faded away in the second half, finishing 11 points behind their opponents. . . . Thus the Hawks made 15 points more than the Bears in the last half. . . . Probably the Washington players expend too much energy in the first half and can't hold the pace. . . . But their showing, as well as that of St. Louis University, proved highly satisfactory.

Looks like Coach Johnny Flanigan of the Billikens has done a great job with his squad. . . . St. Louis U. will be difficult for the best opposition they may face, this year. Also, improvement is looked for in the Washington five.

Basketball Is Our Real National Game.

BASEBALL publicizes itself as the "national game" of the United States. . . . And it truly has a great spectator hold. . . . On occasion it draws huge crowds and involves a lot of money. . . . But in point of spectator interest, attendance and number of players involved, basketball outstrips baseball and all other sports, year by year. . . . Better still it is, for the most part, amateur.

State high school tourneys alone, as in Illinois, involve as many as 1000 teams, even more. . . . The game is played in every major city, town and hamlet. . . . Winning teams develop in small and large communities. . . . And they do not have to be heavily financed to be good.

The one weak spot in big time basketball is that it has become almost exclusively a game for exceptionally tall athletes. . . . Centers ranging to seven feet and even above that are to be found here and there.

The little fellows are practically frozen out when it comes to top-hole teams. . . . The answer to that might be championships arranged for teams of graded altitudes.

In a similar way, however, weight is a handicap to success in college football. . . . In this game the good big men freeze out the good little men. . . . Here and there a little fellow, like Lenny Brown of Missouri, manages to hold his own. . . . But in the main, in football, it's the big fast man, rather than the little fast lad, that gets the job.

Gundar Haegg to Become a Martyr?

GUNDAR HAEGG, we read, is likely to be ruled out of amateur ranks for the ancient and somewhat conventional crime of padding his expenses.

If he is found guilty, as reported in dispatches from New York, he will not only be barred from competing as an amateur, but all his world records—numbering seven—will be removed from the books, leaving no official trace of his wonderful performances on the track.

This procedure on the part of the Amateur Athletic Union everywhere has always seemed to be unduly harsh to this writer. . . . It has happened on several occasions. . . . As told in this column before there is no mention in the athletic guides of two of the greatest athletes of all time—Arthur Duffey, the former Georgetown University sprinter who was the first runner officially to register 9 3-5 seconds for the century dash, and Thorpe, sensational Olympic star and winner of the decathlon in 1912 at Stockholm.

When Duffey was convicted of exceeding his expense limits, they expunged all his marks from official guides. . . . The same thing happened to Thorpe when, after the Olympic Games were over, it was discovered that he had played "summer baseball" with the Winston-Salem professional baseball team.

Such punishment is an injustice to the athletes and to history, which has a right to know what these men did when they were truly amateurs. . . . It's all right to bar them after conviction. . . . But why wipe out the feats they performed legally and within the rules?

It's Anybody's Ball

Scramble for the ball in the first period of the Billikens-Notre Dame basketball game at Kiel Auditorium last night. The players are VINCE BORYLA (20), Notre Dame center; MARVIN SCHATZMAN (22), St. Louis U. center; BILL HASSETT (6), Notre Dame guard; CARL WEISNER (77), St. Louis U. forward. At the end of the period St. Louis U. led, 25-24.

Fourth, First District Juvenile Teams Win

The Fourth District defeated the Twelfth, 35-27, and the First won from Central, 30-21, in the Police Juvenile Basketball League competition last night at the police gym.

Wesley Smith scored 14 points for the Fourth, and Al Guittar made 13 points for the First.

Racing Boards Would Unify Tests for Drugs

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—The hearing of Trainer Tom Smith's appeal from his one-year suspension on charges of stimulation of a horse neared an end today as both sides began preparing final briefs in the case.

The fourth open session before a five-man board representing the Jockey Club and the New York Racing Commission was held yesterday and again much scientific testimony on the drug ephedrine was given.

Smith, trainer of the top-ranking Maine Chance Farms Stable, was suspended for a year after one of his horses, Magnific Duel, was found to have been sprayed with an ephedrine solution before winning a race at Jamaica, Nov. 1. Although Smith was not charged with the act, the racing rules hold a trainer responsible for the condition of his horses.

The final briefs must be filed by Feb. 9 but the board is not expected to announce a decision until about March 1.

Maj. Ednyfed H. Williams, president of the National Association of State Racing Commissioners and chairman of the Illinois State Racing Board, announced he had appointed a national committee on "stimulation and drugs" to prepare new rules and regulations and a uniform procedure in the collection any analysis of samples.

Willliams, who attended yesterday's session, said the committee members are Lloyd Wright, California chairman; Ashley T. Cole, New York; William E. Fay, Illinois; George P. Mahoney, Maryland, and Charles F. Baldwin of Florida. The committee will report its findings at the annual convention of racing commissioners in Los Angeles, Feb. 25 to March 2.

Higbe Yields Three Hits, Manila Wins

MANILA, Jan. 15 (AP)—Kirby Higbe showed 25,000 G.I. fans yesterday he still has plenty of big league stuff when he pitched a three-hit shutout and gave the Manila Dodgers a 3 to 0 triumph over the Twenty-fourth Corps nine.

The triumph moved the Manila Army nine into the Army's Olympic baseball finals, Manila Army having won two of the three games in the series.

Sharing honors with Higbe was Early Wynn, former pitcher for the Washington Senators, who played shortstop for the Manila Army team. Wynn poled a tremendous triple in the seventh to score Zig Emery and Max Macon.

Moore No. 1 Lightheavy Contender

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—The National Boxing Association urged champion leather pushers today to get in there and fight to show they deserve their titles.

"All champions" were called upon to sign by April 1 for title defense matches to be held by June 1.

The call accompanied the release of NBA's quarterly rating of who's who in the fight world.

Building Is Sold; Central Alleys Close

The building housing the Central Bowling Alleys, at 3630A Olive street, has been sold and the alleys will be abandoned, it was learned today. Richard Muckerman, head of the Browns, owned both the building and the alleys. The property went to a candy concern, while Hugo Mueller, dealer in equipment, purchased the lanes.

The building must be vacated by Feb. 1, a move which will cost two employes of 15 years service, their jobs. They are Cornelia Berghaus, check room girl, and Manager Ray Freesmeier.

U. S. AVIATION GAS PLANTS' SALE TO OIL FIRMS URGED

Symington Tells Congress Such Disposal Involves 'No Problem of Monopoly.'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—The Surplus Property Administration today urged rapid disposal to private operators of the Government's $233,000,000 worth of aviation gasoline plants.

Holding that there is no need to keep the plants as emergency standbys, SPA said in a report to Congress that their major use will be to turn out "high-quality motor gasoline," since the market for aviation fuel will slump far below wartime levels.

Although most of the Government-owned plants are connected with private refineries and hence may prove difficult to price, sell and move, SPA recommended that they be disposed of as operating units. Dismantling should be ordered "only as a last resort," SPA said.

Of the 29 plants, 16 cost more than $5,000,000 each and thus must be reported to Congress before disposal under the Surplus Property Act. They are scattered from coast to coast, many in the Gulf area.

Unlike the aluminum industry—in which surplus plants have been held not salable to the biggest potential buyer, the Aluminum Company of America—the oil industry has "no problem of monopoly" to interfere with the sale of federal plants, SPA Administrator W. Stuare Symington said in the report.

Symington cautioned, however, that disposal of the plants entirely to major oil corporations would "accelerate concentration of refining capacity in the hands of the large integrated companies."

UNION MEETING TODAY ON SCHOOL BOARD'S ATTITUDE

Custodians to Consider Action Against Any Mass Hearing on Their Pay Demands.

The bargaining committee of the St. Louis Public School Custodians' & Matrons' Union, Local 118, AFL, was scheduled to meet today to consider possible action on the refusal of the Board of Education to call off its proposed mass meeting with all custodial personnel to discuss wage demands.

The committee last Friday rejected the meeting, terming it an attempt to circumvent the bargaining committee and requesting a reply by noon today to its original demand for an average $20 per month increase in custodial salaries and reduction of the period in which matrons become eligible for maximum pay from five to three years.

Meanwhile, the board has reaffirmed its stand and announced the meeting will be held near the end of this month when the Rev. Dr. C. Oscar Johnson, a member of the board's building committee, now out of town, can attend the meeting.

The union, which claims approximately 400 of the 440 members of the custodians and matrons, voted several weeks ago to strike unless its demands were met but no date for a walkout was set.

Table on Wages and Demands.

The following table, supplied by Joseph P. Sullivan, school building commissioner, shows the wage rate for the different categories in 1942, the present wage rate, and the union demand. The present rate includes a 10 per cent wartime salary adjustment of the basic wage which is included in the third column.

| Type of custodian: | 1942 | 1946 | Union Demand |
| Head custodian high school | $187 | $220 | $240 |
| Head custodian "A" elementary | 163 | 205 | 225 |
| Head custodian "B" elementary | 156 | 191 | 211 |
| Head custodian "C" elementary | 150 | 180 | 200 |
| Custodian high school | 137 | 159 | 193 |
| Custodian "A" elementary | 137 | 173 | 193 |
| Custodian "B" elementary | 131 | 165 | 185 |
| Custodian "C" elementary | 125 | 159 | 179 |

The greatest increase, $33, is that sought for high school custodian. This man, known as "second man" in high schools, is generally one who has been transferred from an elementary school because of age or physical disability to a high school where his duties are of a housekeeping nature, Sullivan said.

Salary Ranges Elsewhere.

Sullivan, whose recommendation against the increases asked for was adopted by the board's building committee, told the board that present wages are the highest in this area for work of this kind. He said the salary range at University City schools was $125 to $145; at East St. Louis, from $151 to $182, and in the Bell Telephone Building, from $92 to $132.

Matrons, he said, have received an increase from a base of $85 in 1942 to $y10 at present plus $200 yearly in wartime adjustment pay.

C. Harry Thuner, business agent for the union, questioned Sullivan's comparative figures and said that custodians and matrons frequently worked longer hours than others employed in similar work. He also declared living costs had outstripped the increases granted to date.

$100,000 FIRE IN STEELVILLE

STEELVILLE, Mo., Jan. 15, (AP)—A hotel and a lumber concern were destroyed by last night by fire. Fire departments from five communities fought the blaze which started in the Roberts-Judson Lumber Co. building and spread to the two-story Curley Hotel. An electrical shop also was destroyed. The total loss was estimated at $100,000.

More Excitement Than Fire.

SALT LAKE CITY—A woman's telephoned report of a "roaring inferno" brought firemen with all equipment of the Salt Lake county fire department to find the "inferno" had been quenched with a pail of water. Mrs. J. Raymond Spencer discovered a fire in her attic and called to a neighbor to summon the fire department. The excited neighbor did.

YOKOHAMA, Jan. 15 (AP) — The Eighty-first Infantry Division, which helped win the battle of Bloody Nose Ridge on Peleliu island, is going home. Eighth Army headquarters announced today the division would be inactivated Jan. 20 and its low point personnel assigned to other units in Japan. The outfit now is at Amori, in northern Honshu. Maj. Gen. Paul J. Mueller is its commander.

PROGRESS OF NEGROES CITED BY E. R. EMBREE

Head of Julius Rosenwald Fund Points to People's Hospital as Example.

The progress made by the Negro race since the abolition of slavery presents an 80-year period of history of which any nation could be proud, Edwin R. Embree of Chicago, president of the Julius Rosenwald Fund, said last night at the annual dinner of the People's Hospital Association. The meeting was at Shaare Emeth, 6830 Delmar boulevard, University City.

"People's Hospital, an institution for the care of Negroes, is an interesting example of progress on one front," Embree said. "A preliminary consideration of it may give the impression that it is a furtherance of racial segregation, but this may not actually be the case.

"Unfortunately, most hospitals still will not accept Negro medical graduates as interns and resident physicians. As a result, if they are to gain clinical experience with modern equipment, it must be done in a hospital such as People's. As more and more Negroes prove their capabilities as doctors at such hospitals, more and more hospitals for other races will open their doors to them.

Points to Other Fields.

"It is through just such procedure that progress has been made by Negroes in other fields in past years. Thus it can be seen that if the ultimate goal is kept in mind, a hospital for Negroes is not necessarily a furtherance of segregation."

As examples of progress that has been made in recent years, Embree said that 36 Negroes are now faculty members of colleges and universities in the North and West, compared with fewer than 10 five years ago, and that during the past seven years 30,000 Negroes have been graduated from colleges and universities, or more than the combined total of the 300 years previous.

The economic position of Negroes has had virtually a revolution in the last five years because of war employment, he continued. For the first time in their history, Negroes had full employment, pay parity with white employes, and integration into both industry and labor groups, he said. Although some of the gains must be lost, he added, a majority should be maintained.

Question of Minorities.

"We might as well realize the full implications of democracy—full equality for all minority groups," Embree said. "We have moved steadily toward the goal of racial equality, but we fail to realize that all of us are members of a minority in some respect. For some it is membership in a given church; for others, membership in a labor organization; for still others it is because of their race, or any of a multitude of reasons. We haven't eliminated minority discriminations because the minorities didn't have sense enough to stick together. When we all realize that we will profit by such action, we'll eliminate them.

"The Negro is now almost a full citizen. He must realize that a black Fascist is as bad as a white one; that the race can't rise by trampling other minority groups. If it could, we wouldn't have a country that is any better than it is now."

During the meeting, Elmer V. Mosee, superintendent of People's Hospital, announced that the building was clear of debt. He presented the canceled mortgage for the last $7000 of a bank loan, which was originally $20,000, and the certificate of title to the property, to Dr. H. S. Blackiston, president of the board of directors of the association. The hospital is at 2221 Locust street.

Senate Committee to Speed Up Hearing on Fact Finding Bill; Former WLB Chief Opposes It

Ellender Measure Incorporates Truman Plan —Ball-Hatch Proposal for Industrial Relations Boards—Fresh Calls in Both Houses for Curb on Strikes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP).

CONGRESS, back in harness only a day after a holiday recess, today heard fresh calls for speedy action on legislation to curb strikes.

Senator Taft (Rep.), Ohio, demanded speed in considering the Administration's labor fact-finding bill and received assurance from Chairman Murray (Dem.), Montana, of the Senate Labor Committee that hearings would be expedited.

Representative Rankin (Dem.), Mississippi, in a House speech, urged legislation to curtail what he termed "inspired strikes" and afford protection against "a wave of lawlessness sweeping this country."

Representative Rich (Rep.), Pennsylvania, told the House it was "up to Congress to see that people who want to work can do so without paying tribute to any racketeer."

William H. Davis, former War Labor Board chairman, opposed the fact-finding bill but urged legislation to bolster conciliation and mediation machinery in the Labor Department.

Fears "Labor Dictatorship."

Representative Howard W. Smith (Dem.), Virginia, co-author of the Smith-Connally Act, told the House there was danger that "a handful of irresponsible, selfish and power-seeking labor leaders will clamp upon the nation the labor dictatorship they have so long sought" unless Congress acts on the labor dispute question or industry has "the courage to stand up and fight unreasonable demands to the bitter end, and forgets about profits for awhile."

Before hearing Davis, Murray read the Labor Committee a statement outlining plans for the renewed hearings, which started before the Christmas holidays.

Taft protested that Murray's outline sounded as if the hearings might last three months. Murray retorted that nobody was trying to delay the hearings and that he personally was willing to set a two-week deadline.

The committee is considering two bills. One, introduced by Senator Ellender (Dem.), Louisiana, incorporates President Truman's recommendations for fact-finding boards with power to examine corporations' books and would provide a 30-day cooling-off period before a strike could take effect.

Ball-Hatch Proposal.

The other, in the form of a substitute amendment, was proposed by Senators Ball (Rep.), Minnesota, and Hatch (Dem.), New Mexico. It provides for establishment of federal industrial relations boards for the settlement of management-labor controversies, applying the principle of voluntary arbitration.

Davis said he thought it would be "a mistake for Congress to adopt or for this committee to recommend" either bill.

Two Senators, Eastland (Dem.), Mississippi, and O'Daniel (Dem.), Texas, sought Senate action without waiting for the Labor Committee to complete its hearings. They pointed out that Truman had asked for immediate action early in December and announced they would call on the Senate to discharge the Labor Committee and act as soon as the Senate meets again, on Thursday.

"It is apparent to us that the present wave of strikes is inspired and engineered from Moscow," Eastland and O'Daniel said in a statement, "and that it is a deliberate effort to take over the American government step by step."

Wagner Act Revision Urged.

Several members of both House and Senate prepared new proposals.

Senator Bailey (Dem.), North Carolina, called for revision of the Wagner Labor Relations Act, telling reporters, it provides "an incentive for strikes." He suggested changes which he said would give the employers "equal footing with labor unions," abolish the closed shop, and replace the National Labor Relations Board with a judicial body.

Senator Byrd (Dem.), Viriginia drafted a bill to require registration and incorporation of all labor unions under federal supervision. Byrd asked that unions be liable to suit for broken contracts and subject to rules now imposed on corporations.

Representative Hoffman (Rep.), Michigan, introduced legislation to require public utility employes to give 60 days notice before striking. Violators would lose their jobs and rights under present labor laws.

JAP ADMIRAL GETS DEATH FOR KILLING OF AUSTRALIANS

SYDNEY, Jan. 15 (AP)—An Australian military court today sentenced Japanese Adm. Hamanaka to death by shooting after finding him guilty of ordering the killing of Australian prisoners of war and of ill treatment of prisoners.

"This is a conspiracy against myself and Japan," he shouted as sentence was read. "I am very discontented."

The same court acquitted Commander Baron Takasaki on a similar charge. Takasaki testified that he had been hated by both his superiors and his subordinates because of his "pro-British" attitude.

Psychiatry Used To Screen Out 'Good Germans'

Americans Devise Tests to Probe Minds of Applicants for Jobs.

By EDWARD P. MORGAN

The Chicago Daily News-Post-Dispatch Special Radio. Copyright, 1946.

FRANKFURT, Germany, Jan. 15.

THE American Military Government authorities are using applied psychiatry to find "good Germans" to fill a limited number of jobs with the information services in the United States zone of occupation.

But, ironically enough, although it has just been started, this scientific approach to one of the occupation's most difficult problems —placing dependable persons in responsible positions—is in danger of being scrapped within six months. Pressure of redeployment, and the Army's haste to turn everything over to American civilian administration by the end of June may fail to leave place for this comparatively simple operation.

In contrast, the British are planning to use psychiatry on a major scale to select German civilian personnel in their zone and are now setting up an organization nearly five times the size of ours.

Little Done So Far.

To date the Army's information control division, which supervises newspapers, radio, magazines, theaters, movies, music and other such activities in the American zone, has screened approximately 40 Germans by psychiatric tests. Efforts have been made to broaden the operation to include selection of certain public officials, but without success.

The purpose of the experiment, according to Dr. David M. Levy of New York Psychiatric Institute, who is one of its chief supervisors, is not merely to find anti-Nazis, but also persons intellectually and temperamentally suited to accomplish a sound job of reconstruction. In other words, if a man is found to have the so-called Prussian type of mind, he is rejected whether his anti-Nazi record is clean or not.

The screening "laboratory" is at Bad Orb near Frankfurt. Candidates go there as if they were going off for vacation, and spend at least two days living in one of five small, attractive resort-type pensions while Levy and his staff examine them and submit them to a series of six types of tests.

At first the subjects are usually apprehensive that this may be some kind of Americanized Gestapo, but they are soon put at ease. One German was so delighted with the place and what the routine had helped him discover about himself that he wanted to stay three weeks instead of just overnight.

Good Results Claimed.

Persons handled so far have already been employed by the military government, but there are some "doubtfuls" on whom further checkup is wanted. Levy explained that while it was comparatively easy to fake a questionnaire it was difficult to fake under mental analysis. He cited more than one instance where a candidate had failed to qualify at Bad Orb and investigators had later discovered evidence proving him undesirable.

In the first two tests the Germans must write essays on the subjects: "Methods of De-Nazification" and "My Personal Feelings during the Nazi Regime." A Nazi or Nazi sympathizer writes pretty transparently on these topics.

Then the candidate has to prepare a list of questions which he himself would apply to a group of Germans to separate Nazis from non-Nazis.

A fourth test consists of 40 incomplete sentences such as "New leaders of German youth should be — —." "Critics of the new administration should be — —." "Hitler's peace plans failed because — —."

Persons who respond with pat "democratic" answers are the most suspect, because usually they are merely replying in the way they think they are supposed to and not with sincerity.

The fifth test involves informal discussion over drinks after dinner, when the examiners try to

Before Marshall: Stilwell Went

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON.

THE necessary preparation for the armistice which Gen. Marshall has now negotiated in China was the relief from command of Marshall's closest friend, Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell. There is no better illustration of the accidental character of American policy than Stilwell's dismissal, which was as little planned as the wallowings of a pig in the sty, yet largely determined the fate of more than 400 millions of people.

This curious man, who combined energy and bravery in almost equal degrees with prejudice, narrowness and inability to grasp large issues, was in fact dismissed simply because he insisted on dealing with the Generalissimo as a suspect enemy.

Chiang or Schuschnigg?

In August, 1944, Gen. Hurley and Donald Nelson were sent to China to secure for Stilwell supreme, direct command of the Chinese armies. This was to be the remedy for a desperate economic, military and political crisis, created by the Japanese offensives in China that summer.

Stilwell had taken no effective measures to halt these offensives. In the first phase of the Japanese attack the chief preoccupation of his staff, which they discussed publicly, was the evacuation of Chungking. Stilwell's relations with the Generalissimo were already hopeless. Yet so weak were the Chinese and so dependent on American aid, that the Generalissimo consented, in principle, to granting the demand for vastly increased authority for Stilwell.

The Generalissimo yielded his consent, however, only after fairly prolonged negotiation, which was entirely carried on by Nelson and Hurley. During this preliminary negotiation, either Stilwell, or the War Department, or both became impatient.

As a result, a telegram was sent to Stilwell for transmission to the Generalissimo, demanding immediate acceptance of all American demands, in a tone which might well have served for a message from the German government to the unhappy Schuschnigg.

Since the Generalissimo had meanwhile yielded, and a meeting was already scheduled at his country place to put his consent on paper, Hurley and Nelson begged Stilwell to suppress the telegram. This he at first seemed to agree to do. The meeting in the country took place and was making good progress, when Stilwell walked in, the telegram in his hand. He insisted upon brusquely handing the wire to the Generalissimo. The Generalissimo thereat called in the American negotiators, declared that no chief of state could accept such a message, and announced that far from giving Gen. Stilwell the promised increase of authority, he would now demand his recall at all costs.

The Stilwell Doctrine.

Gen. Stilwell's dismissal, concurred in by this government with the utmost reluctance, terminated a long, terrifying and progressive deterioration of the strength of the Generalissimo's government. The Chinese had to have effective United States aid, yet under Stilwell, effective aid was impossible.

As the strength of the National Government declined, the relative strength of the Chinese Communists increased, so that in the autumn of 1944 the government at Yenan was fundamentally in a more powerful position than the government at Chungking.

It was impossible because Stilwell refused to make the effort to establish good relations with the Generalissimo, preferring, rather to denounce his supposed chief at press conferences. It was impossible because Stilwell and his staff were convinced that no Chinese could fight well except under direct American command, and this was unacceptable to the Chinese until their final extremity.

It was impossible, above all, because Stilwell took no interest in China proper, where the aid was needed. His entire energies and over 90 per cent of the resources of his theater were concentrated on Burma. His obsession was to open a road without serious military value except for the pipeline paralleling it, of which Gen. Stilwell once remarked: "Goddam it, don't talk to me about pipelines. I don't want pipelines; all I want is bullets, just bullets."

Indeed when Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer assumed command in mid-crisis, there were actually no American war plans for China proper. Wedemeyer has received too little credit. He found both Chinese and Americans demoralized, and the situation close to chaos. In a few short months, he restored morale, established the most honorable relations with the Generalissimo and other Chinese, went far toward reform of the Chinese military system, and created powerful Chinese armies within China.

His striking achievements gave the lie direct to every point of Gen. Stilwell's doctrine, whether as to the cowardice of the Chinese or the impossibility of dealing with them.

The vital point of all of which is that Gen. Stilwell's task would have been impossible if Stilwell's dismissal and Wedemeyer's subsequent accomplishment had not restored the balance between Nationalist and Communist governments in China which had been completely upset by the deterioration under Stilwell.

It was this, and only this, that has now permitted agreement between the factions on the basis of Nationalist rather than Communist predominance.

The effect on the United States, if Gen. Stilwell had not lost his temper, and if the Communists had thereby ultimately gained the upper hand, forms a singularly interesting subject of speculation, fruitful of conclusions to those who would understand the nature of American-policy formation.

A.P. Move to End Newscasts by U.S. Criticized

Federal Official Says Fear of Propaganda Effect Is Unwarranted.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP).

WILLIAM BENTON, Assistant Secretary of State for Public Affairs, in a statement in Washington last night took issue with the board of directors of the Associated Press on the question of continuance of government broadcasting of news.

"I consider wholly unwarranted," he said, "the fears expressed by the board of directors of the Associated Press 'that Government cannot engage in newscasting without creating the fear of propganda which necessarily would reflect upon the objectivity of the news services from which such newscasts are prepared.'"

Benton explained that the Associated Press, the United Press and the International News Service have been furnishing news to the Government for short-wave broadcasts overseas.

"I regret," he added, "that the board of directors of the Associated Press have decided to discontinue its share of this service."

Earlier, it was announced that the A.P. directors had held at a recent meeting that the A.P. "stands committed to the principle of freedom of access to the news and to the free flow of news throughout the world."

The directors said the A.P. held that "news thus disseminated by non-governmental news agencies is essential to the highest development of mankind and to the perpetuation of peace between nations" and recognized "the possibility of useful purpose served by governments in the maintenance throughout the world of official libraries of information."

Statement by Kent Cooper.

Kent Cooper, A.P. executive director, said in a statement on the board's action:

"As a wartime measure the Associated Press news was made available without charge to the Office of War Information and various other departments of the Government. The OWI used it for general foreign broadcasting. With the end of the war this was to terminate.

"However, at the request of the State Department last summer

Allies Can't Meet Feb. 2 Deadline For Listing Assets to Be Removed From Germany as Reparations

Hope to Complete Allocations Month or Two After That Date — Agreement on Steel Production Brightens Prospects for Decisions on Other Basic Products.

By GRAHAM HOVEY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP).

THE Big Four Allies are far behind schedule in determining the amount of German industrial equipment to be taken as reparations from the American, British and French occupation zones, it was learned today.

Officials close to the question, who desire to remain anonymous, said the Allied Control Council's agreement in Berlin last Friday on the amount of steel production to be allowed Germany has brightened prospects for accord on other basic products.

They added, however, that there is no chance of reaching final agreement by the Feb. 2 deadline on reparations. The Potsdam conference had fixed that date.

Hopes now are that the agreement may be reached anywhere from a month to two months from then, the officials said.

The State Department made public yesterday the text of an agreement reached Dec. 21 at a Paris reparations conference attended by 18 nations.

Major points in the Paris agreement included:

1. A decision on the percentage shares of reparations which each of the 18 countries will get from western Germany.

2. Establishment of an inter-Allied reparations agency with headquarters in Brussels to allocate reparations materials among the member governments.

3. Agreement to pool all gold money found in Germany and give it to the countries from which Germany took gold in proportion to their respective losses.

Russia and Poland were not represented at Paris. The Potsdam agreement provided that Russia would take its reparations from its own occupation zone, receive an additional 25 per cent of the available industrial equipment from the western zones, then satisfy Polish reparations claims from its own allocation.

At Paris, industrial and other capital equipment were put into one reparations category, and everything else into another.

The United States originally was assigned 28 per cent of both categories, but because most German industrial equipment could be used to greater advantage in liberated Europe, the United States renounced its right to 16.2 per cent of its allocated industrial percentage.

The biggest shares of reparations for the countries attending the Paris conference will go to Britain, which gets 27.8 per cent in the industrial category and 28 per cent in the other.

The Paris conference also agreed to allocate a share of the reparations to help rehabilitate victims of German aggression or persecution, who, for one reason or another, cannot be repatriated to the countries where they lived before the war.

Officials said the Brussels inter-Allied reparations committee would meet for the first time early in February. Dudley M. Phelps is the United States representative.

American officials concerned with German problems are pleased over the steel agreement, reached after extended dickering.

It was decided that Germany should be allowed to produce 5,800,000 tons of steel annually and retain capacity to produce 7,500,000 tons.

These officials said this country recommended a 7,800,000-ton capacity, that Russia suggested 4,600,000 tons, and Britain 11,000,000 tons.

MRS. ROOSEVELT ON U. N. O. SEATS FOR EX-ENEMY POWERS

LONDON, Jan. 15 (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt thinks Nazi satellite nations such as Italy should be admitted to the United Nations Organization "as soon as they are qualified," she said at a press conference today. She did not elaborate.

Asked what she thought of the suggestion that Winston Churchill be secretary-general of the U.N.O., she said, "I hardly think Mr. Churchill would like that suggestion."

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Room for a Rich Senator

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

In the animal world the wolverine is noted as a fierce, voracious glutton, descended almost unchanged from the time of the cave man. Without benefit of a favorable evolution, its unsavory disposition may be to some extent overlooked.

But what are we to say of similar traits in man, who has many ages of culture behind him? Compassion, sympathy, generosity are traits we look for and expect, especially in times of stress.

I pondered this after I had read a recent news report under the caption, "O'Daniel Wins Elbow Room." Senator O'Daniel won elbow room by the simple and easy process of using his wealth to acquire a 40-room apartment house, evicting 14 tenants, all presumably with families.

This nefarious act seems to have passed with little if any public criticism, doubtless due to our traditional awe and respect for property, or the sacredness of power which rests in the possession of wealth. To have this wholesale eviction occur at a time when thousands of ex-service men are looking for homes, men who endured great hardship and suffering on the field of battle, mainly to make secure wealth possessed by such men as O'Daniel, should make the most ungenerous suffer qualms of conscience.

Had the Senator built a new 40-room mansion and then generously set aside a part of it for home-hungry ex-service men, he would have done a real social service. If this was not possible, then he had better done nothing.

If our capitalistic system ever fails, and there is a possibility that it will some day, one of the main contributing causes will be the use of power and prestige of wealth to dispossess those who are not favored by a similar situation in life. ARTHUR JOBSON.
Marceline, Mo.

Schoolboy's Question

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

How come an American was sentenced to death in Japan for killing two Japs, when "Little Glass Eye" only got life?
DONALD GOLDWASSER (Age 13).
Clayton.

From One Who Suffered

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I sometimes wonder if the people of the United States know how a GI feels over there when he picks up the news that the men left here at home are on strike again.

What is the matter with the country nowadays? Haven't we got any more respect left for the man next to us? Why do we act like the uneducated animal that some doctors and men of science claim we originated from?

I will tell you what the average man in the Army says. He starts off by wondering why in hell the Government doesn't draft the dopes and send a few of us guys back who know how to appreciate what the striker has at his beck and call here in America.

I spent three years in a Jap concentration camp for all of you. If I did that to afford you the privilege of being greedy, then you can all go to hell for my experience and suffering.

I hope you can realize how we feel, and I also hope someone has enough courage to make this job a good one. We can do no more about it here in the Army. We have put all we have toward the effort. Now it is your turn to fight.
CPL. WM. E. HARRISON.

Robin Priority Contest

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Mr. G. of Ferguson seeing his first robin on Jan. 8 has nothing on University City. I saw my first robin on Jan. 6, and heard one on New Year's day. EKA C. WENKE.
University City.

Shocked by a Shocked One

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I was as "shocked" by the leading letter on your editorial page on Jan. 8 as the Rev. L. F. Thornton Jr., the Episcopal clergyman who wrote it, claims to be by your editorial on Reuther and the General Motors strike.

Mr. Thornton has swallowed the CIO propaganda completely—a line which seems to want to give the Government dominance over every last detail of our lives.

Being a member of the Episcopal church, I feel that I owe an apology for the weird reasoning of one of its ministers—but then maybe it only goes to show, again, how sound is the separation of church and state!
HENRY C. HOAR.

Living Wage, Is It?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Your paper carries a photograph of pickets parading before a St. Louis telephone exchange, with signs proclaiming their objective to be "a living wage."

Would it be in order to inquire how many of these young crusaders have experienced the privilege of recently serving their nation at a "living wage" of $50 a month?

New York's Anti-Bias Law

When the bill to outlaw discrimination in unemployment was pending before the New York Legislature last winter, many objections were raised against it, similar to those brought up whenever creation of a permanent Federal Employment Practice Committee is debated in Congress. The objections may be summarized as follows:

1. That such a law would invite a flood of grievances, real or imagined.
2. That it would put a heavy burden on employers in answering complaints, and going through a long legal process.
3. That the penalty of $500 fine and a year in prison, provided in the New York bill, might work an injustice on employers who offended unwittingly.
4. That, while bias in hiring is deplorable, it can't be remedied by law, but only by a long process of education.

The New York Legislature passed the bill, and that State's Commission Against Discrimination has just completed its first six months of operation. The report by its chairman, Henry C. Turner, offers a good opportunity, since such legislation is pending in other states and in Congress, for checking the objections against the results.

There has been no flood of grievances. Instead, the New York chairman reports, there have been only 189 cases. Of these, 140 have been settled by friendly conferences, 47 are in process of settlement and two are being investigated.

There has been no heavy burden on employers. Every case to date has been handled without formal hearings or court action. Private consultation, provided by law as the first step, has been successful in each of the cases settled. Since conciliation and persuasion have brought results, it has not been necessary for formal complaints to be made, and of course there have been no fines or jail sentences. These, indeed, are only the last resort after a long process of hearings.

This high ratio of success without compulsion indicates that the mere presence of the law on the books has done a good deal to abolish discrimination. Meanwhile, the commission is pressing its work of education among employers.

Bias, of course, is a mental twist that cannot be eliminated by passing a law, but its outward manifestation—the barring of men and women from a livelihood because of race, religion or nationality—can be attacked by law. Few who believe in American principles of political equality will deny, after the fine results produced in the New York test, that it should be attacked in that direct manner.

No Affair of Ours in Poland

Ambassador Lane, who told the Polish Provisional Government he will oppose its application for a $500,000,000 loan from the United States as long as "present conditions"—the nationalization of all basic industries — prevail, should be promptly repudiated by the State Department.

It is none of Mr. Lane's affair, and none of the United States' affair, what sort of state Poland chooses to set up. We are concerned everywhere that the choice shall be made democratically, but beyond that we do not go—and had better not go.

England is nationalizing some of its basic industries. So is France. The United States will continue to deal with those countries as in the past. The same should be true with regard to Poland. The State Department should say as much to the Polish Provisional Government, and should say enough to Ambassador Lane to persuade him to keep out of matters that do not concern him.

In view of the housing shortage, maybe it had better be amended to read: Be it ever so seldom, there's no place like home.

Congress Should Extend the Draft

One of the grievances that most irks the overseas GIs protesting over demobilization delays is the failure of replacements to arrive so that high-point men can go home. Says a typical appeal from protesting soldiers:

> Are we the only ones our country of over 140,000,000 people can spare to perform these necessary duties, after all the time we have spent performing them?

The country certainly should be able to "spare" citizens of military age to relieve the long-term men overseas, but the supply is inadequate because of failure of the draft boards to supply them. A War Department statement of 10 days ago said that, instead of the 50,000 men a month expected by the Army, Selective Service had supplied only 37,000 a month since V-J day.

Another obstacle is the uncertainty over the status of the Draft Act itself. It is due to expire next May 15, and the Army has no assurance that Congress will vote its continuance. So the War Department is disinclined to hasten the discharge of men now overseas, for fear that no replacements whatever, except volunteers, will be available after May 15, and it will be unable to meet its commitments for occupation and policing.

Maj. George Fielding Eliot pointed out yesterday that this is one action Congress can take to meet the demand that it "do something" about demobilization. In fairness to the long-term men entitled to discharge, the draft should be extended, regardless of the protests at home that can be expected.

Hirohito renounces all claim to divinity. If this sort of thing is catching, we expect to hear any day now from Bertie McCormick.

Needs of Shaw's Garden

Shaw's Garden is so firmly established as a unique civic asset of St. Louis that it would seem our citizens would spontaneously make sure that its management was relieved of all financial worries over its future. Yet the problem of money recurs annually in the institution's report, and this year the director, George T. Moore, again makes an appeal for public support.

While, as Mr. Moore points out, the garden is not in severe financial straits, it should be assured financial stability. All the real estate bequeathed by Henry Shaw, the founder, has now been sold. Needs for expansion and replacements cannot be met from the present income. The garden asks no special privileges; in fact, it actually pays taxes to the city amounting to about one-quarter of its annual income.

The suggestion for annual contributions by friends of the garden can hence be made with good grace, and it should be met by a ready response.

Land Subsidy for Housing

As passed by the State Senate, the urban redevelopment act now resembles—with an important difference—the formula proposed by Louis Maginn, spokesman of the St. Louis Real Estate Exchange. If need be, the city can acquire land and sell it at a loss to redevelopment corporations. The corporations will also enjoy partial and temporary tax relief. In return, they agree to offer moderate rentals and to accept limits on profits. Under Mr. Maginn's variation, the city could resell land to any private developer, who would then pay full taxes but would be free to charge any rental he could get.

Superficially, Mr. Maginn's offer seems the more attractive. The trouble with it is, however, that it would provide housing which only the small upper-income fraction of the people could afford. For that reason, the scale of construction under it would make only small inroads in the large blighted areas. What inroads it did make would displace present residents and leave them nowhere to go except to the slums or cheap suburban neighborhoods. Like it or not, there is no adequate private-enterprise way to redevelop blighted areas except in large undertakings subject to "public utility" limits on profits. A subsidy dollar thus spent will return more public benefit than one spent in piecemeal attack.

This is not to say that subsidy in the form of a loss on land does not raise disturbing prospects—the prospect, for example, of a bond issue to underwrite it. Certainly the city, even though the Federal Government would carry most of the load under the Wagner-Ellender-Taft bill, should offer this incentive only as a last resort. Making the incentive lawful may encourage prospective developers to bargain for public aids that they do not actually need.

With the reservation that the city must be alert and firm against such tactics, however, inclusion of the provision is wise. For this business of eliminating the cancer of slums and blight is one for which we will far, far better have more ammunition than is used instead of less than is needed.

The second session of the Seventy-ninth Congress is now open for business. The business consists of what the first session of the Seventy-ninth Congress omitted doing.

As to Byron Nelson

Lord Byron Nelson won another golf tournament Sunday with a 68 on the final round, thus adding the San Francisco Open to the Los Angeles Open as his trophies in this brand-new year. Nelson is described accurately as the greatest money winner in the history of golf, but that surely is a prosaic way of describing this genius of the links.

If he lacks the color of Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen and Gene Sarazen and other old-timers, Nelson has shown that golf can be played with an ice-water precision and a steady brilliance that maddens his opposition and leaves your divot-digging duffer pop-eyed with awe. This proves one of two things; either that golf is not a game in which the vagaries of temperament impishly defeat the finest muscular technique, or that Nelson is a kind of automaton that must have been manufactured in Detroit.

We belong to the latter school of thought. No mere human being could give Old Man Par the beating Nelson has administered on the courses of America; no mere human being could scatter birdies and eagles all over the landscape without even lighting a Murad; no creature of flesh and blood could conquer the treachery of woods and irons, sneer at the ambuscades of traps, calculate the subtle slopes of greens and triumph over those gremlins which are constantly tormenting ordinary golfers.

In short, the guy's a freak.

There's one little fact that the fact-finding boards don't seem to have stumbled on, and that is: Exactly what is it that any two parties will agree to?

Out of Step on Medical Care

Critics who say that Congress lags behind the people have some strong confirmation in the results of an Associated Press survey of its members' attitude toward the President's health insurance proposals.

According to this unofficial poll, to which one-fourth of the membership responded, House and Senate are about 63 per cent opposed to the program. Of 141 participants, 72 voted No and 43 voted Yes, while 17 were undecided, three were noncommittal and six gave qualified answers.

Now note the contrast in what the American people think on the matter of providing more adequate medical care, as shown in a poll conducted last year by the National Opinion Research Center of the University of Denver.

Of every 100 Americans, this survey showed, 81 think that some people can't afford to see a doctor as often as they should. Of every 100 Americans, 82 are not satisfied with the present system, and think something should be done to make it easier for people to get medical care when they need it. In addition, 68 per cent think social security should provide medical insurance to cover medical and hospital costs.

Mr. Truman's program has precisely the latter objective. Congressmen who oppose it are clearly out of touch with the majority opinion of their constituents, and are blocking an essential reform because they have not kept pace with public sentiment, or choose to disregard it.

What the GIs are going to have to make up their minds to is whether they just want to come home or whether they want to stay home.

THIS IS OUR "YEAR OF DECISION" —President Truman.

A Bold Defense of Public Oil

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Attorney General's statement on Federal ownership of tidelands petroleum is sharp challenge to hopes of big oil companies, says West Coast newspaper; editorial regards "states' rights" issue as artful wrapping for private conspiracy to exploit mineral wealth.

From the Los Angeles Daily News

Newsworthy nation-wide, noteworthy in California and surprisingly satisfactory to old New Dealers everywhere is the United States Attorney General's bold enunciation of the question of Federal ownership of oil and minerals lying below Government land, largely in submerged areas.

That the tough Texan, Tom Clark, speaks for the Administration may not yet be assumed, but the rock he hurled into the big companies' oil pool in his address to the convention of state Attorneys General in Jacksonville, Fla., started concentric circles of tidal wave proportions.

It took a lot of smart maneuvering to get 45 of the country's 48 lego-politicos demanding in eager chorus that the billions of treasure at stake belong, not to Uncle Sam, but to the individual states, more particularly to a group of big oil corporations and promoters, this being artfully concealed in the familiar "states' rights" package.

An Amazing Coup

It would be absurd, of course, to anticipate the decision arrived at should the question reach the Supreme Court, but the ugly fact is that the politicos adroitly took the play away from the court in an amazing coup.

Introduced by Hatton Sumners of Dallas, chairman of the powerful Judiciary Committee, a bill was shot through the House in jigtime, which by-passes the court and declares that the oil belongs to the states (not, of course, to the oil lads who rule politics and petroleum in many districts, but to the dear people). That handy weapon, "states' rights," is now on trial. With Clark's forthright challenge, it promises to be a hot fight.

Strangely, in men, methods and issues, the situation is redolent of earlier political conflicts. Teddy Roosevelt stepped in 40 years ago to save the remnant of the public domain from despoliation by economic royalists of the period. His successful fight for the creation of what are now great national forest reserves cut clean across old-line partisanship.

Among his ardent and scrappy lieutenants was a young Chicago lawyer, now well and favorably known as chief of the public domain and one of F.D.R.'s two Cabinet officers remaining in authority. Harold Ickes, Secretary of the Interior, one of the men marked for slaughter by Old Guardsmen, but refusing to surrender, is very much in this picture.

Brigandage, Old Style

The predatory corporations of yesteryear scorned such instruments as appeals to "states' rights." They ruled the roost in Washington, and when they wanted anything, they just moved in and took it.

The brigandage was ended when the late great Senator T. J. Walsh of Montana, himself Franklin Roosevelt's first choice for the Attorney General's post, cracked the Teapot Dome conspiracy and sent one of President Harding's cabineteers to the penitentiary.

To understand the magnitude of the issues involved, one should recall what the people have already lost to the exploiters of the land still owned by the Government, but actually held in trust for the use, profit and enjoyment of the individual.

A vast, incalculable area of forest land was denuded by great lumber companies. Ruthlessly they slashed through the woods, leaving refuse which afterward for many years furnished ready fuel for disastrous fires sweeping scores of miles across a number of mountain states.

Powerful utility corporations pooled interests in the development of the hydro-electric power, from which tremendous fortunes were accumulated before the people began to understand the value and necessity of public ownership.

Large tracts of logged-off lands were sold to people who were actually the original owners—homesteaders, small farmers, cattle and sheep ranchers. Reclamation projects of tremendous importance were stymied by private water rights.

To convince these, with the lessons of history before them, that the oil and minerals still under Uncle Sam's land will become theirs if the entrepreneurs take it away from Uncle Sam, calls for more than the sophistry of politicians, or the legerdemain of paid lobbyists.

Clark has now announced that he will take up where thwarted Francis Biddle left off; the decision rests with the people.

Court or Congress?

Is there any reason why we should put more faith in Congress today than in the Supreme Court? What is the purpose and what the spirit animating those who railroaded the Sumners bill through Congress?

Does the conduct of the present and immediately preceding Congress justify taking away from the Department of Justice and the highest tribunal in the land the authority to deal with matters involving the citizen's own rights?

What percentage of the earnings of the oil companies passes actually into the hands of the people in great oil states like California and Texas? How much will the price of gasoline be reduced if we give the oil barons the oil now belonging to all the people, oil of incalculable military value to the Federal Government if and when the guns again begin to roar?

These questions may still be answered by the people. We have had ample experience with cabals in a Congress now denying justice to labor and small business men. We have good reason to distrust their answers.

MAN'S STORY IN FOUR WORDS

From the Philadelphia Record.

The Japs' oldest prisoner of war has been released. He's the "Peking Man," collective name for bones believed a half-million years old.

The Jap Army in China stole the priceless relic, oldest remains of earliest man, and turned it over to Tokyo University. Now the bones are on their way back to the National Geographical Survey Society of China.

The Peking Man lived in a cave, not to escape atomic bombs, but because he didn't know enough to build a house. Now our scientists are advising us to build our essential war factories in caves so as to be safe in a future atomic war. We know too much.

The history of mankind in four words: "From cave to cave."

Enlightenment on Russia In Conversation Sessions

"Talk About Russia," by Pearl S. Buck. (John Day Co., New York.)

Pearl Buck, like many another American, had an uneasy feeling that she ought to know more about Russia. A visit there was out of the question, and besides, she distrusted the reports brought back by "trippers," just as she distrusted party propaganda. She wanted to see Russia through the eyes of a Russian, a real Russian who had grown up in the country and would report on it objectively.

Miss Buck found such a Russian in Masha, wife of the Time correspondent, John Scott. Masha was willing to talk, but only of what she had seen and experienced. She was not a Communist, but proudly said, "I am collective"; that is, a product of the Soviet collective system.

Born in a peasant village north of Moscow, she had childhood memories of pre-Revolutionary days, and a vivid story of the changes in her family's life thereafter. She spent many mornings in Miss Buck's New York apartment, answering searching questions, and the book is drawn from a record of their conversations.

Poverty and ignorance were the lot of Masha's family, she relates, until the changes brought by the Revolution began to take effect. Peasants at first resisted that innovation, the collective farm, then joined when they saw its benefits. Children had opportunities for education that their parents never enjoyed, and reading matter came into the home. Medical and hospital care were provided. Masha's father, accustomed to beat her mother, no longer did so, for she was now his equal under the law.

A new spirit came to the Russian land. "Work was so interesting now," Masha explains, "because they were proud of what they did, and everybody worked together." This feeling of pride in work appears at all stages of Masha's career—her trip to Moscow to attend the university; her decision to go to the Urals and help build a new city there; the readiness of her once apathetic father to fight if war came: "We have got so much since the Revolution that I can die for it."

Miss Buck does not accept this glowing account without insistent queries. What about the kulaks? Masha quietly says that they exploited the peasants, they grew rich and did nothing, so their lands were seized and those who fought the Government were killed. What about freedom in Russia? It exists, said Masha, because Russians have equality of nationalities, equality of economic opportunity and the right to criticize. Above all, and this is cited many times, they have security—no worry about jobs, sickness or old age.

All this is not viewed by Miss Buck as an argument for Communism, but as a challenge to other countries to do as much, under their own systems, for their own people. Essentially, Masha's simple, direct story, without statistics or ideology, explains the Russians' fierce tenacity in war, in human terms that other peoples can readily understand. The conversations in which all this unfolds make an enlightening book for questioning Americans.
FERD GOTTLIEB.

Survey of the Employment Issue

"Postwar Jobs," by Staff of Press Research. (Public Affairs Press, Washington.)

The greatest domestic issue, full employment, here receives detailed analysis. All factors involved—industry, veterans, surplus property, taxation, public works, agriculture, housing, foreign trade, etc.—are fully treated. The book is a valuable guide to clear thinking on the problem.

Cynicism at London

LONDON.

ONCE before we did all this. Back in Geneva a quarter of a century ago. Here is the great Methodist Central Hall, tastefully decorated in cobalt blue and gold. It is richer than the Reformation Chamber where John Calvin strove so fiercely to improve his fellow citizens. But substantially it is the same picture.

Here at the opening sessions of UNO are the same self-conscious delegations, 51 groups of white, brown, yellow and black men from the ends of the earth. Individual delegates evince the same combination of personal importance and political cynicism. Mostly these are diplomats and they would rather be caught physically naked than appear naive.

Here is the same flutter of confidential secretaries mothering their delegates, the same advisers solemnly proffering explanations and suggestions. It is as familiar as a gramophone record. Some delegates here actually played their part in the rise and fall of the Geneva League. Many in the press gallery watched the Japs walk out and the Germans follow them, heard Haile Selassie make his impassioned plea to God and history to save Ethiopia, and watched the hysterical Assembly expel the Soviet Union for attacking Finland.

Preparations, fortunately, follow the Geneva line, which is not surprising since they were inspired by the former members of the Geneva secretariat. Therefore, everything from the seating arrangement to the distribution of documents is admirable. To make the resemblance to the League even more striking, there was even the same feeble attempt to "protect" the delegates from newspaper men, which, as always, promptly collapsed before the delegates' eagerness to meet the people who talk about them.

Another Oligarchy.

Outside the building stand the same little groups of curious bystanders, hoping for a glimpse of this or that headline personality, or, perhaps, faintly suspecting that inside the big hall, behind the guard of smart British Marines, the next war is being prevented—or provoked.

At delegation headquarters, there is a good deal of ready explanation why the new London reprint is "better" than the Geneva first edition and why it has more chance of accomplishing its task. Old-timers feel this is mostly bunk. Even more than the old League, the new organization remains an oligarchy of the great powers playing at parliamentarianism.

The essential difference between the beginning of the old League and the opening of UNO is symbolized by the difference between the green beauty of Geneva in September, with Mont Blanc looming white above the blue lake, and the dismal grays of a January drizzle in London.

Geneva at the beginning was full of hope. Delegates and journalists, secretariat and lobbyists, felt that mankind was really resolved never again to suffer the scourge of war. Finally—it was hoped—clear human reason had triumphed over dark and destructive passions. It took years to dispel this illusion. London is starting without even a shred of illusion. There is not even much hope.

As Attlee Put It.

What has been gained is experience and, therefore, more knowledge of the difficulty of preserving peace in a world divided in philosophy and riven by nationalism. After all, World War II came precisely as Wilson had predicted, Added is the threat of new weapons. The hard-boiled group of delegates in London know well that unless nations eschew expansion, the ensuing armed conflict will destroy even the strongest.

Prime Minister Attlee managed to get something of this realization into his otherwise conventional opening address. After the last war, he said, "governments continued on the old lines, following the path of power politics, and not realizing that the world had passed into a new epoch. In just such a spirit in times past, in these islands, great nobles and their retainers used to practice private war in disregard of the authority of the central government. The time came when private armies were abolished; when the rule of law was established. What has been done in Britain and in other countries, on a small stage, now has to be effected throughout the whole world."

Attlee insisted that "the United Nations Organization must become the overriding factor in foreign policy." The fact is, no rule of law can be established by sovereign equal nations with separate foreign policies. As the British now say publicly, and some members of the American delegation are beginning to suspect, UNO will succeed in measure to which it ceases to be an anachronistic concert of powers and becomes a world government.

MARQUIS CHILDS

A Warning to Labor

WHATEVER reservoir of good will labor may have had left is rapidly being drained off. That is a fact which some labor leaders themselves are at last beginning to realize.

Strikes called in public service industries produce too many irritations. And wherever the blame may actually lie, whether with the unions or with management, the unions will get the blame. You have only to glance at the headlines—"Strike ties up all nation's phones"—to realize that.

Add to this the heedless irresponsibility of some union leaders. In New York, Matthew J. Quill, head of the Transport Workers' Union, talked about "pulling out" 600,000 CIO members in the city in a repetition of the Stamford, Conn., "general strike."

No one in authority in CIO's top leadership had authorized any such suggestion. But, so far as the public reaction is concerned, that doesn't matter once the statement has got into print attached to a supposedly responsible individual.

It almost seems, sometimes, that extreme left-wing elements in the trade union movement were launched on a deliberate wrecking campaign to wipe out all of labor's gains during the past 12 years. If that is their objective, they are going about it in exactly the right way.

Senator Morse's Position.

Members of Congress are coming back in a resentful mood. If major strikes are still in progress when Congress settles down to work, then the likelihood is for legislation restricting the unions and, it is probable, restricting management at the same time.

In a hard-hitting radio speech the other night, Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, for many months a member of the War Labor Board before he was elected to the Senate, charged that the Truman Administration had not really tried the method of arbitration. Dubious of the technique of fact-finding boards and the pressures of public opinion, Morse said that President Truman should have told both management and labor that he intended to appoint arbitrators whose decisions would also be binding on the Government.

At the same time, Morse says he will vote for the President's fact-finding proposal. There are undoubtedly many Senators in just that position. They are not at all sure of the remedy, but they are prepared to vote for anything that may help.

In its own self-interest, organized labor might be well advised at this time to favor legislation which would limit the right to strike in public service industries—hospitals, utilities and so on. There is a very simple way to do that without passing elaborate legislation providing for fact-finding boards.

Power to Curb Strikes.

The basic act creating the Department of Labor gives the Secretary of Labor the right to name conciliators who work to solve industrial disputes. But these conciliators have only limited authority. If their efforts fail, then the issue goes to a strike.

An amendment to the Labor Department law would give the Secretary power in a few industries—transportation, communications, certain natural resource industries, such as coal, where the union has a monopoly—to proclaim the existence of an emergency when a strike threatens. Under such a proclamation, both labor and management would be ordered to refrain from any strike, lockout or changes in condition and terms of employment until the issue was referred to a special arbitration panel to be chosen by the Secretary.

These powers would be rarely used. They would be used only when the consuming public was about to be squeezed in a way certain to create a wave of hostility toward labor.

The labor legislation adopted since 1933 was based on the permise that organized labor would remain relatively weak and defenseless in the face of the unlimited power of big industry. Something like equality between the two sides, with mass unions dominating whole industries, was not foreseen.

Legislative changes are on the way. Whether they are reasonable and constructive depends on the conduct of labor in coming weeks.

DR. MAZYCK P. RAVENEL DIES

COLUMBIA, Mo., Jan. 15 (AP)—Dr. Mazyck Porcher Ravenel, professor emeritus of medical bacteriology and preventive medicine at the University of Missouri, died in a hospital yesterday of pneumonia.

He joined the Missouri faculty in 1914 after serving seven years as professor of bacteriology and director of the State Hygienic laboratory at hte University of Wisconsin. He retired in 1932, but resumed teaching at Missouri in 1942 when the war caused a faculty staff shortage. Dr. Ravenel at one time was author of a newspaper column entitled "Your Health."

FORMER DOMESTIC LEAVES $20,000 FUND

Miss Augusta Friedrichs' Will to Aid Children in Salzgitter, Germany.

Miss Augusta Friedrichs, described by a friend as a former domestic who had saved and invested her money, left $20,000 to establish a trust fund to help underprivileged children at her former home in Salzgitter, Hanover, Germany, it was shown yesterday with filing of her will in probate court.

In addition, Miss Friedrichs made a specific bequest of $2000 to Eden Theological Seminary in Webster Groves, and left approximately $200 to friends. The residue of the estate after payment of the bequests and establishment of the trust fund is to be divided equally among the German Protestant Orphans' Home, 8240 St. Charles Rock road; Good Samaritan Home for the Aged, 4500 Washington boulevard, and the Evangelical Emmaus homes for epileptics and feeble-minded, at St. Charles and Marthasville, Mo.

Harry A. Wachter, who operates a real estate agency at 2011 South Broadway, told the Post-Dispatch he had known Miss Friedrichs for more than 10 years through small business transactions. Her estate will be "well in excess of $20,000" Wachter said, and will probably be mostly in cash. Wachter was named co-executor, with the St. Louis Union Trust Co.

"For the greater part, the estate is the result of frugal living and careful saving," Wachter said. "Miss Friedrichs stayed home most of the time, and apparently never spent much money. Years ago, she worked as a domestic."

The will provides that income from the trust fund is to be used "for the benefit and pleasure of poor children of the Protestant church of Salzgitter." It provides that preference should be given to "educate the brighter children, and to give free baths to the weaker and sick, who can best be helped, and to give useful Christmas gifts for those who will be most benefited."

Proceeds under the fund are to be sent to the burgomaster of Salzgitter and to the pastor of the church, as near to Christmas each year as possible, the will provides. Afetr 15 years the entire fund is to be transferred to the "Reichsbank in Berlin," the will continues. The fund is in memory of a brother, Charles Friedrichs, who died years ago. The will was dated Oct. 14, 1936.

Miss Friedrichs, who was 83 years old, lived at 3639A Lierman avenue. Neighbors said she had made her home there for about 13 years, living alone, and said she went out infrequently. Friends came to visit her occasionally, they said. Wachter said as far as he knew, Miss Friedrichs had no close relatives. She died Jan. 10 at Josephine Heitkamp Memorial Hospital, after suffering a heart attack at her home.

The sixth test comprises political and psychiatric interviews. The latter includes the so-called Rorschach test, where the subject's reacticns to a series of standardized inkblots are analyzed.

Levy's complete staff now consists of five persons, handling 12 Germans a week. He would like to have a staff of 12, able to handle 40 candidates.

The British are moving in with a staff of 90, headed by Lt. Col. H. V. E. Dicks, psychiatrist, and Wing Comdr. O.A. Oeser, sociologist. The British plan to send men to Bad Orb as observers.

"There is a small percentage of good, reliable Germans left," Levy said. "And we feel that this is an intelligent way of getting at them. Properly selected, and then backed, they can form the foundation for a new, worthwhile administration."

NEW VETERANS' TRAINING HEAD

George F. Dames has been appointed supervisor of veterans' training for the St. Louis office of the United States Employment Service, 410 North Broadway, Paul P. Connole, manager has announced.

Dames, who returned from overseas service with the Second Armored Division recently, will coordinate all types of vocational training for veterans with the emphasis on "on the job training," Connole said. Prior to entering the service, Dames was supervisor of war workers training for the USES.

DR. AND MRS. ERNEST SACHS, 97 Arundel place, have visiting them their son and daughter-in-law, Capt. and Mrs. Ernest Sachs, Jr., and their young grandson, Ernest Paul Sachs.

Capt Sachs, on terminal leave, returned recently from two years overseas, having been with the Forty-fifth Hospital Unit of the First Army in the Normandy invasion. Later he was in charge of the medical care of prisoners in the German concentration camp at Buchenwald.

Capt. and Mrs. Sachs and their son will leave next Monday for Boston, where he has a fellowship in surgery at the Lahey clinic. He and his wife (Jeanne O'Sullivan) have invited a few close friends for an informal party at his parents' home late Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Sachs Jr., and her son have been with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John O'Sullivan of Arlington, Va.

Dr. and Mrs. Sachs will leave Feb. 10 for Jamaica to spend a month. Their other son, Thomas Dudley Sachs, petty officer, third class, U.S.N.R., is stationed on Treasure Island in San Francisco bay.

Capt. and Mrs. Frederick Augustus Jostes, whose marriage took place Dec. 4 in San Francisco, where Capt. Jostes, U.S.N.R., is serving with the Naval Medical Corps, are expected to return to St. Louis Jan. 24. They will live at Capt. Jostes' home, Rivers' Arm, on the bluffs overlooking the Missouri and Mississippi rivers at Florissant. Mrs. Jostes was Miss Barbara Mary Donohoe, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Donohoe of Menlo Park, Calif.

A guest in New York is Mrs. Ross A. Woolsey, 530 North Union boulevard, who is visiting Mrs. M. J. Mandelbaum for a month. During her absence her home is being occupied by her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ross A. Woolsey Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Washington Moore have returned to their home in Nashville, Tenn., after spending the holidays with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar E. Rand, 50 Overhills drive, Clayton.

Lt. Col. Robert Dean Schilling and his wife, the former Miss Virginia Cunningham of Pueblo, Colo., who were married in Weisbaden, Germany, last July, were recent guests of his mother, Mrs. Oscar A. Schilling, and his sister, Mrs. Walter A. Baumstark, 8901 Eager road, St. Louis county. They have departed for Pueblo to visit friends. Lt. Col. Schilling is on terminal leave from the Army Medical Corps after five years of service, 23 months of which were spent in Europe. Mrs. Schilling is a former Army nurse.

Mrs Clemence Hein, 7376 Pershing avenue, and her daughter, Dorothy Lee, are at the Santa Rita Hotel in Tucson, Ariz., for a month. They are visiting another daughter, Cynthia, who attends Sunshine School there.

LT. COMDR. AND MRS. AUGUST KNIGHT JR., departed yesterday for San Diego, Calif., after a brief visit with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Newell S. Knight, 4900 Pershing avenue. Comdr. Knight, whose parents live in Evanston, Ill., and the former Miss Frances Berna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tell Berna of Shaker Heights, a Cleveland suburb, were married Saturday afternoon at Cleveland Unitarian Church. He is on a 30-day leave from the Navy.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Yale University, is also a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Garrison Morfit, 6060 Pershing avenue, and a cousin of Harry Hall Knight, 4927 Maryland avenue. He is a grandson of Mrs. Newell C. Knight of Evanston, who formerly lived here, and a great-grandson of August Knight, pioneer St. Louisan.

Mr. and Mrs. Galen Tait of Washington, who have been visiting in Mexico City, will arrive today to spend two weeks with Mrs. Tait's sister, Mrs. John Barrett, 448 Carrswold drive, Clayton, before returning to their home prior to their trip to Mexico. The Taits spent the Christmas holidays at the Barrett home.

W. W. HEAD TO BE CHAIRMAN OF SAVING BONDS DIVISION

Walter W. Head, state chairman of the Missouri War Finance Committee, will be chairman of the Missouri United States Savings Bonds Division of the Treasury Department, Secretary of the Treasury Fred M. Vinson announced today. The savings bond organization, which succeeds the War Finance Committee, will continue the sales of E, F and G Savings Bonds.

Head announced that state headquarters will be moved to the postoffice building in Jefferson City but a branch office will be maintained here in rooms 319 and 319-B of the old Post Office, 815 Olive street. Earl H. Shackelford, who was executive manager of the Missouri War Finance Committee, will be state director of the Missouri Savings Bonds Division.

The organization will promote the sale of savings bonds through the payroll savings plan and through various schools and organizations throughout the state, Head said, and bonds may be purchased as in the past at banks and postoffices.

2 MISSING AREA MEN NOW LISTED AS DEAD

Another Reported to Have Died of Pneumonia in a Japanese Prison Camp.

Two St. Louis area men who were previously reported missing today were listed as dead. Another is reported to have died in a Japanese prison camp.

DEAD.

Ens. Robert P. Combs, 22 years old, pilot of a Liberator bomber, who was reported missing March 15, 1943, following an air raid over the Buin Kahili area of Bougainville, was officially listed as dead today by the Navy Department. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Combs, 960 Tuxedo boulevard, Webster Groves, said the Navy informed them their son's plane apparently was shot down by Japanese anti-aircraft fire.

Seaman 1-C Frederick F. Klefisch, 21, who was reported missing in action since the sinking of the oiler Pecos in the Java sea March 1, 1942, is now listed as dead. His mother, Mrs. Anna Klefisch, lives at 5415 Idaho avenue.

Pfc. Lawrence S. Fairchild, 43 years old, who was taken prisoner at the fall of Corregidor, died last Jan. 26 of pneumonia in a Japanese prison camp. He was a veteran of World War I and served in the Philippines at that time. His mother, Mrs. Anna Fairchild, lives at 2626 Minnesota avenue.

Previously Reported.

Navy Lt. Harold W. Borer, torpedo plane pilot, first reported missing in action in the Pacific areas, is now listed as dead. He holds the Distinguished Flying Cross. His wife, Mrs. Lizette Borer, lives in Florissant, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Borer, in Great Neck, L. I., N. Y. His father is general manager of the Cunard White Star, Ltd., steamship line, in the United States.

Robert L. Goree, merchant seaman, died Nov. 3 of injuries suffered in a shipboard accident in the South Pacific area. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Goree, live at 7733 Rannells avenue, Maplewood.

DR. E. A. REISSE GETS DIVORCE

Dr. Edward A. Reisse, a dentist with offices in the Missouri Theater Building, was granted a divorce from Mrs. Jane Vornbrock Reisse, 1338 McCutcheon road, Richmond Heights, by Circuit Judge William B. Flynn yesterday on grounds of general indignities.

Reisse alleged in his petition that his wife advised him to get a divorce following his release from the Army. Mrs. Reisse, who did not appear in court, was awarded custody of their children, Anne, 8 years old, and William, 5, except on Sundays and during the months of June and July. A property settlement was made out of court. The Reisses were married Aug. 1, 1934, and separated last Oct. 27.

'OKLAHOMA!' CAST HOPES SHOW WILL GO ON TONIGHT

Strike Delayed Opening — Special Matinee Friday for Last Night's Crowd.

The musical show, "Oklahoma!," did not open last night at the American Theater, due to the strike of truckmen, and members of the cast are standing by in hopes the strike will end today in time to permit transportation of stage properties from Union Station to the theater for an opening tonight.

Paul Beisman, theater manager, who was overheard whistling "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning," as he answered the telephone this morning, said the scenery would have to reach the theater by mid-afternoon to make a show tonight possible.

If the strike ends too late for today's show, Beisman said he would use night shifts to get the stage ready for tomorrow's scheduled matinee. Persons who held tickets for last night's show can either obtain refunds or tickets for a special matinee which has been set for Friday, he said. All seats for all regular performances have been sold, he added.

Meanwhile, properties of the play, "Life With Father," which closed Saturday night, are standing on the stage of the theater, crated and ready for transportation to Union Station as soon as the truck drivers start back to work.

AL SMITH ESTATE $540,170

EDITOR SEES PERIL IN LATITUDE GIVEN SOME COLUMNISTS

'Afraid They Are Getting Drunk With Power,' Says Erwin D. Canham.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15 (AP)—The editor of the Christian Science Monitor declared yesterday "one or two syndicated newspaper columnists are among the most powerful men in the world today," and that "the latitude granted to some newspaper columnists is one aspect of newspaper irresponsibility."

"I am afraid they are getting drunk with their power," Erwin D. Canham, editor of the Boston publication, told members of the Newspaper Advertising Executives' Association. He did not name the columnists.

Canham said that "continued nursing of demagogic power in the hands of a few feeble columnists may react against newspapers in the long run," and that the question "must be soberly answered in the interests of the newspaper profession."

To the doors of the syndicated columnists, he said, "is beaten a path by those motivated by malicious gossip, revenge, or character assassination. Newspapers have given columnists this power because they assume correctly that the public likes to read this sort of thing."

The number one task of every newspaper today, Canham said, "should be to support our government in its efforts to reach a world solution of problems . . . of the atomic age."

TALK ON USE OF VIOLET RAY TO PRESERVE, ENRICH FOODS

To the growing list of foods which have been enriched with vitamins, science will be able to add many more which will be improved by treatment with ultraviolet and short-wave rays, Dr. Lamar Kishlar, director of commodity development of the Ralston Purina Co., said last night.

He spoke before 250 persons at a dinner meeting of the annual convention of the American Dehydrators Association at Hotel Jefferson. Not only will these new processes increase the vitamin and nutritional content of foods and livestock and poultry feeds, but they will also aid in their preservation, he said.

Pointing out that wartime necessity greatly accelerated discoveries in preservation and dehydration, Dr. Kishlar exhibited powdered orange juice, bottled sweet cream and canned butter as examples of a few foodstuffs designed for use by the armed forces. The convention will conclude its two-day session today with a series of 10-minute talks.

A. P. MOVE TO END NEWSCASTS BY U. S. CRITICIZED

the termination date of the service was extended until the first of the year. In response to a second request, the board of directors decided it was inexpedient to grant a further extension.

"The Associated Press will continue to furnish news to the Army News Service and the Navy Information Service for telegraphic transmission by them to the armed forces abroad so that the boys away from home can be kept informed."

Benton's statement said:

"The Associated Press, the United Press and the International News Service have been furnishing the news to the United States Government for its shortwave broadcasts overseas to the peoples of other countries. I regret that the directors of the Associated Press have decided to discontinue their share of this service.

"They were asked to continue this service until such time as the Congress decided what should be the policy of this Government with regard to the permanent shortwave broadcasting program, whether it should be in private hands or under Government control. It is clear that such broadcasting must be continued.

"It is a fixed policy of the State Department to advance the cause of press freedom everywhere. Nothing in the international information program of the Government, past or planned, contravenes this basic principle. I am proud of the objectivity maintained by our international broadcasts.

"One of the purposes of shortwave newscasting is to get reliable and objective American news into vast areas of the world where no other news from America can penetrate. I can only conclude that the directors of the A.P. were not fully informed about the program."

Wilbur Forrest, assistant editor of the New York Herald Tribune and chairman of the standing committee on world freedom of information of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, issued this statement:

"Government dissemination of information should supplement rather than compete with the news services. It is true that the emission of daily newscasts for general consumption by the Government would risk the charge of official propaganda. It is not my understanding that the State Department plans to do this, but does plan to keep its embassies, legations and consulates advised and furnish these with pertinent information, texts of official statements, background material, etc., which may otherwise be available to those interested. In this way a clearer picture of this country will promote international understanding."

FIRM SIGNS 'ABILITY TO PAY' CONTRACT WITH CIO UNION

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Jan. 15 (AP)—An "ability to pay" clause is in a contract signed yesterday by the Light Metals Corp. and the United Furniture Workers (CIO).

The company, which employs about 80 workers and manufactures castings, agreed to adjust future wages in accordance with its ability to pay "as determined by the company's books and standards of the industry."

The contract, first one negotiated with the union, was announced jointly by Brent Holmes, Light Metals president, and Morris Miller, regional director of the union.

STOCK DEMAND IN EXCESS OF SALES IN PROFIT TAKING

Inflationary Psychology, Based on Apparent Price-Wage Spiral, Is Main Inspiration.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—Rails, leading industrials and utilities led the stock market to another 15-year peak today in one of the fastest sessions of the past several years, although profit cashing stemmed the drive to a certain extent.

Swift dealings in the forenoon put the ticker tape behind at intervals and gains generally ranged from fractions to a point or more in virtually all departments. There were a few isolated swings of six or so. Selling then cropped up and the pace slowed. Trends again stiffened in the final hour.

While extreme advances were under the best in numerous cases near the close, and scattered losers appeared, plus signs held the majority by a big margin. Low-quoted utilities such as Commonwealth & Southern and Columbia Gas came out in 10,000 and 20,000 share blocks.

Factors in Buying.

Transfers were 2,700,000 shares compared with 2,740,000 shares yesterday.

The market was not as broad as yesterday's 1040 issues. Of the 1032 issues traded in, 463 were higher, 393 lower and 176 unchanged. Two hundred and thirty made new 1945-46 highs and one new 1945-46 low.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks made a new 15 year peak at 79.4 on rise of .4 of a point. The Industrial and rail groups were at new 1945-46 highs.

Inflationary psychology, based on the apparent price-wage spiral, again served as the principal bullish inspiration. Belief that strikes and threatened strikes soon would be settled also was a favorable influence. Work stoppage by 200,000 electrical employes and an imminent meat packing walk-out failed to chill sentiment. Accounts were trimmed, however, on the thought of a technical correction of the exceptionally sharp bulge.

Prominent on the upside most of the day were Southern Pacific, N. Y. Central, Southern Railway, Baltimore & Ohio, Erie, St. Paul, U. S. Steel, Lukens Steel, Douglas Aircraft, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, Standard Gas $4 preferred, Electric Power & Light, Dow Chemical, Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak and Kennecott.

Trend on the Curb.

In the curb, Singer Manufacturing vaulted a dozen points on a few sales. Ahead were Driver-Harris, Cities Service, Howard Stores and Illinois Zinc.

Constructive marketwise was the persistence of big refunding operations by important railway and utility corporations. The M.-K.-T. road was understood to have already applied about $4,000,000 of its recently negotiated $5,000,000 bank loan to the repurchase of fixed interest bonds. In addition, it was announced the American Gas & Electric Co. had petitioned the SEC for authority to borrow $25,000,000 from six banks and apply the proceeds, together with treasury funds, to the redemption of its outstanding sinking fund debentures resulting in an interest saving of approximately 1.51 per cent.

Union Electric Bonds Rise.

In the bond division of the market Union Electric of Mo. 2¾s of 1975 advanced a full point to 105 on $50,000 turnover between 104¾ to 105.

CONSOLIDATED EARNINGS OF A. T. & T. FOR LAST YEAR

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—The number of telephones in service increased 559,000 in the last three months of 1945, the largest gain in any quarter of the Bell System's history, Walter S. Gifford, president of American Telephone & Telegraph Co., reported today to the shareholders.

He announced A. T. & T. net income for 1945, with December figures partly estimated, was $171,831,000, equal to $8.67 a share, compared with $163,165,614, or $8.54 a share, in 1944. Dividends in 1945 totaled $17,388,000, against $171,897,507 in 1944.

Net income for the last three months of 1945 was $45,895,000, or $2.28 a share, against $41,146,633, or $2.13 a share, in the final 1944 quarter; dividends were $45,216,000 in the 1945 period, and $43,427,923 in the 1944 final quarter.

The Bell System consolidated report, including A. T. & T. and its principal telephone subsidiaries, for 12 months ended Nov. 30, 1945, showed net income of $186,190,784 or $9.06 a share of A. T. & T. stock, compared with $174,600,831, or $8.81 a share, in the 12 months ended Nov. 30, 1944.

In the three months ended Nov. 30, 1945, the Bell System consolidated earning showed net income of $45,680,961, or $2.19 a share, against $45,252,829, or $2.26 a share, in the comparable 1944 period.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—The bond market held a relatively steady undertone today, although the robust gainers of the preceding session were absent and light profit taking brought small losses in some sections.

Ahead at the start of the final hour were loans of Chicago Great Western 4s, Commonwealth Edison 3½s and Hudson and Manhattan 5s. Monon 5s of 1947 made an extreme gain of 5¼ points at 117½.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—Closing prices on a representative list of bonds traded in on the New York Stock Exchange today follow:

BROWN SHOE PREFERRED STOCK OFFERING IS MADE BY GROUP

NEW YORK, Jan. 15—Goldman, Sachs & Co. and Lehman Brothers are today heading a public offering of 40,000 shares of $3.60 cumulative preferred stock of Brown Shoe Co., Inc. The public offering price is $102 per share. The company will apply $3,000,000 of the net proceeds to the prepayment of its 2¼ per cent term bank loan maturing on April 1, 1955, and the balance will, in the first instance, be added to its general funds.

In view of the anticipated demand for its products, the company intends to apply portions of its general funds to the opening of factories in the South, two of which are already under construction.

Upon completion of the present financing, and after prepayment of the term loan, the capitalization of the company will consist of the 40,000 shares of authorized and outstanding preferred stock and 1,000,000 authorized shares of common stock, of which 492,000 shares are outstanding. Stockholders recently authorized a split-up of each share of common stock, without par value, into two shares of the present common stock of the par value of $15 each.

Knapp-Monarch Dividend of 40c

Knapp-Monarch Co., declared a dividend of 40c a common share payable Jan. 29 to shareholders of record Jan. 21.

GRAINS DOWN AND UP UNDER LEAD OF RYE

CHICAGO, Jan. 15 (AP)—Grain futures wandered around in today's trading, under the nervous leadership of rye.

At the opening rye was ½ cent higher than yesterday's close and then sagged as much as ⅞ cent on reports that no rye had been authorized for foreign purchase in February.

After that flurry ended, traders decided to get on the buying side again and toward the close May rye, the only active delivery was above yesterday's close.

Oats followed rye, but did not show as much bounce, and the dip in wheat was only minor fractions.

Corn remained at ceiling during the day.

At the finish wheat was ⅛c higher to ¼c lower than yesterday's close, May $1.80½. Corn was unchanged at the $1.18½ ceiling. Oats were ⅛c higher to ¼c lower, May 77⅜c. Rye was ⅜c lower to 1¼c higher, May $1.87⅜@½. Barley was unchanged to ¼c higher, May $1.22½.

MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Jan. 15—There were no sales of cash grain early today.

COTTON PRICES AFFECTED BY OPA 1946 CROP CEILING

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—Announcement by the Price Administration of its intended 1946 cotton crop ceiling depressed cotton prices as much as 60 cents a bale in early trading today, but the market subsequently recovered on trade buying and covering. While the proposed ceiling was almost a cent a pound under current market levels, general sentiment in the trade was that the ceiling idea will face considerable opposition, particularly from Southern congressmen. London advices reported the recent British inquiry for cotton here totaled 80,000 bales. It was also reported that the Army will shortly move 40,000 bales of American cotton to Germany.

Late afternoon prices were 20 cents a bale lower to 15c higher. March, 24.55c; May, 24.49c, and July, 24.33c.

ONE KILLED, 3 HURT IN AUTO UPSET NEAR LEBANON, ILL.

One person was killed and three others injured when the automobile in which they were riding last night on U. S. Highway 50 overturned near Lebanon, Ill.

Cpl. Roger C. Sheline of Scott Field, 26 years old, whose home is in Muskegon Heights, Mich., was killed. The injured were Cpl. Leon C. Vickers and Pvt. Ronald Fairchild, also of Scott Foeld, and Miss Esther Haas, 644 North Twenty-eighth street, East St. Louis. Vickers was the driver of the machine.

Members of the Illinois State Highway Patrol said that the automobile, traveling east, failed to make a turn in the highway.

YENAN SUBMITS UNITY PROGRAM, LIST OF REFORMS

Wants Coalition Governments for China and Provinces, End of Conscription.

By SPENCER MOOSA

CHUNGKING, Jan. 15 (AP)—The Chinese Communist party today called for reorganization of national and provincial governments and nationalization of the armed forces in a sweeping program submitted to the Political Consultation Conference through its elder statesman, Tung Pi-wu.

The main proposals were:

1. That Kuomintang (Chiang Kai-shek's nationalist) party membership in the projected reorganized State Council should be limited to one-third the number of seats.

2. That coalition governments, representing all parties, should be established in different provinces.

3. That the National Military Council and its subordinate bureaus should be reorganized to enable participation of all parties, with a view to achieve unification of military command and nationalization of the armed forces.

Tung advocated permanent cooperation of all political parties, settlement of all domestic disputes by peaceful means, realization of Sun Yat-sen's three principles, and a united China under leadership of Chiang.

He said the bill of rights should include freedom to strike and freedom to demonstrate and parade.

He proposed the immediate release of all political prisoners except traitors, a drastic decrease in the numerical strength of the armed forces, disbandment of all puppet armies, severe punishment of Japanese war criminals, immediate discontinuance of conscription, abolition of all unnecessary taxes, stabilization of currency, a general reduction of rent by 25 per cent, development of economic and cultural relations with other countries, protection of legal interests of foreign residents in China, and protection of Chinese interests overseas.

Many of Tung's demands were agreed to last week by Chiang as he opened the conference.

Tung urged that a time limit be set for disarmament and repatriation of Japanese troops in China and said Allied forces should withdraw immediately upon completion of their mission.

Meanwhile, Chou En-lai, Communist representative, sought a meeting with Gen. George C. Marshall, President Truman's special envoy. He was reported ready to complain against alleged government violations of the recent civil strife truce agreement.

The Communists charged that on Monday government forces "ferociously attacked" Kwangshan, Communist-held highway center in southeastern Honan province. A government spokesman denied the charge and reported that federal forces everywhere had halted military operations at the Sunday midnight deadline, "except where they were forced to fight in self-defense."

He charged that Communists were attacking at several points in Shansi, Shantung and Kiangsu provinces.

The Communists contend their regions of north China still are under a double-ring blockade strengthened by hundreds of newly-constructed government blockhouses.

LABOR GROUP NAMED HERE TO AID AL SMITH HOSPITAL

A joint committee of representatives of the AFL and CIO to aid in solicitation of $100,000 as Missouri's contribution to the $3,000,000 Alfred E. Smith Memorial Hospital in New York was formed at a luncheon meeting yesterday at Hotel Statler. The drive will be formally opened Feb. 1.

Joseph P. Clark, president of the AFL Central Trades and Labor Union, and Oscar A. Ehrhardt, executive secretary of the CIO Industrial Union Council, were named co-chairmen of the committee. One floor of the hospital, to be erected as a 16-story addition to St. Vincent's Hospital in New York, will be dedicated to Missouri if $100,000 is raised.

Raymond F. McCarthy, chairman of the general solicitation committee in St. Louis, announced the formation of a committee composed of representatives of industry, civic clubs and associations to participate in the campaign. Barak T. Mattingly and Jesse W. Barrett were named co-chairmen of a committee in charge of outstate solicitation.

NUMBER OF MILK PRODUCERS FOR THIS AREA DROPS TO 3484

Producers delivering milk to the St. Louis area decreased to a record low of 3484 in December, it was reported today by William C. Eckles, Milk Market Administrator. At the same time, milk delivered by these producers dropped 10.5 per cent, from 28,911,331 pounds in December 1944, to 25,876,636 pounds last month, he said.

December was the twelfth consecutive month in which there was a decrease in milk producers from the preceding month. In December 1944, there were 3672 producers. In order to make up for the reduction in milk supply from the St. Louis region, local dealers last month imported from the Chicago area a total of 3,706,751 pounds of milk, cream and skimmed milk, Eckles said. This was more than three times the imports in December 1944, which amounted to 1,144,067 pounds.

The reduction in the number of dairy farmers in this area has been attributed to inspection requirements here and to farm labor shortages.

WOMAN LOST IN JAIL FOR MONTH FOUND BY LAWYER, FREED

Prisoner Couldn't Get Stamps to Write to Counsel of Plight.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP) — Prison doors opened yesterday for Mrs. Bernadette Valentine, 21 years old, after her lawyer contended in supreme court that she had been "lost" for a month in the women's house of detention.

Justice Benedict D. Dineen granted release on a habeas corpus writ.

Her lawyer, Samuel Bonon, said Mrs. Valentine was arrested last November on an assault charge after a tavern altercation, and held in default of $1500 bond for grand jury action in December. The jury refused to indict her, Bonon said, but for some reason she was not released.

Bonon said he tried to get in touch with his client twice at the house of detention. Each time, he said, jailers told him she was not there. On Jan. 9 he received a letter from Mrs. Valentine saying she was still in prison and had been unable to write before because she could get no stamps.

FAMOUS-BARR STARTS WAREHOUSE ADDITION

$2,000,000 Structure Will Provide Facilities for 3 New Outlying Stores.

(Picture in Everyday Magazine)

Construction of the $2,000,000 addition to the Famous-Barr Co. warehouse and delivery station at Market street and Spring avenue, first item of the company's $8,750,000 expansion and improvement program, began today. Morton J. May, president, turned the first spadeful of earth as excavation was begun at 10:30 a. m.

Completion of the warehouse addition, May said, will provide the facilities needed for handling merchandise for the three stores to be built in outlying locations, as well as the present downtown store. The new stores are to be at Kingshighway and Chippewa street, Kingshighway and Natural Bridge avenue, and Forsythe boulevard and Jackson avenue in Clayton.

The new structure of seven floors and basement will add 390,000 square feet of floor space to the present service building. With the delivery annex, it will embody many new ideas in layout, and will have the latest mechanical equipment for handling merchandise.

Will Levy, supervising architect, designed the buildings. The Westlake Construction Co., holds the construction contract. The buildings will be of brick and concrete, with high-speed freight elevators and complete conveyer belt system. The railroad siding is being extended to accommodate 14 freight cars, of which seven may be unloaded simultaneously.

The site of the new building fronts 258 feet on Market, and has an area of 107,324 square feet. The site is near the center of the square formed by the present downtown store and the three outlying store locations.

MAPLEWOOD MAN REPORTED ON MISSING TRANSPORT PLANE

Flight Officer William Frederick Jobe, 7252 Arsenal street, Maplewood, was identified by the War Department yesterday as one of 17 crewmen and passengers of an Army Transport Command plane missing since Dec. 9 on a flight between Dakar and Johannesburg, South Africa.

He enlisted in the Army three and a half years ago, shortly after his graduation from Maplewood High School, and had been stationed in Africa with the Transport Command for the last year.

He is the husband of Mrs. Betty Jobe and the son of William U. Jobe, 3241 Edgar avenue, Maplewood.

Here and There on The Hollywood Lots

By Sidney Skolsky

HOLLYWOOD.

JOHN HODIAK will play the lead in "Falling Star," which will be filmed in Technicolor. . . . Paramount is trying to interest Joan Fontaine to star in a film version of Mrs. Humphrey Ward's novel, "Lady Rose's Daughter." . . . Douglas Fairbanks Jr. and Mary Pickford are huddling about becoming partners in picture production, and if the deal goes through they will make pictures based on some of the elder Fairbank's silent movie hits. . . . Peggy Ryan and Jimmy Cross are vooming. . . . Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein want Alice Faye for the lead in their next musical, "Annie Oakley," but Alice is hesitant about doing a Broadway show. . . . Hedy Lamarr is telling friends that she would like to produce a movie based on Harry Hervey's novel, "Congai," if she could buy it from Metro. . . . After reading the front page stories of Betty Grable being in that strip gambling robbery, Arthur Murray believes the papers should have captioned the yarn, "Pin-Up Stuck-Up."

DOUG FAIRBANKS JR.

KURT KREUGER and Kathy Downs, who are in "The Dark Corner," have discovered each other off the screen. . . . After the Desi Arnaz opening at Ciro's the other night, two Hollywood contenders squared off outside the club. Greg Bautzer and Tom Kelly, the portrait artist, got into an argument because Bautzer told Kelly that he didn't go for his handlebar mustache. . . . Audrey Totter has everyone at Metro seeing pink elephants. She wears them appliqued on her sweaters

VAN JOHNSON is having more pictures prepared for him at Metro than any other player and the latest is a comedy drama called "Gas, Oil and Water," which is about a lad who runs a filling station in a small town. . . . Helen Walker, who is in "Cluny Brown," is vooming with George Manning, the Pine-Thomas actor. . . . Charles Laughton has been talking with Robert Sherwood about doing a play based on Benjamin Franklin. . . . John Steinbeck and Jack Wagner, who did "A Medal for Benny," are collaborating on an original for J. Carrol Naish, entitled "Montery Joe." . . . Martha O'Driscoll has been going places with Capt. Douglas Moulton, Navy. . . . Xavier Cugat got a gold key chain from Joe Pasternak, who engraved the gift to "Cugel." . . . Lucella Gear, the Broadway musical show comedienne, is here to do a role in "The Perfect Marriage." . . . Freddie DeCordova, the director, and Martha Vickers have gotten around to each other. . . . Burl Ives will play a comedy role in Otto Preminger's production of O. Henry's "The Gift of the Magi." . . . There was an advertisement in a paper recently which read: "Anyone knowing the whereabouts of my husband will please keep it to themselves," signed Sandra Sanders.

HANK DANIELS and Bonita Granville are having dates. . . . Robert Emmett O'Connor, popular character actor, walked on the set of "Three Wise Fools," looked around, glanced at his old friends, fellow actors Lionel Barrymore and Edward Arnold, and said, "Thanks a lot, fellas, this is the first picture that I've played in in years that I feel like a juvenile." . . . When the propman for "Escape Me Never" wanted pigeons he was told by a pigeon expert that the prices were different for walking pigeons, flying pigeons. . . . Tom Jenk listening to an early morning radio broadcast heard the announcer doing the commercial say, "Listen to it fizz." However, the props didn't work and the announcer quickly added, "Well, anyway, listen to it fizz on our evening broadcast."

WILLIAM EYTHE will play the lead in "David and Mr. Goliath," a comedy-mystery which Walter Morosco will produce. . . . Barry Sullivan and Paramount have parted, by mutual consent, and he will free lance. . . . The last week or so has been practically book week in the Hollywood movie theaters. Among the pictures playing were "They Were Expendable," "And Then There Were None," "Confidential Agent," "Mildred Pierce," and "Leave Her to Heaven," all adapted from books. . . . The Lana Turner-Bob Hutton torrid romance doesn't appear to be so warm because Bob Hutton has been going places with Nora Eddington. . . . Capt. Ernest Gann wrote "Blaze of Noon," a novel based on airline pilots, and sold it to Paramount. Over at Paramount they wanted to get some information on Gann for a story so they called the office of the airline company and told them what they wanted. The airline company said that they would wire their New York office for information. Then back to Paramount came a wire from the New York office which read, "Gann at Paramount. Contact him there." With this information, Paramount contacted Capt. Gann at Paramount to get the information they wanted.

Electrical Workers Hold Strike Rally

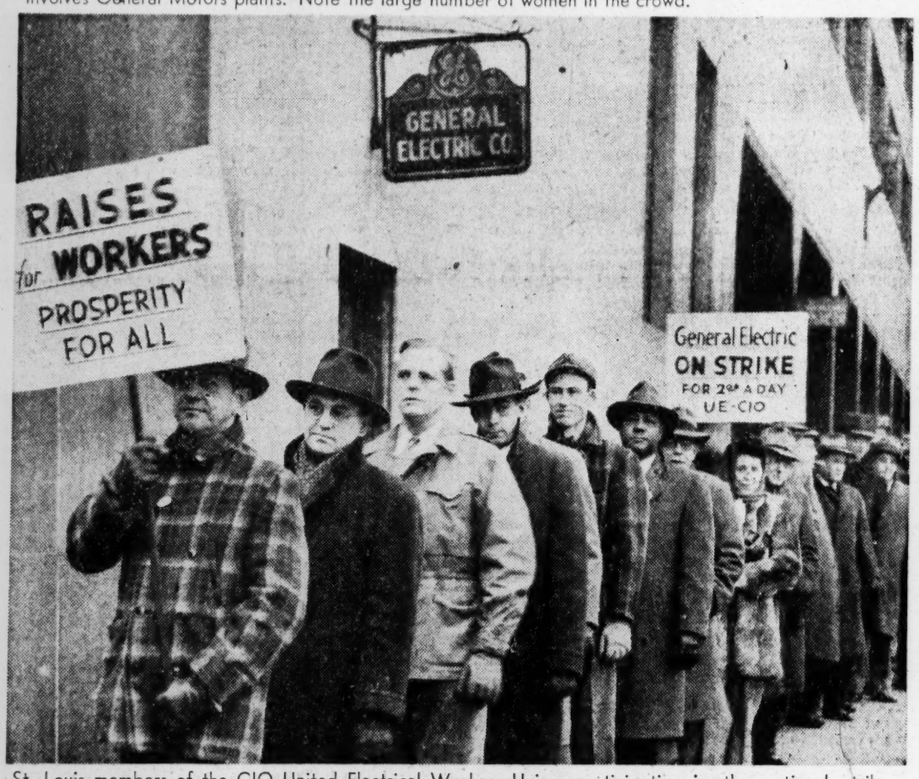
Employes of the General Electric Co. and Westinghouse plants in Bloomfield, N. J., join in a mass demonstration today after start of a strike against the electrical companies by members of the CIO United Electrical Workers. The walkout of 200,000 workers in 16 states in a dispute over wage increases also involves General Motors plants. Note the large number of women in the crowd.



St. Louis members of the CIO United Electrical Workers Union, participating in the national strike, picketing the General Electric Co. repair shop at 1110 Delmar boulevard today. The Westinghouse plant at 717 South Twelfth boulevard also was being picketed. About 120 union members are affected here.

BROADWAY

By WALTER WINCHELL

WHEN J. Brooks Atkinson, now covering Russia, was a dramatic critic he defined a critic thus: "An experienced theatergoer, who differs from the other members of the audience in the privilege he has of printing his opinion in a public place." . . . Christopher Morley's: "Some critics remind me of a gong at a grade crossing clanging loudly and vainly as the train roars by." . . . Channing Pollock's poke: "A critic is a legless man who teaches running." . . . Arthur Guiterman wrote: "The stones that critics hurl with harsh intent—a man may use to build his monument." . . . Percy Hammond's crack at a critic he disliked: "He's the sort of fellow who always gets his quotes pasted on a trash can." . . . Ambrose Bierce said a critic is a person who boasts that he is hard to please when no one is really trying to please him.

GEORGE JEAN NATHAN, covering John Barrymore in "My Dear Children": "I always said that I would like Barrymore's acting until the cows came home. Well, last night—the cows came home." . . . London's Hannen Swaffer, as we have recorded before, reviewed a Noel Coward comedy and concluded his panning with: "Noel, you are a better actor than you are a writer!" . . . That night Noel met Swaffer in a cafe. "Hannen," said Noel, "so are you." . . . John Mason Brown's quote: "Brock Pemberton produced 'Harvey' as if he were sure it was going to be a failure." . . . On Ilka Chase's "In Bed We Cry," Paul Martin declared: "The play drew mixed notices—bad and very bad." . . . Irving Hoffman's obituary on a new play: "Guy Kibbee is an actor who believes that the show must go on. But must it go on and on and on?"

IN CLEVELAND John W. Raper had read the Philly notices on "The Girl on the Train," which was next stopping in Cleveland. They were red hot roasts. . . . In order to be fair to the new show, Mr. Raper assigned a younger man than himself, a product of a small Indiana town, not fed up on musical comedy or shows. . . . His parting instructions to the new critic were: "Now be perfectly fair. If you think it is good say so, if not, say so.

The young critic started his report this way: "'The Girl on the Train' opened last night. Too bad it wasn't wrecked en route!"

THIS COLUMN'S PET, or one of them, anyway, was Heywood Broun's summation of leading man Montague Love, a giant of an actor. Said Broun: "Mr. Love threw his chest out inches and followed it across the stage." . . . It happened after an opening matinee at the old Palace, where the lay-offs and envious invariably went "to see the actors get nervous." . . . A song-and-dance man's first appearance (at the Big-Timiest vaude house of them all) was a flop. . . . His wife, waiting in the dressing room, knew it from his look of misery. . . . "Didn't you get any applause?" she asked. "Yes, I did," he said. "It sounded like a caterpillar crawling over a Persian carpet wearing rubber boots!"

BOB BENCHLEY: "We realized here was a tremendous thing being unfolded before us and we wondered when it would be 11 o'clock." . . . Sidney Smith uttered this, which certainly could be applied to drama criticism: "Among the minor duties of life, I do not know of one more important or more neglected than that of not giving praise where praise is not due." . . . Kin Hubbard said of a musical: "I don't like th' kind o' music we keep hopin' will turn into a tune."

SAID JOHN ANDERSON of playwrights, producers, et al: "If Elmer Rice had insisted (on the morning following the success of 'Street Scene') that the reviewers were sots and incompetents, his conclusions might have had significance. . . . But when they follow the failure of his 'Judgment Day,' they meant no more than that Mr. Rice was angry."

THE HOLLYWOOD Reporter's New York correspondent, Irving Hoffman, telegraphs the opinions of the film critics to the coast paper every week. A box prefaces them. It reads: "The authors of the criticisms capsuled below are given the widest possible latitude. Their opinions do not necessarily reflect those of the papers in which they appear. In fact, their opinions do not necessarily reflect anything but the state of their digestion, the location of their seat, the holes in their bobby-sox, the tenacity of their hangovers, the efficacy of their sleeping pills, the promptness of their laundry, the angle of their political leanings and the number of their prejudices."

OF BRAHM'S often ungrateful violinistic writing in his concerto, Hans von Bulow said: "Bruch wrote a concerto FOR the violin; Brahms wrote one AGAINST it!" . . . Of an unfortunate debut by an Italian tenor, a critic intoned: "The Signor made his debut in Il Trovatore. Never before was Trovatore so Il." . . . Of a two-man piano act, Philip Hale capsuled: "We have heard these gentlemen before—separately—without being greatly stirred. But their combination was like bringing together the component parts of a Seidlitz powder."

Health and Beauty

By Patricia Lindsay

IT IS a mistake for any woman to believe that a throat cream or oil or a chin strap will beautify her throat without the help of corrective exercises and good posture. Double chins, a crepy skin texture and hollows or lines about the neck area are due mostly to neglect. Long illness will also cause them.

FIRST SMOOTH ON a special neck cream or oil from the base of the throat to the chin line with firm, upward strokes. Leave it on throughout the following exercises.

Sit on a chair with your spine erect, both feet flat on the floor, your abdomen pulled in and up so your chest and head are thrown into perfect posture.

Hold a pencil against the back of your neck. Tense your neck muscles to press back against the pencil (like a swan arching his long neck!). Press with your neck muscles. Do not move your head. Relax. Press harder. Repeat 15 times.

LIE FLAT ON THE floor. Imagine a string tied from the tip of your chin pulling it upward toward the ceiling. Lead with your chin. Lift your head, but do not raise your shoulders off the floor. Holding head in midair, turn it first to the right, then to the left and then drop head back to floor for brief rest. Repeat 10 times.

SIT BEFORE your mirror and smile with mouth corners turned up. Smile wide. Clench your teeth, tense your neck muscles and hold that position. Then relax. Repeat 10 times.

Do these exercises every day. And every day be conscious of improving your standing and walking posture.

Economical Menus for Tomorrow

By Meta Given

TODAY'S recipe for butterscotch brownies should be welcomed. The fact that it contains brown sugar instead of the regular white granular type that is so scarce now ought to make this recipe especially appealing to those homemakers who are trying to keep their family's sweet tooth in kilter, and are wanting to use any brown sugar they may have on hand in place of the white. It also saves precious chocolate for some special occasion.

The brownies are relatively simple to make and are always a delightful accompaniment for any tart fresh, canned or frozen fruits served at luncheon or dinner. For an extra treat, try the brownies a la mode which necessitates your cutting the brownies to double their usual size and then topping them with a scoop of ice cream, and you may even trickle some butterscotch sauce over them.

Butterscotch Brownies.

Seven-eighths cup all purpose flour, one-fourth teaspoon baking powder, three-eighths teaspoon salt, one-third to one-half cup butter, three-fourths cup brown sugar, firmly packed, two eggs, well-beaten; one-half teaspoon vanilla, one cup walnuts, chopped.

Sift flour, measure and resift three times with baking powder and salt. Cream butter, add sugar gradually and blend thoroughly. Stir in eggs and vanilla. Stir in sifted dry ingredients, then add nuts. Spread butter into a greased pan (11x7x1½ inches). Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 25 minutes. Cool, cut into squares. Dust with powdered sugar. Makes 24 squares.

MENUS FOR WEDNESDAY

Breakfast: Freshly sectioned grapefruit and oranges, rice griddle cakes with syrup.

Luncheon: Eggs benedictine, combination salad, canned peaches, butterscotch brownies.

Dinner: Chili meringue meat loaf, boiled potaoes, creamed onions, head lettuce salad with thousand-island dressing, brown Betty.

Chili Sauce-Meringue Meat Loaf.

Combine one-half pound ground beef, one-half pound ground pork, one tablespoon chopped parsley, one small onion, chopped fine, one and one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon horseradish, one teaspoon green pepper, chopped, one tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, one cup soft bread crumbs, two egg yolks, beaten with one-fourth cup water and mix well. Pat into a well-greased loaf pan 8½x4½x2½. Bake 45 minutes in 350 degrees F. oven. Remove from oven and cover top with a meringue made by folding the four tablespoons chili sauce into the two stiffly beaten egg whites. Return to oven and bake 15 additional minutes. Transfer to platter very carefully and serve hot.

Serve each child three cups of milk to drink and each adult one cup in addition tot that used in today's menus.

Try and Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

THERE is an interesting anecdote connected with the way Aaron Sussman, the great advertising magnate, got his original start in life.

According to the legend, Sussman was sitting in a restaurant one day when he heard a sporty-looking gent at the next table declare, "My wife's favorite schnauzer died yesterday. I'd give $200 if I could find a good, thoroughbred schnauzer to replace it."

Sussman jumped to his feet and tapped the gentleman on a heavily padded shoulder. "I've got a thoroughbred schnauzer for sale," said Sussman, "but I won't sell it for a cent less than $250."

"That's mighty high for a schnauzer," said the stranger thoughtfully, "but I'd like to make my wife happy. It's a deal."

My Day

-o- By Eleanor Roosevelt

LONDON, Monday.

DURING the weekend the weather was very pleasant. In fact, all of us were saying, "What a lovely day, it feels like spring." I think our appreciation is enhanced by the fact that we had a great deal of rain and we are likely to have a great deal more.

On Saturday we got down to the very really interesting business of electing the six temporary members to the Security Council. Three will serve for two years and three for one year. You will remember, of course, that there are five permanent members of the council.

This is considered one of the most important parts of the United Nations Organization because it is charged with keeping the peace of the world. That means responding at once to any request made by the secretary general, trying to avert the use of force if possible, but if necessary deciding on what shall be done to deal with any aggressor nation.

The Russian Ambassador to the United States, Andrei Gromyko, arose and asked that the election be put off in order that more consideration could be given the question. Our chief delegate, Secretary of State Byrnes, made a speech in opposition saying it was necessary to continue with our orderly procedure and keep to our timetable.

GROMYKO WAS supported by Fraser of New Zealand, who said that as the representative of one of the smaller nations which was not itself a candidate, he could speak for them. He insisted there had been too little time for consultation and consideration. He stated it was a cardinal principle that due thought should be given to geographic representation on all the councils and it would be most important on this one. He felt, therefore, that Australia should be a candidate. There was of course strength to his argument, if everyone had not known in advance that the vote was coming that morning.

The move for delay was voted down and we proceeded to the election. As you know by now, Brazil, Egypt, The Netherlands, Mexico and Poland were chosen on the first ballot and later in the day Australia was elected to be the sixth non-permanent member of the Security Council.

During the counting of the ballots I ran up a flight of stairs and did a brief three-minute recording for the "Voice of America." I had to do it without script but since I knew very well what I wanted to say, I hoped it was a truthful portrayal not only of my own sentiments but of those of many people in the United States.

I WONDER SOMETIMES whether people everywhere have a full understanding of how this new organization is being set up. The general assembly to which every member-nation sends five delegates is the most important body. Without it the other councils could not be set up. It is through the general assembly that the other councils are chosen. The judges for the international court will be chosen by the general assembly and the security council, and any changes that later may be made in the setup of the organization will have to come back to the general assembly when it meets.

The delegates to this assembly are appointed for each session by their governments. In the case of the United States the President not only appoints the delegates but they also have to be ratified by the Senate. The fact that each delegation has only one vote means that within a delegation practical unanimity on every question has to be achieved before that vote is cast.

SINCE THE QUESTIONS so far before us have been questions of organization, it has not been difficult to achieve this unanimity but I can well imagine that there will be occasions in the future when the members of any given delegation will differ sharply.

There are a number of newspaper women here who have tried to get a word with me as I went in and out of the conference of the hotel. I keep telling them that I came over to attend these meetings and am doing practically nothing else. Sooner or later, I imagine I will have to see a number of them and feel sure they are going to ask me what my wardrobe consists of and that is going to be an embarrassing question. For when you wear black, you soon lose much interest in a variety of garments. However, I shall try to use my imagination.

Veal Loaf

Two and three-fourths pounds veal, one-fourth pound salt pork, two cups soft bread crumbs, two eggs, three level teaspoons salt, one-fourth teaspoon freshly ground black pepper, one onion, grated or finely chopped, juice of one lemon.

Beat egg until light and lemon-colored. Add crumbs, juice and seasonings. Grind veal and salt pork together and add to egg mixture. Blend well and shape into a loaf. Roll in bread crumbs. Place in loaf pan. Place slices of salt pork on top. Bake at 430 degrees 30 minutes, then at 275 degrees two hours.

Marrow Balls

One tablespoon marrow from marrow bone, two tablespoons cracker crumbs, one egg, one teaspoon chopped parsley, three-fourths teaspoon salt, few grains freshly ground black pepper, few grains of nutmeg.

Work marrow until creamy. Add cracker crumbs. Beat egg until light and lemon-colored and add to first mixture. Then combine with remaining ingredients. Let mixture stand for several hours if possible. Shape in small balls and cook ten minutes in boiling clear soup.

Jellied Plums

One package lemon flavored gelatin, one cup canned plums, one cup boiling water.

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water and add plums. Turn into fancy mold, chill. When ready to serve dip mold for a moment in hot water, remove to serving dish and surround with soft custard.

DRIVE FOR CLOTHING GAINS; 5076 BUNDLES IN FIRST WEEK

The clothing drive picked up momentum yesterday as returns for the first week in the city showed a total of 5076 bundles, Postmaster Bernard F. Dickmann, general chairman of the Victory Clothing Collection, announced today.

The Tower Grove district, with the branch postoffice at 3612 Hartford street and Seventh police district headquarters at Grand boulevard and Magnolia avenue, led all the rest with 636 bundles while the Field district (postoffice at 4540 Olive street) was next with 359 bundles.

Dickmann again urged all those who intend to join in the drive to supply the war-destitute people of Europe and the Far East with warm clothing to take their donations to the nearest postoffice, fire department or police station as soon as possible. The drive ends Jan. 31.

My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Martha Carr:

AT ALMOST the last minute before peace was declared we received notice of the death of my wife's brother. They had always quarreled terribly and I didn't realize she was so devoted to him. Since his death she has grieved dreadfully, and this man has become a hero, almost like a god, in her eyes. She will do no going out, won't have the radio on, didn't even want to have a Christmas tree for our eight-year-old youngster except that I insisted and got one in spite of her. She tries to make me act the same way, tries to prevent me from going anywhere too, even to the little bowling club I belong to with a bunch of fellows from the office. It seems like she has grimly determined never to be gay again. Enough is enough and if things don't get better around my house soon I'm moving out. I liked my brother-in-law, he was a fine fellow, but I can't see that carrying things to such extremes will alter facts or do anything but harm. What can you suggest? H.T.J.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest, but of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

Grief can be the most selfish thing in the world. Your wife's sorrow is great, of course, but she is carrying it to extremes when she makes the entire family suffer, and for so long a time. Particularly any family containing a youngster should not have this persistent atmosphere of gloom, and you did quite right in insisting on the Christmas tree in spite of your wife's remonstrance. I am sure her brother would be the first one to protest her attitude, and would want to feel that life at home was going on as usual, and cheerfully, as he had always pictured it and loved it. Try to make your wife understand this and help her make the effort to get back to normal living and a normal mental attitude as soon as possible. This will not mean she loves her brother any the less or has ceased to grieve for him, but life must go on and certainly the living should be spared.

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM A GIRL, age 13. Mother doesn't object to me going out with a group of boys and girls. At least that is what she says. But when I do she always yells at me and I never hear the last of it. I am supposed to get a dollar a week for cleaning the house, but most times I get only half of that or less. When we have company mother always tells them I never help her with the housework, and that isn't so. She tells them all I do is go out with the boys, and this isn't so either. I only go out with the crowd on weekends. I never get in later than 10:30. Please tell me what to do. I am unhappy.

STEADY READER.

Many little girls of 13 are unhappy when things don't go just as they would like—and older ones, too, for that matter. If mother "yells" at you it is probably because you don't come in at the hour promised, or for some other good reason. Perhaps your mother found that you didn't work very hard and the dollar you were to get hadn't been more than half earned, so half of the amount was all you were paid. Talk over the matter of "wages" with her and see if you can't come to some definite agreement. Ask her too if she will spare your feelings by not discussing you with visitors. I do thinks she owes you that, unless it is to praise you.

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM A GIRL of 16 and go around with a crowd of boys and girls who are between 15 and 18. Whenever we have a party the boys are always bringing along liquor and all they think about is necking and drinking. I like these boys and would like to keep on going with them. Ordinarily they are very nice, but I don't like these two habits of theirs. What shall I do? A.D.

You will be a very wise girl to stop running around with a teen-age crowd that is busily aping sophistication and thinks it's smart to drink. Find a group which enjoys normal youthful pleasures and doesn't need to step up the tempo of the evening with the aid of the hip flask.

IN ANSWER TO "Feb. 14": There is no charge for my "Guide for the Bride" or any of my other leaflets. Send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and I'll mail it to you. I have no leaflet on hairdos but have one on the "Care of the Hair" which I'll enclose if you like.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

A READER writes: "In my particular edition of 'Etiquette' (which is not a late one), you have included the cost of the bride's bouquet in two lists—the one giving items under parents' obligations and the other the bridegroom's list. Was it a misprint in the book or does it have an explanation? In short, whose obligation is it?"

There are footnotes on this in all of the editions, but the information is not very clear in one book, which you probably have. In most communities, the bridegroom buys the bouquet and in a certain few, he also buys the bridesmaids' flowers and corsages for the mothers. In other communities, including New York (especially at weddings of greatest elaborateness), the bride's bouquet is ordered with all of the other flowers by the bride's parents and the bridegroom sends her the corsage she wears away.

DEAR MRS. POST: Are parties for returned soldiers not being given? I ask because the society pages of the newspapers in our section never carry any such notices. We would like to give a very large party of the at-home type for friends, relatives, neighbors and even some of our business friends, when my son returns from overseas. Will this be proper? As there would be several hundred guests, do you think it a good idea to receive during several hours in the afternoon and then again in the evening? We do not want to invite them at mealtime as we are counting on serving party sandwiches, cakes and just punch to drink.

Answer Certainly: parties are being given for returned soldiers! But I find your double-party plan rather confusing and also exacting of more preparation than you propose. It seems to me that many who are asked for the afternoon would surely stay on into the evening and perhaps be expecting a substantial evening meal. Therefore, I think two completely separate parties would be better—first a big general one either in the afternoon or evening and then, a small one for his own personal friends a few afternoons or evenings later. For both of these, the refreshments you suggest will be adequate.

Eliminate Dangers of Hidden Fear

By Angelo Patri

THE children are the most important group in the community, the school the most important institution, the teacher the most important worker. Of course, everybody says but no group in sufficient majority acts that idea out in terms of practical help.

The children in school today will have a voice in running the country in a few years and on the quality of their thinking, on the strength of their behavior, in the power of their souls, the fate of this nation, perhaps of the world, must rest. That thought ought to make us all, everybody from the President to the fathers and mothers consider seriously what our children are getting out of our schools.

TO BEGIN WITH it must be known that the teacher in the classroom is the whole of school to the children she leads. Good things have their price in money, care, upkeep. Good teachers are not different in these respects. They must have salaries that maintain them on the level of the best citizens, best meaning in character, contributions to the general welfare, service to American ideals. That is not too much to ask.

Above all, above good salaries, above living conditions and above social recognition, teachers must have spiritual freedom, the freedom that allows their minds to spread their wings, their souls to expand. The children need spiritual leadership more than they need instruction in chemistry, and the teachers need spiritual freedom, spiritual help, spiritual growth under the leadership of wise and dedicated leaders. Few of them know that leadership today.

TEACHERS CANNOT appoint their leaders. The community does that and sadly enough, the community seems to take little interest in the matter. If they did, would teachers have to endure the petty tyrannies that so often beset their days? The politically-minded superintendent is not that way because he is a teacher first and a salaried worker afterward. He is the one that the politically-minded community leaders selected because he would give them the least trouble about school conditions and give them the best return in favors for their support. The teachers get no spiritual leadership from such appointments and the lack is felt down the line to the smallest, youngest kindergarten child.

If your schools are not just what you would like, the reason lies in your lack of support for the school you want. Don't blame the teacher. Blame your own failure. Give your teacher fine leadership, good equipment, good pay, an honored place in the community and that teacher will repay the cost in what she gives to just one child in the classroom.

Your Stars

By Marion Drew

WHAT TO EXPECT TOMORROW

Sun in Capricorn.

General Tendencies—This week ought to make history as a time when no one gets anywhere with anything, unless it be through some slipping up of fate. Certainly careful planning and hard work do not count for much for the next few days. If you have difficulties with friends or family just now, try to forget about it for a time and then take up where you left off before the hard words began. These cross-currents are temporary and should not be allowed to tangle our threads of living.

If Tomorrow Is Your Birthday.

It would seem a good idea to watch your health just now, taking things a little easy until next fall. The late winter is not a good time for you, and while the warm weather will be better, still next September seems the best month to choose for making changes. If your bank balance drops in the meantime, wait for fall before struggling to bring it back to par. You have better conditions ahead of you after 1946 has passed and you can get into your stride again in the world's work.

Tomorrow's Watchword—It always seems strange to me when my lawyer father impressed it upon my mind that ignorance of the law was no excuse—it sounded downright unfair. The colloquial way of putting it is better: "This is the grave of Mike O'Day, who died maintaining his right of way. His right was clear, his will was strong, but he's just as dead as if he'd been wrong." In other words, the fellow who drives through a traffic light, without knowing what it's all about, causes as much damage as he who starts out to do wrong.

With Emphasis on Romance

Designers Have Revived the Couquettish Air, the Alluring Frill

By Sylvia Stiles

Post-Dispatch Fashion Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 14

TO be in style this spring a woman must dress the part of a romantic creature. From the top of her high-riding bonnet to the tip of her dainty sandal, the emphasis will be upon beguiling themes. Whatever it takes to make a returning hero think that the girl of his choice is the best-looking in the world, a spring costume should provide.

The season's style parade, unfolded here during the past week at a series of promenades arranged by the New York Dress Institute for the fashion writers of America, has revealed a variety of modes with diversified interpretations of the widening silhouette and plenty of unexpected skin, but the one outstanding feature all the designers agree upon is that a woman must dress to get or keep that certain man!

Not satisfied merely to accent victory and freedom by means of gay fabrics, flowered hats and swirling hemlines, the designers have injected a certain seductive quality to their clothes. One sees this is the coquettish angle of a frilly lingerie bonnet tied with ribbons under the chin, in the peek-a-boo quality of a blouse or the deep U cut of a neckline, in the way that waistlines are snugged into wide, corselet belts and in the handling of fabrics to bring out the feminine curves of a figure.

This first collection to be shown since the close of the war isn't all that the designers hoped for because of certain continuing regulations in the use of materials, but there is no doubt about its peacetime proclamations. We see the return of many fabrics and trimmings that disappeared completely during the war. Imported pique and English woolens are among the longed-for materials being used again. Touches of handwork are here, too. Brownie, for example, showed a collection of dresses with yokes and blouse sections embroidered with beads. Hand-loomed materials, made in America, have been advocated. Linen has returned as a popular summer fabric. Pure silk prints and tissue paper woolens are beginning to be commonplace although price marks will keep them out of the reach of some of us.

Judging by the "dress-up" quality of many of these couture New York collections, our post-war era is going to be a lush as well as a romantic one. Afternoon dresses and evening gowns are back in abundance. Hostess gowns from the Joseph Whitehead collection flounce ostrich tips with reckless abandon. Black lace dinner frocks of a semi-street length have mingled with stiff bengaline cocktail suits to illustrate the glamour of evening hours. Greater attention than ever before has been placed upon the choice of a costume to suit the occasion. There are comparatively few of those double duty functional costumes of the war period. Hats, likewise are to be changed with every whim as well as every costume—and even the same hat may take on a different look by the change of a hair-do. Crowns have been made deep so that a variation of coiffure is possible.

THE helpful attitude of the designers in turning our war-working girls into romantic creatures has brought with it a young flair to fashions. Most of the springtime costumes are created for the young and the young at heart. Even such designers as Nettie Rosenstein, Jo Copeland and Hattie Carnegie whom we have associated with ultra-sophistication in clothes are advocating youthful, spirited touches. Jaunty little jackets of navy blue, crisp white collars and cuffs, full-gathered skirts and many boleros are illustrative. The manner in which the milliners push hats off the brow also is young, and certainly those quaint little bonnets and those sailors with ribbon streamers are school-girlish.

Every woman will want a new coat this spring because it definitely is a coat-and-dress season. Plenty of suits will be worn but there will be less attention to the tailored type and more to the dressmaker model. Remember that this is an ultra-feminine season! The coat may be a fitted model in a neutral tone or be as bright as an orange-red dye can make it. The chances are that it will have one dress which looks as if it belongs perfectly with it—and you purchase as part of a complete ensemble. The dress may be printed, combine print with woolen, or be made completely of a sheer woolen material. There are more woolens available now and some of them are so light in weight even St. Louis spring climate can take them.

THESE YOUNG WOMEN ARE WEARING GARB THAT ILLUSTRATES POPULAR MODES IN SPRING WEAR.

Two suit themes predominate. There is the bolero type with very brief jacket and usually full skirt which expresses so well the young idea. Then there is the tunic type, the peplum invariably developing some flare. Cartridge pleats placed low at the hipline are illustrative of an important trend. Pauline Trigere's suit is a perfect example while Hattie Carnegie launches a "bell" silhouette in her suit jacket.

As the spring season advances women will be buying printed suits or those crisp-looking dress-up models made of such materials as moire, faille or taffeta. The woman who feels her best in a suit can choose one of these, add a frilly blouse and a gay hat and look as romantic as the season demands of her.

Earlier reports on the spring openings have discussed silhouette trends in such detail little more need be said here. The wine-bottle silhouette launched on the opening day continues as the favored modification of Paris' hippy theme. Some designers—Brownie for example—go into full skirts with a vengeance and predict much fuller ones when L-85 regulations are forgotten. Others like the fulness held in by panniers or subtly revealed by drapery.

One of the most interesting silhouettes was saved until the last. Perhaps it was more than chance that was responsible for Pauline Trigere's collection being scheduled for the final one of the individual showings. Combining a French background with an American adoption, she typifies in many respects the happy combination that can result from blending French and American ideas. Her featured silhouette is a barrel, presented to best advantage in a three-quarter length jacket fitted at the waist, then very full from hip to hem where it is caught in closely to the figure by a curving band of fabric.

THE lavish accent of the new season is illustrated by Trigere in the placing of 14-karat gold buttons on suits and coats. Gabardine is handled as if it were cloth of gold in this collection. Print is used for full length coats over black crepe dresses. Famous for her black silk coats, this designer gives them even more prominence for spring. The midriffs are skin-tight and the skirts are stiff and full. Line becomes new and interesting in Trigere's handling. She has a jacket which is cut into a very low point at the front but is normal length at the back. Curving tiers distinguish several skirts. These consist of rippling bias bands and are reminiscent of the previous postwar era.

Hattie Carnegie's showing was again a highlight of the week with its presentation of rich colors, lady-like themes and beautifully groomed mannequins. The femininity expressed in suits is illustrated to perfection in this collection. Her outstanding daytime coat is a dressmaker version of the Dickens topcoat with moulded body lines, notched collar and nipped waistline. She uses striped woolens for day and black moire for evening. The hip-length jacket belted at the back is termed the "indispensable." The open "U" neckline on many dresses calls for elaborate jewelry (a feature of the new season). Glazed kid gloves are given prominence because of a trend toward brief sleeves.

Clare Potter's deft way of widening shoulders without pads is a significant trend to watch. She does this by means of little rows of ruffles on shoulders and sleeves. She likes to show the top of the shoulders but uses clever drapery to get away from an entirely sleeveless look. Decorative hand-painted cottons contribute much to her collection. Anthony Blotta's collection will be remembered for renaissance themes and colors. His use of embroidery is a handsome addition to the mode. His bellows sleeve also is significant.

Jo Copeland's accent upon "new nudity" proved a departure from her "lady-like" themes of past seasons. She bares midriffs on evening dresses, lifts evening skirts almost to the knee on one side and endorses very naked-topped evening gowns. Necklines on daytime dresses often are high but slashed surprisingly here and there to reveal the skin beneath. Even her trim taffeta suits that look so demure have sheer tops when the jackets are removed.

When a Copeland collection goes all out for such seductive themes, then we know a new fashion era is upon us.

New Flavor Frankfurter

One large eggplant, two medium-sized onions, cut fine; one green pepper, cut fine; two tablespoons butter or margarine, two cups tomatoes, fresh or canned; six large frankfurters, sliced thin.

Scoop out pulp from eggplant, being careful not to break the skin. Dice pulp. Brown onion and pepper in butter or margarine and add the diced eggplant. Brown slightly and add the tomatoes. Cook slowly until eggplant is tender and liquid in tomatoes is well reduced. One half hour before serving time add the thinly sliced frankfurters. Put the entire mixture back into the eggplant shell. Serve surrounded with buttered cauliflower flowerettes and Julienne yellow trunips.

To make walnuts taste very delicious, soak for one day as many as desired with shells in a tumbler or container of cold water. Next day, remove shells. They will taste just like fresh walnuts off the tree.

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

THERE is this to be said for some "neck-stretching" bids: great luck may transform them into sound contracts. But when a player bids as South did in today's deal, there is scarcely enough luck in the world to save him!

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
Both sides 40 on score.

| ♠QJ108 ♥854 ♦AQ876 ♣A | NORTH WEST EAST SOUTH | ♠63 ♥AQ72 ♦1094 ♣Q1086 |
| | ♠AK975 ♥K106 ♦3 ♣J952 | |

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 spade | 2 diamonds | Pass | 3 diamonds |
| 3 spades(!) | Double | Pass | Pass |
| Pass | | | |

South lost two spade tricks, two clubs, one diamond and one heart, thus paying a 500-point penalty.

At three diamonds, which North had been eagerly waiting to double, West would have gone down a like amount. Hence, the "swing" was a nice round 1000 points.

South said, "Gee, how could I tell that you (speaking to North) were waiting for three diamonds? You might have had to pass and they would have grabbed the rubber?"

North said, "Well, wouldn't that have been awful! And if I did have to pass after I had already announced that I couldn't raise spades, I suppose the eight to 1400 point you would have been set at three spades would have been much better than conceding the rubber!"

I'm afraid that North had something there! South's assumption that he and he alone, would have to defend the rubber, was one of those thoughtless or egotistical conclusions that infuriate expert partners. Of course North passed to two diamonds! What was he supposed to do—double two diamonds when the state of the score practically guaranteed that he would get the chance to double a higher contract? But whatever was the reason for North's pass weakness or waiting—South certainly could not afford to overcall the three-diamond bid!
